GENERAL SIR ARTHUR CURRIE

Sir Arthur Currie was one of Canada's great men. He was a self-made man, most of his early manhood being spent in Victoria. As a school teacher in a country school and later in Victoria he was simply a young man with ambition. He became a militia officer, first with the Fifth Regiment and later with the Gordon Highlanders which he organized and a considerable part of which went with him to the war. In business he was not a great success. His talents lay in other directions. He was pre-eminently a military leader and as such his ability was generally recognized. Since the war he held the position of president of McGill University with dignity and, when he spoke on any subject to the public, the whole nation listened.

RADIO COMMISSION

The Canadian Radio Commission has come in for a good deal of criticism but, during its existence, it has done some useful work, especially in improving the quality of Canadian broadcasts.

On one point it has failed so far. It has not yet given British Columbia a broadcasting station. The tin-pot affair near Vancouver which it took over from the Canadian National Railway does not properly serve the province. It is seldom that it can be heard clearly without any disturbance in Prince Rupert. It has neither strength or clarity and is too near the wave of other powerful stations which often drown its feeble voice.

For brief spells Calgary provides a service which can be heard in Prince Rupert but it is unreliable and people would much rather listen in to Vancouver if they could. We should continually urge that a better station be erected somewhere near the big centre of population that would give us a reliable, all-day service such as they have in the east.

BECOME MINING MINDED

We are told that never before has there been as much mining work going on at or near Stewart in December as there is today. Work is being pushed ahead on a number of properties which it is likely will be developed into mines. In addition to this there are operations on Queen Charlotte Islands, at Porcher Island and at Usk, Smithers and other interior points. There is mining development going on all around us and there will be more in the future. In view of this it is very desirable that we follow the advice of Dr. Mandy, resident mining engineer, and learn as much as we can about mines and mining. We must be in a position to discuss mining with the visitors who come here and interest them in the industry. Our future depends to a large extent on the interest we take in our natural resources.

Thanksgiving Day With President

Roosevelt Has Quite Time With Family—Conferences Off For Day

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Dec. 1:—President Franklin D. Roosevelt spent a quiet Thanksgiving Day at the Little White House here yesterday with his wife, mother and one son. There were no conferences during the day and it was the first real holiday for the chief executive since his arrival here. He spent an hour or so in the morning in the swimming pool and there was a quiet family dinner at which full justice was done to a 35-pound turkey. Later the President attended a Thanksgiving dinner at a local sanitarium.

SHOULD ENSURE FOUNDATION OF INDUSTRIAL FUTURE BY PROCESS OF EDUCATION, SAYS DR. MANDY.

Importance of Mining

Dr. Mandy quoted many interesting figures to show the growing importance of mining and expressed the opinion that the industry had not only contributed to general prosperity but had probably prevented the collapse of the whole financial structure. It had a wonderful stabilizing effect at the time when it was needed. In Canada gold was being produced at the rate of about $180 per minute for 365 days of the year. It bolstered the position of Canada and mitigated the economic struggle.

In British Columbia 12,000 men were employed in the mining industry and the wage payroll this year would be about $18,000,000 while the production would be approximately $29,000,000 of which gold would be over six million dollars. The industry was next of importance to agriculture.

In concluding Dr. Mandy prophesied that the name of Prince Rupert would be definitely coupled with big industry and especially with the mining industry if the proper steps were taken to insure it. The life of the people would be the richer for this and he urged that there be general co-operation and action to bring about this desired end. "Let me leave with you the constructive thought in this old quotation:

"A fire-mist and a planet
"A crystal and a cell
"A jellyfish and a saurian
"A cave where the cavemen dwell;
"Then a sense of law and beauty
"And a face turned from the clod;
"Some call it evolution
"And others call it God."

Roy Summers of the C. N. R. district freight and passenger agent's office here sailed last night on the Prince George to spend annual vacation at his home in Vancouver.
