PRYSTAY - PALLANT VOWS EXCHANGED

Guide guard of honor enhances 'gold and white' wedding theme

The rich blue of the Girl Guide guard-of-honor formed a colorful background for the gold and white color theme predominantly focused at one of the city's loveliest weddings on the first Friday of summer when Doreen Shannon Pallant became the bride of Victor Charles Prystay.

The formal wedding ceremony was solemnized at 7:30 p.m. in the Church of the Annunciation with Rev. James Tracey, OMI, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pallant of this city. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Teodor Prystay, also of Prince Rupert. Both principals attended city schools and went on to the University of British Columbia. The groom is employed with the personnel department of Columbia Cellulose Company Limited at Watson Island.

A gold and white daisy floral decor in the church set the color theme which enhanced the entire ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautiful in a classic bridal full-length gown fashioned of fine silk faille featuring a portrait neckline over an empire bodice of embroidered lace which fell to a bell-shaped skirt sweeping into a cathedral train. Her double tiered cathedral-length veil of silk illusion misted from a tiny crown of pearls and brilliants. She wore pearl jewelry and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Making a pretty foil for the bridal ensemble and again introducing the color theme, gold silk shantung "tulip" dresses were selected by the bride's trio of attendants: Mrs. Kenneth McLean as matron-of-honor and Miss Anna Colussi and Miss Jacqueline Halliwell as bridesmaids

Their identically designed dresses were accented by headdresses of veiling and fresh daisies, and they carried crescent bouquets of white, gold-centred daisies.

Roy Prystay was best man, and performing ushering duties were James Prystay and Laurence Lyons.

Mrs. Denis Rowse played the wedding music. Soloist Mrs. Rudolph Gryzsik sang "Blessed Be This Day".

Flanking the church steps the 24-member Girl Guide guard-of-honor paid tribute to the bride who was a former Brownie, and Guide of the Second Prince Rupert Guide Company to become the Guide Captain and Brown Owl of the Kitkatla Guides and Brownies last year.

Honor guard-in-charge were District Commissioner Mrs. George W. Cook and Mrs. Joseph Niemand, ex-divisional commission.

W. E. Halliwell proposed the toast to the bride, his goddaughter, at the reception in the Islander Hall.

Vases of flowers decked the bride's table where the focal point was a three-tiered bridal cake. This was later cut by Mrs. Gordon Nicholls. Completing the setting, miniature floral bouquets to match, graced the individual guest tables.

To receive the guests the bride's mother was charming in a bone-colored brocade ensemble with gold accessories and a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums while the groom's mother chose to wear a lovely nile green ensemble with beige accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

Before leaving on a wedding trip to Jasper and Banff Parks en route to Vancouver, the bride changed to a cocoa silk shantung sheath and jacket, with bone-colored accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Prystay will make their home in Prince Rupert.

MUSEUM BRIEFS . . .

By JOCELYN BOLTON

We have been very busy at the museum and also at the Tourist Bureau, and many guests have been through the museum from nearly every state in the U.S.A. and quite a number of Canadians also have paid us a visit.

One tour boat brought 83 guests at one time on a tour, plus other passengers and the museum was bulging at the seams, but they all seemed to enjoy our museum.

Robert R. Smith of Seattle was a guest and worked and lived in Prince Rupert in 1912 and was most interested in finding something he could recognize.

Another lady from California also told us that she lived in Prince Rupert when she was four years old, and remembered Third Avenue, so was getting quite a kick out of seeing it again. Her memory for a four-year-old seemed good.

We have had many interesting people and to list them all would take pages of writing. Mr. and Mrs. Dickie from Corpus Christi, Texas, were charming guests, and even though our weatherman has not been too generous were not complaining about anything. They came via train, then are taking the ship back to Vancouver, then by car home to Texas.

L. A. Brian has loaned the museum a very old sword used in the Franco - Prussian War, and it is on display in our gun case, even the name of the original owner is very legible and the sword has been well cared for. H. Hammber also brought us a very fine stone adze from the Queen Charlotte Islands, donated by S. DeBucy and is in perfect condition. It was found at the mouth of the Ball River, Queen Charlotte Islands a short while ago.

This adze is quite different, in that the rock is unique — not the usual dark rock, but a real pinto type stone. We are very pleased to have these new additions to our collection, and wish to thank the donors very much for thinking of the museum.

We have distributed hundreds of folders, and are most happy that many of our local people are making use of our service at the Bureau, where we have maps and directories of campsite for free distribution, plus the other provinces in most cases, but there is always someone who wants something we don't happen to have, but generally I believe we can help and we are pleased to have them call.

ST. PAUL'S SETTING OF TRIPLE CHRISTENING

Cousins, all boys, were principals in a triple christening ceremony held Sunday morning in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, with Rev. M. B. Odlund officiating.

The two-and-a-half months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Brian K. Hanson, 1128 Sixth Ave. East, received the names Christopher Juhl Hanson. His cousins christened in the same service were Gregory George Olafson, age 5, and Douglas Michael Olafson, age 4, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olafson, 614 Sixth Ave. East.

