YOUNG WOMAN VICTIM FIENDISH MURDER

BODY OF M. B. FAVOR DISCOVERED AT SAN JOSEF BAY BY SEARCH PARTY

Twenty-two Year Old College Girl Beaten to Death with Stone

Dishwasher arrested for atrocity at Seattle which resembles Loretta Chisholm killing at Port Essington

SEATTLE, June 19.—Edward Dietsch, a dishwasher, was arrested at Everett early today in connection with the fiendish murder of Miss Sylvia B. Gaines, 22-year-old college graduate, who had just returned here from Massachussetts to reside with her foster father and who was the victim of a vicious attack on the shore of Green Lake on Wednesday night. The body was found Thursday on the shore of the lake where the girl had been attacked and later beaten to death with a stone. Detectives claimed that the murderer left finger prints on the stone and they expected to be able to trace down the perpetrator of the crime.

Miss Gaines left for a stroll Wednesday evening and was seen by a couple during her walk along the shore according to police reports. Two young University of Washington students strolling along the lake, are reported to have noticed an automobile near where the body was found. Miss Odessa Gill stated that, with her companion, she noticed a boy of slender build carrying a heavy object. Hearing a groaning sound, Miss Gill's companion called out: "What's the matter?" and the young man answered: "Oh, just a drunken guy." The groaning sound continued and then the girl states she saw the man raise a stone several times while the groaning was repeated. Thinking it was just a case of a drunken man, the couple walked away.

Detectives declare that Dietsch answers closely to the description given by Miss Gill.

Mrs. Bertha Landes, mayor of Seattle today asked the municipal council to offer a suitable reward for the apprehension of the slayer.

STOCK MARKET IS RECOVERED

Prices Return to Higher Ground After Orgy of Selling Yesterday

NEW YORK, June 19. — After the orgy of selling yesterday, the stock market resumed a movement to higher ground today. Net gains of from one to five points were spread throughout the list. During the brief morning session, sales were approximately a million shares. Traders who sold yesterday were bears in the market today in the belief that Friday's reaction had sufficiently corrected the market's weak position.

CANADIANS ARE GIVEN GREETING

Special Arrangements Made For Delegations to Eucharistic Congress

CHICAGO, June 19. — When the first of the official representation of Canadian ecclesiastics to the Eucharistic Congress reached Chicago on the International Limited of the Canadian National Railways, these dignataries were accorded a special welcome. To provide for this, His Excellence Mgr. Pietro Di Maria, the Papal Delegate to Canada, and those who accompanied him, were invited to leave the train at 47th Street so that they might be greeted in proper manner and without obtruding on the ceremonies arranged for Cardinal Bonzano, the accredited papal delegate to the Congress. A group of Congress officials and a number of those interested in the French language section were present, the latter being particularly desirous of welcoming His Grace, Mgr. Georges Gauthier, apostolistic administrator of Montreal, who has been chosen to act as chairman of this important group. With Archbishop Gauthier, was His Lordship Mgr. A. E. Deschamp, co-adjutor bishop of Montreal.

At Congress headquarters much comment was made upon the very large delegation coming from Canada. The special trains from Montreal over the Canadian National Railways have been timed in such a manner as to allow the Pilgrims to at once repair to the church of Notre Dame where the Canadians will have the special privilege of assisting at midnight mass, which will be solemnized only at this edifice. Western Canadians travelling in a special Canadian National train due in Chicago Sunday forenoon will be given an opportunity to celebrate mass early Sunday when the train is stopped for one hour for this purpose before reaching the city.

KENNEDY MAY RESIGN SEAT

Says That is His Intention as Soon as Legally Possible—Insulted by Meighen

OTTAWA, June 19. — D. M. Kennedy, Progressive member for Peace River, making a statement on a question of privilege in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, announced his intention of resigning his seat when he could legally do so.

Referring to the statement of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, during the recent debate on the Peace River election case, that "after he has done his fair share to keep this government in power the member for Peace River will get some nominal job in order that his seat may be made vacant," Mr. Kennedy denied absolutely the truth of any rumor on which such a statement could be made and added that he considered it an insult.

