BASEBALL GAME BROADCASTS

Good news for city baseball fans is to be found in this week's issue of the CBC Times, with the announcement that the "Game of the Day" series will be broadcast over radio station CFPR starting at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

First game of the day will be between the American League champion Chicago White Sox and Detroit Tigers at the motor city. In case of rain at Detroit the alternate game will be between Milwaukee Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League.

Kluszewskis single sinks Kansas City

By The Associated Press

"We've got more power," said manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, "so now we're sluggin' 'em

The White Sox won their first American League pennant in 40 years with 94 victories last season, (better than a third (30) were done by one run.) Winter deals for Minnie Minoso and Gene Freese and a spring swap for Roy Sievers were supposed to provide more power and make things easier this year, so now Sox have played two and won two (both have been put away) by one-run margins, both in the ast inning.) They beat Kansas City the second time Thursday 6-5 on Ted Kluszewski's single eleventh after winning reliefer Jerry Staley had blanked the A's on one hit for five innings that hoisted White Sox into a firstplace tie with idle Detroit.

The New York Yankees backed by a four-hit shutout spun by rookie John Gabler and Ryne Duren, and with successive fourth inning home runs by Bill' Skowron and Gil McDougald
