MACKENZIE KING GOES ON WARPATH

SPECIAL POWERS ACT SURVIVES HOT COMMITTEE SESSION

Systematic Looting of Federal Treasury by Provinces In Guise Of Relief Condemned by Leader

Federal Liberal Chief Discusses Auditor-General's Allegations Regarding Irregularities by Municipalities And Provinces—Pays His Respects to British Columbia's S. P. A.

OTTAWA, March 27: (CP)—Systematic looting of the federal treasury by the provinces and municipalities under the guises of unemployment relief has been flourishing for the past four years, it was charged yesterday in the House of Commons by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Leader of the Opposition. Flourishing in his hand a report by the Auditor-General reflecting grave irregularities by the municipalities and provinces, Mr. King demanded detailed audits of unemployment funds. At the time of Mr. King's remarks, the government's bill to extend the Relief Act was up for second reading.

Following were some of the instances of irregularities enumerated in the auditor-general's report, none of which were localized:

The Dominion was charged with maintenance costs on highways, administrative costs and salaries of permanent officials.

Excessive rentals have been charged for machinery.

Trucks have been billed as hand labor.

Gas taxes paid to the provinces have been submitted in accounts for federal contribution.

Cities have charged the Dominion for street maintenance.

Civic salaries have been paid by the Dominion.

One municipality submitted the same pay list twice.

Equipment for a university costing $18,000 was charged against the Dominion.

Pays Respects to S. P. A.

The example of the Dominion government had been such as to occasion the provincial governments to follow it, Mr. King stated in reference to the proposed Special Powers Act of British Columbia while continuing his protest against the powers given the government in Dominion unemployment relief legislation. Mr. King referred to a telegram he had received from Very Rev. Dean C. S. Quainton following a mass meeting in Victoria. The time to have called these mass meetings to protest against this kind of thing was when the Liberal Opposition in the House of Commons had sought to arouse public opinion on that particular form of divesting Parliament of its powers in respect to public monies four years ago, Mr. King said.

The Leader of the Opposition in Dominion Parliament had no authority whatever to intervene in any provincial matter and, as far as he was true to traditions of Liberalism, he would allow the provinces to manage their own affairs, Mr. King stated.

"The Prince Was A Commoner Begging Hard For Money"

The paraphrase of the nursery rhyme describes this picture, which shows a commoner putting a contribution into a tin cup held by a prince. The royal gentleman is Prince August Whilhelm, 4th son of the former kaiser, and the drop into mendicancy was a gesture of help to the committee in charge of the winter relief fund in Berlin. As a group commander of Nazi supreme storm troops the prince took his turn with the little tin cup on a street corner, as did all his brother commanders. Collections were good while the prince was serving.

Important Legislation At Victoria Is Ready For Third Reading

Forty Amendments Discussed During Five Hours of Heated Debate—Premier Pattulo Assures House That No Drastically Contentious Action is Planned

VICTORIA, March 27: (CP)—The Special Powers Act was ready for its third reading today after having weathered one of the hardest fought battles in committee stage that has ever faced a piece of legislation in British Columbia. During five hours of continuous debate, the bill, which has been the centre of heated controversy ever since it was introduced a week ago last Friday, ran the gamut of forty amendments, coming chiefly from G. G. McGeer and the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation members. Two minor amendments were accepted by the government from the Opposition and three which the government itself sponsored were passed. Otherwise the bill remained essentially as the government had drawn it up.

One amendment makes it clear that the Special Powers Act does not give the province the power to contravene the British North America Act or the British Columbia Constitution Act.

Another amendment makes the Special Powers Act effective until the beginning of the next session of the Legislature instead of the end while another provides that the government must report on its actions under the act within ten days after the next session opens instead of fifteen.

The government had not the faintest intention of disposing of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway without reference to the Legislature as the last government had planned to do, the Premier said. It had no intention of making drastic changes in connection with timber disposal or of making large grants of natural resources. He had in mind drilling for natural oil and gas, if feasible, and of placing men on relief on the land or in placer mining.

Powers in Connection With Country's Trade to be Given to Dominion Gov't

Fishing Included

Also Products of Forests and Farms But Not of Mines

OTTAWA, March 27: (CP)—New legislation known as the National Products Marketing Act was introduced in Parliament yesterday.

Under the legislation the government will be empowered to limit by order-in-council the export of products at any time and control interprovincial trade and will also be clothed with authority to recompense exporters for losses incurred through obeying orders of the board and also for losses due to fluctuation in exchange rates when resulting from orders of the board.

Authority will also be given to investigate and regulate price spreads.

Commodities covered by the new act include products of the sea, forests and farms but not of the mines. Any group of producers of any of these products may petition the government to have the marketing of their products regulated under the provisions of the Act.