Remains of Seattle Aviator Found Near Wrecked Plane; No Trace Yet of Swineheart

SEATTLE, June 19.—A telegram received last night from the search party sent to hunt for M. B. Favor and W. R. Swineheart, the aviators who have been missing since they left Seattle on May 16 to fly to Ketchikan, said that Favor's body had been found at San Josef Bay on the northwest coast of Vancouver Island and that Swineheart's body had not yet been located.

Favor's body was discovered in the water near where the British Columbia provincial police found the wrecked airplane. A 50-foot rope was attached to the body.

Seed Growing is Solving the Problem Over Production of Hay on Bulkley Valley Farms

SMITHERS, June 19.—An important step in the development of the Bulkley Valley and Lakes District of Central British Columbia is taking place this year. Hitherto the farmers have sold hay to loggers and others but the demand for hay has dropped off and last year's crop is still very largely in the barns of the farmers. This year the timothy will be allowed to go to seed and the seed will be marketed and will bring the farmers good returns. Next year it is hoped that turnip seed will be added to the output and possibly other seeds will be added from time to time including registered seed grain.

Canada imports from ten to fifteen million pounds of timothy seed annually. The demand is great and the price has in the past been fairly stable. It is easily shipped and no place in the world grows it better than the Bulkley and Lakes districts. It was proved last year when two car loads were shipped from the district. This year it is impossible to say what will be the output but it will be many times that of last year. Seed grown in this district is 100 per cent pure and is in great demand for that reason.

Government Co-operated

The new industry was made possible through the co-operation of the provincial department of agriculture, represented in the district by D. D. Munro, district representative of the land settlement board and of the department of agriculture and by D. W. Thompson, government field inspector. Last year representations were made to the government by Mr. Munro and as a result two timothy seed cleaning plants were placed in the district and operated by the government. This year these plants will be very busy and the farmers will benefit accordingly. Hon. E. D. Barrow minister of agriculture, and Hon. A. Manson, Attor. Gen. have taken a keen interest in the work and naturally are much pleased at the developments in that line that are taking place. It is hoped to make seed production one of the features of Central British Columbia farming.

The timothy crops this year promise to be very heavy and as the sale of timothy hay is necessarily restricted the marketing of the seed is likely to prove the salvation of the districts concerned.

Turnip Seed

This year the government representatives are turning their attention to the growing of turnip seed. The government is providing the seed and so far seventeen growers have agreed to plant plots of commercial size with the seed. The stock roots will be produced this season and next year the seed will be harvested. If it is proved to be a commercial success the size of the plots will be increased and turnip seed growing will become one of the staple industries.

The advantage of growing seed in Central B.C. is that so far north the vitality is very strong, the germinating percentage being much higher than in districts farther south. Also the land is new and clean and the seed can be guaranteed 100 per cent pure.

This year there is a large increase in the amount of grain and seed being grown in the districts. The total output for 1925 was wheat 8,830 bushels, oats 61,375 bushels, barley 7,568 bushels, and timothy 45 tons. In fact this is the first year that wheat has not been shipped into the district to feed the poultry. When this crop comes off it is hoped to have wheat for the elevator at Prince Rupert and tim-

Recommendations Of Customs Committee.

In a department such as the customs there are undoubtedly plenty of temptations and it is not surprising that unscrupulous officials should have availed themselves of opportunities to enrich themselves when administration from headquarters was lax through the minister in charge himself-not realizing the responsibilities of his office. The report of the special committee investigating the customs, consisting of members of the House of all political color, indicates that things are not all they might be and it is but to be expected that its recommendations, sweeping as they may be, will be acted upon without delay. The findings of the committee to a certain extent justify the allegations made several months ago when Hon. H. H. Stevens, the member for Vancouver, staked his political career on the charges that he laid at that time. There is certain gratification, however, in the fact that evidence as to corruption was confined to Eastern Canada, more particularly Montreal, and there was nothing to show that this corruption, as Mr. Stevens said at the outset, had its "centre at Montreal and its fringe at Prince Rupert," meaning the Pacific coast. The report of the committee is a damaging one to the department but there was sufficient evidence to show where the responsibility lay and, if the government now takes the "bull by the horns" in effecting remedies, it should be a simple matter to bring about the reorganization and readjustment that seems necessary.

