Wise Babies Select Intelligent Mothers
by Mary Blake

I really marvel at the young mothers of today. Their wisdom is nothing short of astounding. No child of theirs is permitted, in spite of the most doting of grandparents, to play the role of new toy for the diversion of the family. The rights of the modern baby are firmly respected, his routine sternly maintained. His baths and feedings and sleep follow each other in the most orderly precision. No wonder he is a calm, healthy, good-natured baby, easy to care for, steady in gains.

I admit that there are exceptions, because not every baby gets a perfect start. When there are feeding problems to be solved, the mother's responsibilities are heavy. But baby specialists today have such a broad knowledge that it usually takes but a little while to discover the right food for any infant.

The best milk for your baby

On one thing you will find that all doctors agree. For the baby just starting out in life, breast-feeding is a great advantage over artificial feeding.

If your baby must be artificially fed, let your doctor be the one to advise you. With his wide experience with many babies, he can guide you to the right substitute for mother's milk.

He may advise you to use Carnation Milk in the feeding of your baby. If he does, you can feel well satisfied with his choice. He has selected it for very definite reasons. The first is that it is safe. Milk for the feeding of a tiny infant must be of the purest quality, produced under the most sanitary conditions. It must be whole milk, sufficiently rich in butter fats. Even if you can find such qualifications in bottled milk, the quality is almost sure to vary from day to day.

Carnation Milk is the purest of whole milk, produced from selected herds, under strict sanitary regulations.

The quality is of controlled uniformity; the butter-fat content is never less than 7.8 per cent.

In addition to its purity and uniformly high quality, Carnation Milk offers another advantage. It is so carefully sterilized, so free from germs and bacteria, and sealed so perfectly against contamination that no further pasteurization is necessary. You merely add pure water to replace that removed in evaporation and you have pure milk.

A very important advantage which Carnation offers in the feeding of infants is its easy digestibility, due to the "homogenization" which breaks up the fat globules into extremely minute particles, very readily assimilable even by a baby with a weak digestion.

Of course the feeding of babies is but one of Carnation Milk's important uses. It is wonderful for all cooking, better in results, economical, convenient and dependable. Send for free Carnation Cook Book. Address Carnation Milk Products Co., Limited, 134 Abbott Street, Vancouver, B.C.

Safe For Babies

PRODUCED IN CANADA

In the feeding of infants, Carnation Milk is a safe choice. It is whole milk of high quality—pure, sterilized, uniform—and available anywhere. Because it is "homogenized", it is particularly easy of digestion. Ask your doctor.
