Other Group entertains group of friends

A music, drama and recreation night was recently held by "The Other Group" in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral hall in the form of an entertainment evening for a small group of friends to conclude its first season of activities.

To begin the program the Group read a passage from 'The Importance of Being Ernest."

A series of individual performances included Angus McCracken, relating exploits of "Ole Svenson" accompanying himself on the guitar; T. A. Harris imparted the stirring tale of "Albert and The Lion," followed by the aria from "Gianni Schicci", sung by Mrs. H. G. Bird.

Weldon Epp then presented a piano recital and President William C. Hankinson gave a demonstration of direction and rendered a curtain filler recitation, "Little Batiste" before introducing the main performance of the night the one-act play "Ici on Parle Francais."

Refreshments and a discussion of performances followed to encourage "The Group" to venture further afield in the forthcoming year.

Tomorrow night, The Other Group will hold a business and reading meeting at the home of Mrs. Bird, to conclude the season's business and make plans for the next season.

Copper Lake Boys' Camp setting for new paintings

Well-known city artist Ruth Harvey will feature eight new works painted recently around Copper Lake in the "Picture Loan" being staged at 8 o'clock tonight in the Civic Centre lobby.

More than 50 exciting paintings will be on display for loan including new works by Cliff Robinson of Vancouver and Tim White of this city.

Mrs. Harvey's new paintings are set on the shores of Copper River, 25 miles west of Smithers, now popularly known as the Copper Lakes Resort Boys' Camp for boys between nine and 14 years of age.

Operating and strictly supervised by former city residents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gardiner, the Copper Lake Boys' Camp offers boys a wonderful vacation of swimming, boating, camping and riding with emphasis on nature study, gymnastics and woodcraft.

Fully licenced by Health and Welfare Department of B.C., the first camp is from July 1 to July 14 and continues through for two week periods until August 11.

For more information write Copper Lake Big Game and Boys' Camp, Smithers, B.C., for a brochure.