Matter Of Low Salaries.

Those who followed closely the evidence heard by the committee investigating the customs administration will agree with the two former ministers of customs who stated how remarkable the customs service was, considering the low salaries paid. It was the experience of Hon. J. D. Reid that, on the whole, the customs staff was a good organization. Hon. Jacques Bureau said he believed the customs staff was equal to any in the government service.

Few charges have been directed at the men in the ranks. In fact, where complaint was entered it was usually due to their zeal in carrying out orders of superiors, the necessity for which appeared to be pretty generally impressed upon them. In spite of the salaries paid, they were afraid of losing their positions. Men getting less than $2,000 a year hold important appointments, and those receiving this much are considered to be so well paid that it is not necessary for them to share in the moieties granted informers.

Customs work, if properly done, calls for men of intelligence and integrity. Any employer knows how difficult it is to get service of this kind for a few hundred dollars a year, and if the majority of the employees remain above reproach in the face of temptations which must often have been thrown in their way it is to their credit.

"Penny Wise And Pound Foolish."

Hon. Mr. Reid expressed the opinion that the recommendations made for the betterment of the service could not be carried out with salaries paid at present. This may be so. But if millions of dollars a year have been lost because the salaries are too low to attract the right employees it has been a case of "penny wise and pound foolish." This is one of the reasons advanced for the suggestion to close four hundred ports of entry. The money saved there could go toward improving the salaries of men retained at important points. In addition to this, the increased efficiency attained in making proper appraisals and in making collections would warrant employment of higher-paid men.

But all that can be said about the quality of the minor employees does not absolve the department for employing in inspector who ran a liquor business on the side, for permitting political influence to terrorize officers, for sending a chauffeur to capture a steamer loaded with alcohol, and for neglecting to enforce the law at strategic border towns.

Employees should receive remuneration commensurate with their responsibilities, but they should be required to perform their duties without fear or favor.

ROAD IS MADE OF RICH ORE

Surprise Given Vancouver Mining Man on Way to Duthie Mine this Week

REVIVAL OF INTEREST

Wonderful View from Hudson Bay Mountain Near Smithers Should be Attraction

(By H. F. Pullen)

SMITHERS, June 19.—"Why here is ruby silver on the road," exclaimed J. B. Woodworth of Vancouver, a mining man who was riding with us to the Duthie Mines on Hudson Bay Mountain this week. We looked and sure enough the road had been repaired with a load of tailings from the dump at the mine and it all contained ore, some pieces giving indications of being rather rich. One piece in particular was clearly ruby silver carrying sixty per cent pure silver.

To see a road paved with silver bearing ore was a new experience to both Mr. Woodworth and myself. It was the first ocular demonstration to him that the mines of Hudson Bay mountain were rich and well worthy of careful consideration from the point of view of a mining operator.

The Duthie mine, known to mining men of the district as the Henderson mine after Stuart Henderson of Victoria who was at one time interested in it, shipped two hundred tons of high grade silver ore last month and laid plans to increase that amount considerably this month but the weather has interfered with hauling it to the railway over the sixteen miles of road so that the shipments may not much exceed those for May. However, it is planned to make the shipments regularly for an indefinite period. While the quantity does not seem very large, the ore is rich and gives good returns to the operators.

Beautiful Scenery

L. S. McGill, the Smithers barrister, was my companion on the trip to the mine. He is an enthusiast and we had a wonderful day together. We had planned to leave at eight in the morning but it was pouring rain at that time and it was ten and still raining when we left. Before long the sky cleared and though it rained occasionally throughout the day it was not enough to make us wet or to obscure the wonderful view looking down the mountain. The ride was full of surprises. There was Seymour Lake just at the foot of the mountain which is destined to be one of the Smithers summer playgrounds. It is a beautiful spot for summer homes. The wayside was decorated with red columbines, yellow wild sunflowers, wild roses and other flowers. A couple of thousand feet up, there was a plateau with two more lakes and backed by a snow clad mountain range and I was told that this was the source of the Copper River which flows into the Skeena near Vanarsdol. The river drains the south side of Hudson Bay Mountain. The scene from the mines was a wonderful one. In the afternoon we climbed to the Mamie Mine owned by the executors of the late Jack Aldrich who died the other day. It is within half a mile of the timber line above which the mountain is like a great green pasture. We visited the workings and sampled the ore dump. A good deal of work has been done on it and it will probably be sold soon to some mining man who can afford to operate it and make himself rich in doing so.

