NEW FRUIT ON MARKET

Navel Oranges of Fine Quality Arriving—Also Fall Varieties Of Apples

Shipments of new crop navel oranges continue to arrive for the local retail market. The fruit is in fine condition and prices are very reasonable. Many fine displays of these oranges are being featured in local retail stores.

Japanese oranges, the quality of which has been very good this winter, are about cleaned up now.

Fall varieties of apples are all off the market now but winter varieties are finding a ready sale. Prices are reasonable, particularly in bulk lines. A few boxes of good quality cooking apples, which are understood to be from Lulu Island farms, have made their appearance and are very reasonable in price.

Quite a large supply of potatoes is available, principally around Smithers and Telkwa, and there are also some in storage around Terrace and Remo. It is not anticipated that potato prices will move any higher than they are at present.