Asked his morning to comment upon the new federal National Products Marketing Act, both T. H. Johnson, general manager of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., and John Dybhavn, president of the Royal Fish Co. and the Massett Canners, intimated that they would like to have further particulars of the proposed legislation before making such comment.

GOVERNMENT ENDORSED

The Fascist government of Italy has been endorsed by the electors almost unanimously. The election was not like ours. It was the first held under the new plan for a real Fascist administration. As a matter of fact the trial of Fascism commences now for since the Black Shirts seized the power in Italy the country has been in a state of transition with Mussolini as dictator most of the time. During that period the Duce has been laying his plans for the perpetuation of the new system and the election this week was the consummation of the arrangement whereby the old parliamnt has been abolished and the new initiated.

The whole world will watch the working of the new Italian system for today the world is looking for something new in the matter of administration, the old having proved unsatisfactory. That is why people are interested in the Russian experiment, the Italian experiment, the Austrian situation, the plans of the C. C. F. and the Douglas system. They feel that something will be done soon and they are anxious that any move made shall be in the right direction.

GETTING RESULTS

Already the Pattullo policy is achieving results. Premier Bennett has recognized the seriousness of the situation and, as announced in this paper yesterday, has asked the western premiers to meet him in conference next week. Premier Pattullo will go and, doubtless, he will take with him the authority which he has asked the Legislature to give him in dealing with the affairs of the province. His hand will be strengthened a hundred times by the knowledge that any action he takes is final and cannot be nullified or modified. He will be the only man in the group who will be in a position to take immediate action although there is no reason to believe the federal parliament would refuse to back up Mr. Bennett in any action he may take. It should now be possible to talk frankly with the aim of getting results.

"Passion Play" Lecture Draws Crowded House to Cathedral

Over 260 people attended St. Andrew's Cathedral Hall last night to hear an exceptional lecture on "The Passion Play at Oberammergau" by Mrs. J. T. Mandy. It was under the auspices of Toc H.

Prior to the lecture an opening hymn, "The Lord is My Shepherd" was sung by the audience. This was followed by a solo, "It Was For Me," by John E. Davey.

Mrs. Mandy then took her audience upon a long and eventful pilgrimage from New York across the Atlantic thence overland from Cherbourg, through Paris, across France, over the border into Bavaria, passing through Munich and eventually arriving at Oberammergau, nestled amongst the Bavarian Alps.

The speaker took her hearers through this quaint old world village, describing the individual inhabitants in their everyday life and in the character each portrayed in the Passion Play. She told of the remarkable effect the performance of this play through the centuries has had upon the natives of Oberammergau, how it had produced an idealistic, simple living, clean living and truly religious people to whom all the trickeries and sharp practices of the modern business world are unknown—a truly democratic people. The impersonation of the Christus on three different occasions by Anton Long was indeed wonderful as was the presentation of the characters of the Virgin Mary; Mary Magdalene, Peter and Judas.

History of Play

In the course of her lecture Mrs. Mandy described how the Passion Play had come into being; how it was first performed in the little village church of Oberammergau to an audience of villagers in the year 1634 and at more or less regular intervals ever since. The three-hundredth anniversary performance will take place this year.

Nobody but those born in the village can take part in the presentation. There are no professional actors, no make-up or any other of the modern artifices of the stage used. Yet it is a wonderful production, drawing people from the four quarters of the world. Seats are booked one year in advance.

The lecture was accompanied by a series of beautiful colored lantern pictures depicting the different actors in their roles and in their everyday life; scenes of the theatre, the village and the woodcarving workshops, also of the wonderful triangular-shaped mountain with its huge cross overlooking the whole village.

At the close of her lecture Mrs. Mandy was given an ovation.

A duet, "The Crown of Thorns," by Mrs. P. H. Linzey and John E. Davey was much appreciated.

A closing hymn, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," and the benediction by Dean Gibson brought to a close a most interesting evening.

Very Rev. Dean J. B. Gibson was chairman. Dr. J. T. Mandy operated the lantern and Mrs. S. A. Kielback accompanied the singing.

James R. Gaudin, superintendent engineer for steamships of the Yukon and White Pass Route, and Mrs. Gaudin were passengers aboard the Princess Norah Sunday afternoon going through to Whitehorse for the season after having spent the winter in Vancouver and elsewhere in the south.

White Cooks Are Installed Today Commodore Cafe

All white cooks have been installed by James Killas at the Commodore following his recent visit to Vancouver where he secured a French chef and very competent Canadian assistants This will make a wide appeal to those who have been objecting to Oriental cooking.

In addition Mr. Killas, while in the south, made arrangements for various improvements in his cafe which will prove very attractive. The decorators will be busy directly and the whole premises will be thoroughly renovated. Jim inspected the most up-to-date cafes in the south and he plans to make his the equal of any of them.