Inspected Mine

We climbed by a circuitous route over a well made trail but returned by a short cut and slid down the face of a very steep incline trying to wear out the seats of our pants and carrying down with us loose rocks and boulders with which the cliff side is strewn. It was rather dangerous but that made the trip the more exciting. It was great fun and we enjoyed it much as a schoolboy enjoys sliding down a shed roof.

Through the courtesy of J. B. Turner, the manager, we went through the Duthie mine. We were shown through by the foreman, Alfred Nelson of Prince Rupert, one of the pioneers of the district who was in Rupert at the time the townsite was cleared and who still makes his permanent home there. Mr. Nelson showed us the rich glistening ore on the roof of the tunnel. Behind him we climbed the steep ladder in a sixty-foot stope, mirring our clothes and trying to appear as if we were born miners. We followed him again into a winze forty feet below the main tunnel to the place where several rich ore strikes have been made and where the ore is proving better by far than in the workings above, indicating that the mine is improving the deeper the workings go. He had his pick with him and we filled our pockets with ore as all real miners do and exhibited them later to prove that we really had been in the mine and that we were now authorities on all matters pertaining to the subject. I confess that I now know the difference between a stope and a drift and a tunnel and a shaft. I also was instructed about how to know ruby silver from iron and lots of other things which I am rapidly forgetting.

A Mining Expert

My friend McGill professed to know all about these things and he helped to instruct me in all the intricacies of the mining art or science or whatever the thing is called.

This was the first time I realized what a gamble is mining in this part of the country. I was shown places where the ore vein was lost through a fault in the rock. It meant of course that the earth had cracked and shifted and the vein had slipped from its place and was difficult to find again. Later Mr. Turner told me that he had studied these faults in the mountain and now knew where to look for the vein and found no trouble in again picking it up.

Sometimes the ore vein would be eighteen inches thick and worth two or three hundred dollars a ton. Again it would narrow down to a few inches and sometimes disappear altogether. It required faith and courage to continue work then with the possibility of picking it up a few yards further on. The miners seemed to follow these veins by instinct and usually got results but we were pointed out spots where many yards of tunnelling had resulted in the drawing of a blank.

Shipping Ore

The ore from the Duthie mine is being drawn to the railway at Smithers in light trucks using pneumatic tires, five loads a day being drawn by each car. It is shipped in bulk and sent to the Trail smelter. In spite of the heavy expense of operating and shipping the mining is reported to pay well because the ore is rich and there is a quantity of it in the mine. No one can tell how deep is the vein, the probability being that it will prove richer yet as still lower levels are worked.

A number of mining men have visited Smithers this year and more interest is taken in mining than has been the case since the Federal Company withdrew from the district. This is largely the result of the work being done by J. F. Duthie on the Henderson property. He also has several adjoining properties under bond and it is the general expecation that he will continue operation in the district indefinitely.

In The Letter Box

REPLY TO FLEWIN.

Editor, Daily News.

Regarding fish traps, will you kindly find room in your paper for the following lines? In a letter published in the Daily News of June 14, I note where it is presumed that I, the undersigned, have not acted quite properly in regard to my duty as an official of the Dundas Island Trollers' Association. In fact it looks as if an attempt is being made to pass the "buck" to me. All I have to say is this: "I do not know Brown and have never had any dealings with Flewin." Furthermore, I do not want to know Flewin. Who is he, anyway, to presume anything about me at all? I am sure that I am not one of the fishermen whom he so patronizingly designates as "my fishermen."

By the way, where does he get that stuff about me anyway? Surely it cannot be that he considers the average fishermen on a par with the Mexican peons during the Diaz regime. If what was said at the Board of Trade meeting did not suit him why did he not get up and so say, the same as I did? That was the proper place and time to do it, not through the columns of a newspaper. Seeing that he is so much concerned about his career and, as warnings seem to be in order, I wish he would keep his remarks about me to himself in future. If he should ever have anything to say about me, I would like to have him do it in person for I am easily to be found and am not at all hard to approach.

