THE BRITISH BUDGET

A British commentator on the budget suggested that it was designed to fill a three-fold purpose. The first purpose was to raise money for carrying on the war, the second to decrease consumption of goods that are scarce or likely to be scarce and lastly to encourage saving. What is plainly evident to every one is that the British people are being asked to pay more and more taxes in order to fight the battles of all the neutral nations. However, the neutrals are also being taxed heavily in order to defend their neutrality. Complaints do not help so the British are taking their share of the cost philosophically. It is part of the cost of winning the war.

BRITISH SILENCE

....Great Britain is officially almost silent in regard to her war activities except that now and then she announces the loss of a ship or the sinking or shooting down of enemy planes or the destruction or capture of enemy ships. She has discovered that it does not pay to gloat or to anticipate results. So far as military activities are concerned she might not be in the war for all the public can learn officialy of the army movements. However, the British Broadcasting Company is allowed to broadcast unofficial news coming from various European centres. Sometimes these reports are correct and sometimes not. If it is thought that making a correction would give away military secrets, the British officials keep silent.

TAXING LUXURIES

Beer and tobacco are receiving heavy penalties under the new British budget. Business and private individuals are being heavily mulcted by the addition of two cents to each letter unless addressed to members of the army or navy fighting overseas. Spirits also have to pay a big increased tax. Even matches do not go unscathed and telephone tolls have to pay.

TOO WARM FOR GAME

Hot Weather Slows Down Football Play in Yesterday's Game

The Beavers kept up their winning streak in the King Edward School Football League by trouncing the Maple Leafs six goals to two. The Beavers went ahead when Brocklesby was unlucky enough to turn the ball into his own goal. Bud Pierce added a second and McGreish a third. Then Bond turned the ball past Ormiston and scored against his own team. The Maple Leafs got another when Wilson converted a centre with a hard drive. But the Beavers went further ahead when McGreish got three more goals.

The game was not as good as usual, due perhaps to the heat. For the Maple Leafs Bartlett, Ness and Gomez were the pick, Bartlett being particularly good. The Beavers were a good team with Ormiston safe in goal and McGreish, Holkestad and Pierce dangerous forwards.

Teams:

Beavers—Ormiston; Bond, Husoy, Haugan; C. Pilfold, D. Murray, Menzies; Wesch, Bud Pierce, McGreish, Holkestad, Johansen.

Maple Leafs—Blake; Ness, Shepard; Rothwell, Bartlett, Brocklesby; Wilson, Gomez, Arntsen, Good, T. Pilfold.

The league standing was as follows:

Wanderers	8	5	2	18
Beavers	8	7	0	16
Maple Leafs	5	9	2	12

Col. H. O. Lawson of Ottawa, officer administering the Canadian Army Service Corps, and Lieut. Col. C. V. Bishop M.C., Victoria, officer commanding, Royal Canadian Artillery for British Columbia, arrived in the city on the Prince George this morning from the south for an official visit. They will return south on the same steamer tomorrow night.

SETTING OF MILL RATE

Most Of Taxation Goes For Money Debts With Schools Running

Sitting in his capacity as city council this morning, City Commissioner R. S. Gilchrist, gave further readings to the bylaw setting the city tax rate for the year at 47½ mills on one hundred per cent of taxable land and 35 per cent of taxable improvements. The rate is divided as follows: schools, 19 mills; money debts, 20 mills; general, 8.5 mills.

The taxable land this year is placed at $1,593,955 and improvements (thirty-five percent) at $1,135,585, making a total of $2,729,813 on which the sum of $129,666.12 is to be raised by taxation.

The net amount to be raised by taxation for schools is $51,866.45, for money debts $54,596.26 and for general expenditure, $23,203.41.

Total estimated general expenditure for the year is placed at $356,317.5.

French Pick Their Men For Dangerous Patrols Out of Maginot Line

WITH THE ALLIED FORCE IN FRANCE, April 24: (CP-Reuters)—The Corps Francs, detachments of the French army who undertake the most dangerous patrols and missions in front of the Maginot Line, are the epitome of much of the strange warfare of the past few months.

It is a bitter, merciless type of warfare that takes its slow toll of the men. It is waged in secret, in the dark, bringing adversaries to grips at close quarters, sometimes in hand-to-hand struggles.

The men are all volunteers drawn from the most varied walks of life—lawyers, doctors, accountants, merchants and peasants—whose reward is a couple of days extra leave and the chance of winning honors and quicker promotion if and when they go back to more normal duties.

They are the daredevils of the French army but they are carefully selected for courage. Youth and an adventurous spirit are not enough. The very young, soldiers, whatever their ardor, one of them said, "are disappointing as they cannot stand up to the strain and fatigue. The best age is around 26 when a man has acquired mature strength and stamina, poise and individual initiative."

Sometimes great distances have to be covered and often there are long, trying waits—three or four hours stretched out on the cold ground, motionless and expectant, with the risk of discovery always present. As the men steal into apparently deserted villages and houses death may well be lurking. Mines lay in wait for the unwary.

These are the men who go out three or four times weekly to obtain vital information about the enemy lines or to bring back prisoners.
