COLD GERMS AVOID this man. He's too cold for them. Svend Jensen Gilberg's favorite pastime in winter is to indulge in snowbathing in the interests of physical culture. Two or three times a week he presents this somewhat bizarre spectacle. He also rules against swimming in the summer. He claims he has never been sick. — CP Wirephoto

Alton reports on New Party following Calgary meeting

The New Party seminar recently held in Calgary was a sounding board for the ideas of the various parties which will eventually bring the New Party into being at the convention scheduled for July this year, said Monty Alton of Kitimat, defeated CCF candidate for Skeena who attended the seminar.

He was speaking to the Prince Rupert CCF club January 6, pointing out that the decisions taken at the seminar were not formal ones.

Mr. Alton said an optimistic feeling pervaded the meeting that a "new, dynamic force was coming into being in Canada, despite the detractors of the movement who said it would be impossible to unite labor, farmer and other groups behind one political party."

Supporting this statement he pointed out the success the party had had in certain by-elections and in particular in Peterboro, Ont., where a candidate was elected under the New Party banner.

RCAF accused of buzzing Reds

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia charged today that U.S. military aircraft buzzed 35 Soviet ships in various seas last month. The Russians warned that such incidents must cease.

"This is an attempt to prevent the development of Soviet shipping, to intimidate Soviet seamen," Merchant Minister Viktor Bakayev told a press conference.

"The leaders of the U.S. aggressive policy should bear in mind that the Soviet Union has the strength and means to ensure the safety of Soviet shipping anywhere in international waters," Bakayev said.

Russia has repeatedly charged U.S. planes with buzzing Soviet shipping on the high seas.

CANADIANS TOO

Bakayev also charged that a Canadian Lancaster bomber makes regular trips every two or three weeks to photograph North Pole station Number Seven.

This is a Soviet scientific post floating on an iceflow in the polar sea.

Bakayev showed a picture of the Canadian plane just a few feet off the ice of the Soviet station.

He said it makes pictures from the height of 15, 50, 100 and 200 metres.

The minister said, as far as the U.S. is concerned, he hopes there will be a change of heart in Washington after the inauguration of President - elect Kennedy and that no further Soviet action will be necessary.

Stamp to honor Indian poetess

Special to The Daily News

OTTAWA — A Canadian postage stamp, issued last May 19 to commemorate the famous stand of Dollard Des Ormeaux and his companions at the Lang Sault, has been named "best of the year" by an outstanding British philatelic authority, it was revealed today by the Honourable William Hamilton, Postmaster General.

The blue and brown Des Ormeaux stamp, which pictures a profile of the gallant French leader against a background battel scene, won first place in the 1960 "Ten Best" list of the Stamp Collecor's Annual.

The award-winning stamps are chosen by L. E. Scott, a noted English philatelic writer.

The Dollard stamp was designed for the Canada Post Office by Philip Weise, a native of Quebec who now makes his home in Ottawa.

The Postmaster General pointed out that another stamp, marking he centennial of the birth of the Indian poetess, E. Pauline Johnson, would be issued early in 1961.

Parting patched up

The academy award-winning actor, announcing this Tuesday, said: "It was just a minor fracas. There was never any talk about divorce. We love each other and everything is fine again."

LONDON — Prime Minister Macmillan, in an interview in the London Daily Mail today, says Russia but not Communist China has abandoned the Marxist doctrine of the inevitability of war with the West. But that does not mean the basic Marxist aim of the world triumph of communism had changed, he says. Clearly the Russians hoped to achieve the same end by other means.