THE MAN IN THE MOON
says:

How times have changed! At one time the summer tourist wore nice cool ice cream pants. Now he wears sack-like looking knickers made of blanket cloth, with stockings to match.

It's really wonderful what gifted thirsts some of our visitors seem to be blessed with.

I suggest that somewhere on the new uniforms of the Boys' Band a nice halibut be worked in colored silk to advertise the city's leading industry.

The average man has about as much use for a public drinking fountain as a cow has for a pair of skates.

A kangaroo always gets there because he is continually on the jump.

Silk stockings are so thin it is possible to real a newspaper through them but most men are content to glance at a few lines.

Sometimes the knocker is a bill collector.

Some men go to the Salt Lakes to swim and then again there are others who don't.

As an exponent of what one could do by adhering faithfully to the daily dozen idea the midget acrobat with the Boston Maids would take some beating.

GYROS BEAT TERMINALS

New Players Helped Service Club in 11-4 Victory Last Night

In a seven inning baseball game played last night before a large crowd of fans, the Gyros beat the Grand Terminals by a score of 11-4. A good brand of ball was put up, a feature of the game being the fielding on third base by O. Haveland, who arrived from Vancouver yesterday, and a home run knocked by him with one man on in the first innings. Schenkler, a recent arrival from Seattle and well known in local baseball circles, pitched his usual good game for the Gyros. The Terminals suffered from bad breaks in the field and several errors. Stickney pitched for the Terminals and was replaced toward the end of the game by Wallace.

P. LaPorte umpired the game while H. Astoria acted as base umpire.

The teams follow:

Gyros — Schenkler, p.; McKeown, c; H. Frizzell, 1b; Geo. Mitchell, 2b; Moran, ss; Haveland, 3b; Geo. Tite, rf; Skinner, cf; Geo. Hill, lf.

SPORT CHAT

Tentative arrangements have been made for the winners of the Alberta section of the Connaught Cup soccer series to meet the British Columbia victors in Vancouver on July 17. There will be two games between the provincial winners with total goals deciding which will advance. The Connaught Cup is the emblem of soccer supremacy in Canada and separate competitions are played in each province before the final play-off. The series in this province has reached the penultimate stage and the first of the semi-finals is being played this afternoon in Vancouver between Westminster United and Sapperton. Canadian Collieries and Nanaimo will meet in the other semi-final.

So many requests have been made for games to be played other than those scheduled that Arthur Kingscott, manager of the British Football Association touring party that played in Vancouver this week and won 5 to 1, acting in conjunction with the Dominion Football Association has decided to play two extra games at the completion of the regular program. One will be at Windsor and the other at Ottawa. Mr. Kingscott is inclined to believe that the class of soccer in Canada is superior to that in the third division of the Football League. He says his men have been extended in every contest except that at Fort William and was very much afraid, at one stage, that they would be beaten at Winnipeg, especially as they faced a strong wind in each half.

A strong effort is being made in local baseball circles to line up as strong a baseball team as posible to play the aggregation from Ketchikan on July 1. The following players have been requested to be on the ball park at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning to get some practice for the coming tussle: Balfour, McKeown, Stickney, Skinner, Schenkler, V. Menzies, Farquhar, Moran, Haveland, W. Mitchell, Wall, Lambie, Robertson, Hill, Geo. Mitchell, Frizzell, Wallace and Delcourt.

Improvement in salmon fishing is expected---halibut landings up to average---work at government wharf proceeding

While there has been no particular rush in the fish business during the past week the volume of halibut landed has been up to the average for the time of year and prices have remained at a fair margin. Prices offered on the Fish Exchange have averaged around 14.5c for Canadian and 15.5c for American first class catches while second class fish has fetched around 8c for both Canadian and American landings.

Halibut arrivals for the past week (Saturday to Friday inclusive) totalled 733,500 pounds—454,500 pounds from American boats and 279,000 pounds from Canadian. This brings the total for the year to date to 11,347,200 pounds—8,357,700 pounds from American bottoms and 2,989,500 pounds from Canadian.

