VICTORIA REPORT

net gives when he is asked a sensible question."

Mr. Strachan, you can tell from that, is really burned up; however, he's pretty quick, and the first chance he gets he'll crack out at Mr. Bennett with a political vulgarity tha could well make Mr. Bennet's vulgarity appear very polite indeed.

A good thing, too—that we have sharp-tongued figures in our public life, otherwise politics would be mighty dull, and if politics is too dull, the public loses interest in its own affairs, and that's bad for the public and the country.

OLD CHURCHES

Three Norwegian churches at Bodin, Alstahaug and Donnes, dating from the 12th century, are to be restored to their original style.

Safety Tips For Shoppers

By Jeanne Smith,
Dodge Safety Consultant

CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS too frequently neglect the most important gift of all — their own safety!

In the excitement of good cheer and good will, good common sense is often temporarily put aside. Pedestrians and drivers alike are apt to be so preoccupied with holiday preparations and festivities that they let their guard down in traffic. And that's when an accident is most likely to occur.

Miss Smith

Shoppers can protect themselves during this high-accident season by observing basic pedestrian rules: cross only at corners; use pedestrian crosswalks; never dart into traffic from behind parked cars; stay alert, watching for cars from all directions.

Remember, too, that streets and sidewalks are crowded. Inclement weather, and December's early darkness, often make it difficult to see traffic and for cars to see you!

Avoid carrying so many packages that you block your vision when crossing streets. And be especially cautious at night, particularly if streets are wet or slippery.

If you plan to do your Christmas shopping by car, don't let the holiday spirit or your impatience with traffic cause you to forget your safe driving habits.

Don't window shop while you drive. Park, get out on the right side of your car, and then look.
