Besides being a highly successful social function, it was a huge financial success with the sum of $492.46 realized.

Brilliant sunshine enhanced the pleasant noon-day repast, which featured gourmet sandwiches to please all tastes and desserts of delicious pastries and tarts.

Arranged in buffet style, the huge serving table was attractively centred with a bouquet of fresh-cut flowers.

Co-conveners were Mrs. J. A. Martin and Mrs. Robert McKay.

Receiving the guests at the door was WA president, Mrs. Carl Strand while Mrs. J. R. Ayres, ticket convener, was cashier.

Attending the raffle table were Mrs. C. C. Mills and Mrs. Nicholas Krook.

Raffle winners were Mrs. Gammon, 613 Sixth Avenue West, cocktail shaker; Mrs. E. V. Whiting, 1638 Atlin Avenue, centrepiece and Mrs. Ayres, side of bacon.

All net proceeds from the function go towards purchasing valuable equipment for the hospital, it was announced.

It was also reported that two huge boxes of delicately arranged sandwiches had been given to Frienship House, to be given to needy persons.

ANNUAL QUEEN MARY FUNCTION

Attractive ticket prizes feature of Daffodil Tea

Three attractive prizes will be featured when the Queen Mary chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire holds its annual "Daffodil Day Tea", April 12 at the home of Mrs. Morris Holmberg.

Final plans were made for the function Wednesday night when the chapter held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. John Kasper with Regent, Mrs. Yet Wong, presiding.

General convener is Mrs. Murdo McKenzie.

Ticket prizes to be featured are an evening bag, a women's purse and theatre tickets and ticket chairman is Mrs. Robert Murray.

During the business session Mrs. W. H. Nesbitt was elected educational secretary.

Mrs. Wong was elected to represent the chapter at the annual provincial IODE convention to be held in Victoria, April 11 to 14.

Mrs. Emil Quast, Mrs. McKenzie and Mrs. Wong volunteered to canvass for the Red Cross drive, Saturday, March 18.

Mrs. G. W. Johnstone announced that the annual tag day had been set for June 3.

A letter received from the Prince Rupert General hospital, was read. The leter thanked the chapter for its donation of a baby layette.

Mrs. Wong won the monthly prize.

Next meeting will be held April 4 at the home of Mrs. Kasper.

HERE'S TO YOUR BUDGET'S GOOD HEALTH . . . and yours, as well! One of the best ways I know to cut food costs and have the nutrition and taste you want, too, is this: Instead of using the costly spread on your table, serve BLUE BONNET MARGARINE. Everyone will like its fresh, sunny-sweet flavour. It's an all-vegetable margarine, you see, and so good-tasting and nutritious. Use it in your pastry baking and as a delicious vegetable topping. I know you'll agree that Blue Bonnet Margarine makes just about everything taste better!

Speakers featured during week

The Port Edward School Education Week committee, chaired by John Goertz, reported that a most successful program had been enjoyed in the school Thursday afternoon.

Sponsored by the PTA, open house was held from 1 to 3 p.m., with a good attendance of parents, visiting the classrooms.

This was followed by a special meeting with Mrs. A. L. Bell, regional representative of the PT Federation, speaking on the Chant report.

With the aid of a chart, Mrs. Bell outlined the different programs that would be available in the future for students of different abilities.

She said that all children would go from kindergarten to Grade 7. At this point students would be separated and the slow learners would go to junior vocational schools with the others carrying on with the high school program.

From this point students would go into collegiate academy or senior vocational school and then to university, Mrs. Bell explained.

In a further Education Week program, Friday community guest speakers were W. D. Egg, who spoke on "Our Heritage in Music," with illustrations on the piano; RCMP Constable Larry Schultz, "A Day in RCMP Training;" Mrs. Herbert Kohler, of Miller Bay Indian hospital, "Cleanliness and Procedures in the Children's Ward;" Derek Wright, "Development of Ship Hulls" and Jack de Jong, who spoke on "Indonesia."

Edward Wampler showed four children's films and Mrs. T. J. Omori, Mrs. Jack Tasaka and Mrs. T. Uyens, dressed a young girl in a Japanese kimono.

The varied program was thoroughly enjoyed by the pupils and teachers.

African girl wants clothes

A 17-year-old African girl, Abeni Olajide of 52 Smith Street, Lagos, Nigeria, West Africa, writes that she would "like to have some pen pals from this wonderful country and pals to exchange Nigerian goods with."

"Nigerian items are ebony carvings in shapes of human beings and animals, also candle-holders and walking sticks, handbags, slippers, wallets, purses and billfolds all made with crocodile, snake, and lizard skins; dagger knives and many other items in exchange for Canadian blouses, skirts, shoes and handbags," she writes.

She says she is five feet, four inches, weighs 102 pounds and her hobbies are dancing, swimming and ping-pong and that she hopes to receive letters by air mail from both sexes, regardless of age.

Herman Ronsvold, 1002 First Avenue West, returned last week by CPA plane from Hawaii where he was vacationing with Mrs. Ronsvold and family, who remained in Honolulu.

All city residents receive benefits from funds raised in annual drive

By BETTY WADDELL

The Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society makes its annual plea for funds Saturday, March 18 and we give or we don't according to our personal leanings.

Whether we are the givers or the non-givers we are all the receivers of Red Cross benefits

Red Cross Societies in 84 countries of the world do much to promote and maintain the peace. If war strikes in spite of these efforts, the Red Cross alleviates the suffering of individuals and the anguish of relatives at home. But the Red Cross does not wait for wars. It finds many peace time projects are worthy of donated time and money.

First and foremost Canadians can be proud of an efficient, responsible and modern national free blood bank. In Prince Rupert we qualify for the same prompt and complete service as big city hospitals, in supply of fresh whole blood and blood derivatives.

This service is costing the Red Cross dearly and depleting a reserve fund for disaster and emergency. The service must be continued with our contributions.

Water safety programs and outpost hospitals have obvious benefit to people living up here on the north coast. The Red Cross sees this benefit and the services are supplied.

Many homes have occasion to use sickroom supplies for short periods. These supplies are expensive to buy in time of sickness and useless in time of health. The Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society is attempting to make these supplies available to be loaned freely.

Internationally the Canadian Red Cross is earning a reputation for prompt and effective relief.

A Canadian team of doctors and physiotherapists are teaching rehabilitation to thousands of victims of machine oil poisoning in Morocco. At the same time another medical team is working in The Congo, where the Belgians left off, with malaria control and leprosy relief.

Will these teams need to be called home because Canadians didn't give enough money to continue the work?

This would be embarrassing to the society and to every Canadian. Without an increase in the funds the international relief will have to be curtailed to leave money for projects at home.

Make this your responsibility when the canvassers calls at your door on Saturday, March 18. Give as much as you can afford to keep Canada's prestige high and your own safety secure.

Kinettes investigate child aid

The Prince Rupert Kinette club is making tentative plans to sponsor a child in "Save the Children's Fund."

At the regular meeting Thursday night held at the home of Mrs. Wilfred Lessard, plans were discussed for the sponsorship of a child.

Mrs. I. H. Currie was named to further investigate the project.

In other business, chaired by President Mrs. D. K. Cameron, Mrs. R. M. D. Waddell was elected to represent the club at the annual Cancer Society dinner meeting to be held in April.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Peter Moroz, Thursday, April 13.