The boats landing catches during the week were as follows:

American — Atlantic, 40,000; Onah, 14,000; Senator, 30,000; Middleton, 14,000; Tyee, 10,000; Reliance, 9,000; Radio 50,000, Attu, 50,000; Sentinel, 25,000, Eureka 4,000, Eastern Point 6,000, Atlas 29,000, Venus 35,000, Blanco 16,000, E. Neilson 9,000, J. P. Todd II., 6,500, Alten 60,000, Kanaga 39,000.

Canadian—Atli, 8,000, Muirneag 10,000, Unome 9,000, Dolphin 17,000, Margalice 5,500, Prosperity A. 16,500, Fanny I. 5,500, Tramp 5,000, Caygeon, 6,500, Morris H. 10,000, Sea Maid 21,000, S.A. 2,600, Swing 6,500, Eric Roy 3,000, Inez H. 5,000, Brant 8,500, Reveille 7,000, Helen 8,000, Nautilus 7,500, Ringleader 8,000, Agnes B. 3,000, Point May 8,500, Ingred H. 9,500, Impereuse 12,000, Kaien 13,000, Alken 9,000, Bingo 5,000, White Lily 4,000, Volunteer 9,500, Johanna, 18,000, Verna 6,000, Yule 4,500, Cape Swain 7,500, Minnie V., 7,000, Thelma 900.

There is room for improvement in the salmon fishing and things have been slow on the West Coast of the Queen Charlotte Islands, around Dundas and on the Skeena River. However, a recent arrival in the city from North Island stated that the salmon run in that district had improved materially during the past week and good things were looked for. It is the general concensus of opinion that the backward summer is the only cause for the non-appearance of the salmon in surrounding waters but that with the continuance of the warmer weather things will improve rapidly.

New Buildings

Mitchell & Currie, who have the contract for the erection of the Bacon fisheries building on the provincial wharf, are making good headway with the structure now that the decking has been completed. The uprights are already in position. The new structure will measure 40 feet wide by 40 feet deep and will give ample accommodation for smoke houses. It is estimated the building will be completed in about a month's time. With the completion of the building operations will be commenced in the shipping of crab and shrimp meat to the southern market.

A commencement has also been made upon the erection of the biological Station for the Dominion government and pile driving is now under way underneath the wharf whereon will be erected the building for the Fishermen's Co-operative Association.

The hydrographic survey boat Lillooet arrived in port on Wednesday from a surveying cruise in surrounding waters. A new anchor and chain arrived in port for this boat on the Princess Beatrice recently and will be picked up from the provincial wharf over the week-end. The chain and anchor weighs 2,670 pounds.

Loved the Water

Did you ever hear the story of Oscar Larson, the fishermen's friend, and his best girl on a fishing exploit at McNichol Creek. While the absolute veracity of the story cannot be vouched for it runs something like this. One week-end recently Oscar suggested they go fishing, not a vote being cast to the contrary. Now when Oscar goes fishing he does it in a very gentlemanly manner and likewise his partner had to fall in line. Oscar always goes fishing with a row boat. He says the gasboats only gas and annoy the fish. The party arrived at the rowboat all dressed up like a circus band armed with bait, hooks, sinkers and poles. Nothing exciting happened on the voyage across the harbor and a safe landing was made by all. While walking up the creek, Oscar's partner swore to seeing a sea serpent and so the fishing gear was rushed into commission and an extra helping of bait was stuck on both hooks. After a silence running into hours, and the sea serpent not materializing, Oscar got annoyed by running the hook into his finger when removing a bullhead. In a soft voice the leader of the party suggested in a nice way that probably the fish had sought refuge on the opposite shore. Locating a nice slippery log Oscar did the Charleston to the farther shore arriving without mishap. However, his partner, who was wearing the latest in high heeled fishing boots, insisted on slipping when on the middle of the log and slid gracefully into the water, hat and all. Oscar saved the lady by reading a few chapters of "How to reach land for non-swimmers" from a book he had with him. A hurried departure was then made for the home shore and, on arrival, the young lady, who had decided the water was not so wet as it was painted, in stepping from the boat slipped on a board and did another nose dive into the salt chuck. This meant a second reference to Oscar's book of words. He has now come to the conclusion that the most successful way to go fishing is not to go, but if so, to go alone.

