MUSICAL CLASS

Mrs. Holland Contemplates Opening Musical and Dramatic Class on Return

Mrs. Holland, who acquired so much popularity and fame through the prominent part she took in the production of the highly successful Pierrot concert given the early part of the week, left on the Prince Rupert yesterday morning for Victoria on a visit to some friends.

Mrs. Holland, who but recently arrived from England is an accomplished musician and trained singer, having been for some years under the best masters in London. It was her intention to open in this city a musical and dramatic class, taking up also the production of light operas and musical comedies by trained amateurs. There would appear to be a splendid opening for this vocation in this city, and her friends sincerely hope that Mrs. Holland will return to Prince Rupert after her stay in Victoria to settle permanently and take up this work.

Public Nuisance

Sir,—Permit me to draw the attention of your readers to what is nothing short of a public nuisance—I refer to the number of dogs prowling about our streets at all times of the day.

Considering the size of our city it is surprising to see so many canines of high and low degree wandering about without owners. You meet them at every corner, in twos, in threes, and in dozens. One would imagine he was a resident of Stambul and not of a Western Canadian town for in Stambul as well as in Constantinople dogs lie about in the hollows of the streets like pigs in a sty. But the Prince Rupert dogs are too active for that. They are always on the go. They revel in fighting. They are bold and aggressive.

Only yesterday as I was walking on Second Avenue, one of those dogs made a sudden spring as I passed, and tore my rain coat. Hundreds of little children pass through the streets each day on their way to school. If that dog snapped at me, is it not possible he may do so at a child, and seriously injure it, or disfigure it for life?

Has the city a by-law forbidding dogs to prow around our streets? Dogs should be in charge of their owners while in the streets or otherwise muzzled. I think the attention of the police should be drawn to it. From more standpoints than one it is objectionable.

I am, Sir,
 Faithfully yours,
 "RESIDENT."

SHOCKING CASE OF A
MIDNIGHT BURGLARY

Hotel Clerk Has Terrible Experience in Dark Kitchen in Early Morning

A couple of nights since, at an uncanny hour in the morning, the night clerk at one of Prince Rupert's leading hotels was startled by hearing a noise in the kitchen. Being a brave young man he at once proceeded to investigate the reason for the noise.

Almost as soon as he had opened the door leading to the kitchen he was knocked to the floor, although not unconscious. Picking himself up he at once notified the proprietor, standing guard with an empty revolver at the kitchen door until the burly constable arrived.

After making a thorough search of the premises no indications could be found of the presence of an intruder. Believing in the old adage, "there is never smoke without fire," the night clerk was closely questioned and asked to demonstrate just exactly what occurred. The electric lights in the kitchen were turned off and the young man proceeded with the demonstration.

Opening the door he reached for the electric button to turn on the light, his other hand coming in contact with a wet towel which was hanging near by, and he was again "knocked on the head." The mysterious burglar was nothing more or less than an electric shock obtained in a most unexpected manner.

MYSTERY DEEPENS

With Death of Another Person, Supposed Poisoning Case Causes Authorities to Worry

Denver, Colo., Nov. 15.—With the death of John L. Gwyer, an English capitalist, at Colorado Springs last night, the mystery surrounding the supposed poisoning of several persons at the Mary Murphy mine, near Buena Vista, two weeks ago, has deepened. Five deaths already have occurred among persons who ate at the boarding house, October 21st.

George E. Collins, general manager of the mine, declared that the investigation made by the physicians of the food eaten at the boarding house disclosed no trace of ptomaine poisoning.
