Home of Mrs. McCaffery setting for Sisters' Day tea

The gracious and commodious home of Mrs. M. P. McCaffery on Fourth Avenue West was a profusion of beautiful spring-cut floral arrangements Wednesday afternoon when the Catholic Women's League staged its annual "Sisters' Day Tea".

Held each year to afford the Sisters of St. Joseph an opportunity to socially visit their many friends, members of the Annunciation Parish and parents of the Annunciation school children, the affair saw many guests received by CWL president, Mrs. G. P. Lyons and Sister Superior, Sister Beatrice.

Other Sisters of the Sisters of St. Joseph present to welcome and chat with the guests were Annunciation high school teacher, Sister Mary Sheila, Sister Mary Denis, teacher of Grades 9 and 10; Sister Ambrosia, Grade 7 teacher; Sister Rosella, Grade 1 teacher, Sister Maria, music teacher and Sister Mary Alacoque, resident Sister of St. Joseph's Academy.

Sister Beatrice who teaches Grade 8 is also Annunciation School principal.

Presiding at the pouring table, centred with a huge spring-cut bouquet, were Mrs. C. P. Balagno, Mrs. J. N. Forman, Mrs. J. L. Kelly, RN, and Mrs. Joseph Garon.

General conveners were Mrs. Louis Gastaldini and Mrs. William Bond, while directing the kitchen was Mrs. Howard Roos.

The Sisters of St. Joseph have been residents of Prince Rupert since 1917 as teachers.

"First Lady" draws crowds unmatched by royalty visits

OTTAWA (CP)—Mrs. John Fitzgerald Kennedy flew home to Washington yesterday from a capital she captured with charm.

In 41½ hours "Jackie" Kennedy captivated Ottawa officialdom, sent its social set into a new whirl and drew public crowds unmatched even in past visits by royalty.

Everyone who met or saw the president's wife praised her to the skies. Her wardrobe drew critical raves.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, welcoming President Kennedy to the House of Commons Wednesday, spoke of the capital's "special glow of warmth for Mrs. Kennedy."

And Jack Kingsbury, a 16-year-old messenger in the parliamentary gallery who watched the Kennedys arrive on Parliament Hill, could only come up with:

"Wow, is she nice!"

Mrs. Kennedy's schedule for the whirlwind visit—the Kennedys arrived late Tuesday afternoon—was a gruelling one, heavy with formality and tightly timed.

But she tackled it with the easy manner of a veteran.

At no point did she show signs of fatigue but on two occasions she begged off commitments because of weariness.

These were Tuesday night when she retired from a reception 30 minutes ahead of schedule and Wednesday afternoon when she asked that a hurriedly-arranged French - language television interview be cancelled.

At Governor-General Vanier's state dinner Tuesday night she practically stole the show in a sheath dress of white silk that set off her thick chestnut hair and coppery tan.

LEADING LADIES — Dressed in gowns for the occasion, Mme. Vanier, wife of Canada's governor-general, chats with Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy at the governor-general's reception in Ottawa Tuesday night. Mrs. Kennedy wore a heavy long white silk gown with a slim skirt and sleeveless belted overblouse. Neck and hem are embroidered with white beads and brilliants. Mme. Vanier was in midnight blue chiffon with silver accessories and a diamond necklace.

Port Edward PTA show huge financial success

The sum of $262.86 was realized from the Port Edward Parent-Teacher association "Talent Show" it was announced Wednesday night when the association held its regular meeting in the school gymnasium with President, Miss Joan Taselaar, presiding.

It was pointed out that the net profit brings the treasury to a total of $599.90.

It was decided that the Talent Show committee look into the feasibility of presenting the trophies to talent show winners at the next PTA meeting.

Receiving thanks from the PTA was the Japanese Women's club for a gift of a teapot and kettle.

A report on the Holiday Theatre productions, stated that two buses were chartered by the PTA for transporting Port Edward school children to the Prince Rupert High School, Tuesday.

Regarding the 9 p.m. curfew, Mrs. Leonard Loucks in charge, announced that the local detachment of the RCMP agreed to patrol the area at 9 p.m. but advised that it could not enforce the curfew, which was the responsibility of the parents.

The meeting agreed to provide funds for the pre-primary school graduation exercises and it was moved and passed that the children eligible for kindergarten next year be especially invited.

It was also decided to move the date of the regular June meeting up one week to June 14, as that is the date Mrs. Tashio Nishi's kindergarten class closes for the term.

The PTA decided to provide a coffee hour for parents of Grade 1 students after enrollment on September 5.

During the program period, a factual and informative film entitled "Workshop for Peace," was shown which portrayed the work of the United Nations, with a short commentary given by Dave Weins.

Miss Anne Neufeld's class won the attendance prize.

The serving of coffee and doughnuts concluded the session.