The lighthouse tender Newington, Capt. H. Ormiston, left port on Friday morning for Vancouver Rock, situated in Millbank Sound, for the purpose of raising one of the light buoys there and making necessary repairs. The steamer towed the government scow and crane which will be used in the lifting operation. Prior to leaving port, Harry lined the crew up, minus boots and socks, and instructed them how to clean the decks with their eye lashes in order to save the mops.

A Study In Oils

Harry Daggett has upset all the happy domestic aspirations of the remainder of the household by starting in to do some spring painting on the house. Yes, sir, Harry is not responsible for his actions when he gets a paint brush in his fist. It is understood on good authority that he has used the inside paint on the outside and the outside paint on the inside. In fact there was paint on his pillow and even on the butter. It was found necessary to cut the handles off all the paint brushes lying around to prevent Harry from poking his own eyes out. The house looks fine now if you can distinguish which part is painted.

Capt. John Ramm, the whole works on the American schooner Venus, blew into port on Thursday with a nice little catch of 35,000 pounds of the best fish in the world. It was Capt. Ramm who, single handed, poked the eyes out of an octopus with a toothpick. It is said that John has now taken unto himself a special halibut which he has trained to do his bidding. When John whistles "The Stars and Stripes" Tiny, the halibut, stands up and marches about the decks like a soldier.

Capt. O. P. Smith, skipper and owner of the fish packer Billy Boy, arrived in port on Friday from North Island, where he has been trolling, with a catch of 2,000 red salmon. P.O. says that for the past week the salmon have been running well in that district and the fishermen are looking forward to a remunerative season. The Billy Boy will leave port today on charter to the Claxton cannery for the season.

Swell Cake Cupboard

The picnic cakes have been bequeathed at such speed to Capt. "Handsome" Jim Morrison, skipper of the Bushby tug Hanaco, that he and his crew have been forced to find storage room for them on the boat. Someone whispered to the Whiff man that several ducks swallowed a helping of cake from the Hanaco and sank like submarines. However, skipper Jim was always a great man for taking chances, even with cake. Suitable storage room has now been fixed for the delicacies by having a real cake cupboard, standing three storeys high, built at the N. M. McLean shipyards. It sure is a nifty piece of work and will hold umpteen cakes of any size whatsoever. The great thing about the new storage cupboard is the convenience arranged for mice. Holes have been drilled on both sides of the cupboard at each storey. This is to ensure a safe entrance and exit for any mice which may be attracted by the odor of the cake.

The power boat Wigwam, Capt. Claude Ketchum, has been on the dry dock this week for annual overhaul and painting. Also one of Claude's scows has been put up on the pontoons for the same reason. The Wigwam was out this week to Louis Locker's logging camp on Porcher Island for a tow of logs for John Currie & Son.

The Forestry boat Red Cedar arrived in port on Monday and was taken up on the McLean ways for painting and repairs.

Mig to Rescue

The deeds of heroes often go unsung but a recent exploit of Doc Alexander's speed boat Mig chanced to come to the ears of a travelling scribe and it's well worth recounting. One morning recently, long before 99 per cent of the alarm clocks in the city had raised their sleep spoiling voices, Doc went out for a prior to breakfast spin. Mig is a fast sort of girl, that is speaking nautically, and before the skipper was aware of his exact location Mig was tearing up the ocean off the mouth of the harbor. Upon slackening the gadgits to enable Mig to turn around, without turning turtle, skipper Alexander noticed a small gasboat stalled some half mile distant. Urging Mig to "do her stuff" Doc was soon alongside the disabled craft when a line was thrown to him. Faster than it takes to tell Mig bent to the task with a will and all was well. Thus another page is written in the glorious history of deeds of members of the P.R. Yacht Club. The medal to Doc will be presented at a later date.

Jimmy Lee, the genial manager of the Atlin Fisheries, has been confined to his bed for a couple of days this week suffering with old fashioned flu. It is a pleasure to state that Jim is coming along nicely and the boys hope to see him at the wheel again on Monday.