Godparents for Christopher are Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Hanson of Edmonton, for whom Mr. and Mrs. Olafson were proxies. Godparents for Gregory are Mr and Mrs. Walter Johnson of Prince Rupert, and for Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Primo Vaccher, also of Prince Rupert.

Later a buffet luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hanson, with Mrs. Olafson as co-hostess.

BRITISH EVANGELIST REES WELCOMED BY DEAN

God's great power conveyed to 300 attentive church goers

The message of God's redemptive power was conveyed to nearly 300 people Monday night in Booth Memorial Junior High School by British evangelist Tom Rees, currently leading an inter-church Mission to Canada.

He spoke under local auspices of the Ministerial Association, whose president the Very Rev. G. T. Pattison, Dean of Caledonia of St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral, gave the address of welcome.

Basing his talk on the 12th chapter of Exodus, the evangelist said that one of the most difficult things that religious respectable people "like ourselves" have to learn is that in the eyes of God all are sinners.

"Every man, even the best, falls into sin, and therefore says St. Paul let every mouth be stopped . . . let all the world plead guilty before God. All have sinned and all have come short of the glory of God.

"God is not concerned first or foremost with which Commandments have been broken or which have not been broken, but that any has been broken. St. James says that if a man breaks one in part he is guilty of breaking all.

"We have all sinned and in the eyes of God there is no difference between the religious and the irreligious, the good or the bad."

Continuing, Mr. Rees said: "Of course all are not guilty in the same degree. Some have broken all the Commandments while some have sinned comparatively few times. But we have all come short of the glory of God.

"God compares your life not with that of any of your neighbors, but with the sinless, spotless life of our Saviour Jesus Christ. He judges us by the divine standard of His Holy Law."

The story revealed in Exodus also gives the reminder, said Mr. Rees, that God has provided a way of life, redemption and salvation.

"God in His love, His grace, His tender mercy, His compassion, provided the Lamb of God —our Saviour Jesus Christ.

"We are reminded of the solemn truth that although Christ died for us and that we are all sinners, through Christ we may be cleansed of all sin."

Besides hymns sung by the entire congregation led by Mr. Rees, a male vocal group sang two selections under the direction of Weldon Epp.

Members of the Ministerial Association, also on stage, were introduced by the evangelist and special welcomes were extended to out-of-town visitors in the congregation.

Mr. Rees' visit to Prince Rupert was the 110th in his current mission. From here he goes to Kitimat and Prince George and then to Toronto before he returns to the United Kingdom.

Judy Fossum to represent students as Canada Council guest at Stratford

A pretty bright-eyed high school student Judy Louise Fossum, will soon be reading more Shakespeare than she ever has before in her school days.

Eighteen-year-old Judy has been chosen for an all-expenses-paid trip to the current Shakespearean Festival in Stratford, Ont.

She will join 150 students from all over Canada who will see festival productions and attend associated functions as guests of the Canada Council.

Judy will travel by train to the festival city, leaving Prince Rupert on July 14, and linking up with other students from western Canada and their chaperones en route.

The biggest thrills will come July 18 to 21. On those days Judy will meet actors and actresses, production artists, and attend performances in the evenings.

She will see Shakespeare's "Love's Labour's Lost", "King Henry VIII" and "Coriolanus" and the Gilbert and Sullivan "Pirates of Penzance".

"I haven't read the plays yet", Judy says, "but I plan to do that on the train."

Judy, a Grade 12 student at Prince Rupert Senior High School will represent School District 52 and has been chosen for her interest in the arts — especially music.

Judy is an accomplished young musician, playing the piano and accordian, and intends to teach both in Prince Rupert next year. She has completed Toronto Conservatory Grade 10 music, and is working toward her ARCT degree.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Vernard Fossum, 327 Sixth Avenue East.

Jehovah Witnesses minister to attend assembly in south

Arthur Molin, presiding minister of the local Jehovah's Witnesses will attend the United Worshippers District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at Empire Stadium in Vancouver July 4 to 9.

He and his wife and their two sons Robert and Kenneth will join 20,000 and 25,000 delegates attending from four northwestern states and the four western provinces of Canada. The six-day Bible training session is being sponsored by the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society with world headquarters in Brooklyn.

Missionary work has long been a part of Mr. Molin's life. For some years he used a cabin cruiser and accompanied by his wife and two other missionaries, he later travelled in his own trailer, up and down the coast calling at every small village from Vancouver to Skagway.

PERFECT SAFETY RECORD was chalked up [illegible] the instrument department at Columbia Cellulose Company Limited with completion of its 10th year without a disabling injury. This represents a perfect record of almost a quarter of a million man hours of work since the Watson Island mill began operations in 1951. Mill manager John Guthrie congratulated the department at a special banquet at La Gondola Cafe Saturday, and presented the top award of merit of the B.C. Safety Council to Gordon Wasend, instrument supervisor. Fire chief and safety inspector Robert Kelsey presented inscribed pen and pencil sets to the members of the department.