The Provincial government are erecting a floating shed over a rowboat at the Cow Bay floats. Many are wondering what the rowboat has done to deserve such thoughtful treatment in its old age.

M. Broberg will shortly leave on a gillnetting expedition to Wales Island in the interests of the Atlin Fisheries.

Hard at It.

Pete Lorenzen, manager of the Royal Fish Co., has been putting in a lot of overtime lately painting up the launch Surveyor for the umpteenth time this season. Pete has gone at the job with such a will that the elbows of his coat are worn through. He is one of those paint brush wielders who can use either hand on the job, hence both the sleeves have gone. But we'll say the little old craft looks nifty.

The cry of Puss, is heard no more at the Atlin Fisheries. The black and white cats have sought another home. It is thought more time has been spent on polishing the new car than in tending to the wants of the quadrupeds. And most cats have no interest in motor cars, anyway.

othy seed to supply the market at Vancouver and other points. The seed is inspected and graded right here and sold under guarantee.

Step in Advance

In order to encourage the growing of seed in the district a seed fair is being organized to be held in the late fall and prizes are being given for the best field of seed and the cleanest seed shown.

The growing of seed is one of the steps toward the development of mixed farming in Central B.C. and is being taken up with enthusiasm by a number of the farmers. When they have proved its value as a money maker others will take it up. It is solving the problems of utilizing the timothy fields following the failure of the hay market and is likely to prove a means of making farming in British Columbia a greater success than it has been heretofore.

FORMER LOCAL BOY AND GIRL MARRIED

Miss Ruth Eleanor McDonald Became Bride of Arthur Morrow at Vancouver This Week

Many local residents will be interested in the marriage which took place last Tuesday in Vancouver when Miss Ruth Eleanor McDonald, only daughter of Boswell R. McDonald, became the bride of Arthur Stewart Morrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Morrow. Both Mr. and Mrs. Morrow lived in Prince Rupert as children, the bride's father at one time having been collector of customs here.

A Vancouver paper tells of the wedding as follows:

Roses and sweet peas in pastel shades, embedded in trailing greenery and fern, made a very pretty setting for the wedding which took place at St. Andrew's United Church at 9 o'clock on Tuesday evening, when Rev. A. E. Kerr united in marriage Miss Ruth Eleanor McDonald, only daughter of B. R. McDonald, and Arthur Stewart Morrow.

An imported model of blonde flat crepe, embroidered in blue and gold, and a hat of blonde corded silk was the charming costume worn by the bride. Ophelia roses and lily of the valley formed her shower bouquet. Little Miss Patricia Ryan, the only attendant, wore a dainty frock of pale pink georgette and a bandeau of pink satin ribbon finished with pastel shaded rosebuds. Sweet peas in harmonizing shades were arranged in the tall gilded basket that she carried. Rupert Morrow acted as best man, and George Mansell and George Shaw as ushers. During the signing of the register Miss Rena Marshall sang "All Joy Be Thine."

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Edward J. Ryan, 4051 Pine Crescent, Shaughnessy, when Mrs. Ryan and Mrs. Morrow received the guests, the former wearing a hand-embroidered French model of coral georgette, and the latter white figured satin with smart trimmings of black georgette and hat to match. Little Doreen Ryan opened the door.

Palms and roses were used in the reception room. In the dining room white streamers were suspended from the chandelier to the tea table, centred with the three-tiered wedding cake. Silver vases of roses and candlesticks with tapers in the same shade were effectively used about the prettily-arranged centrepiece. Mrs. Thomas Evans and Mrs. C. B. Mansell poured tea, while Mrs. J. Howard Whittaker, Mrs. L. W. N. Harvey cut the ices, and Mrs. E. Greenfield, Miss F. Chamberlain, Miss Freda Morrow, Miss Marjorie Mansell and Miss Edith Alcock assisted in serving.

For travelling the bride wore an English tweed cape coat trimmed with blonde fur. Mr. and Mrs. Morrow left by the midnight boat for Victoria, where they will spend a month on a motor trip on Vancouver Island. They will return to Vancouver for a short time before permanently making their home in Victoria.

Miss Lillian Lowe will sail on the Prince Rupert tonight on a vacation trip to Vancouver.
