Say now, did you see that picture on the front page yesterday? Old sparkle eyes?..

Imagine that, 102 years old! That's my ambition. I'd like to live to be 102 years old ... and then be shot by a jealous husband.

Couple of racketeers in this town . . . pardon read that racqueteers, (makes a heck of a difference), who want me to tell some of you good people a couple of the facts.

First of all, there is a badminton club in this fair city. It doesn't come up for mention often. At least it doesn't come up for mention until it does something.

Steve King dropped into the Broadway last night while I was working my way through a turkey and told me the badminton club will hold a bird chasing competition this weekend.

They have an inter-city competition set for Saturday and Sunday at the Civic Centre with 20 entries from Kitimat competing in double, single and mixed play.

How do you like that guy? I asked him a month ago when he was going to let the rest of the world in on the fact that a badminton club existed and he never answered Came along real quick this week. Wonder why?

O.K. Steve, you've got it. Now how about chasing your publicity chief off his fat back and up here with some news once in a while?

The other racqueteers took me out to the disgraceful little-lot this city calls its tennis court.

Paging Harry Harrison!!!

Mr. Park Commission chairman, if those are the best playing areas we can provide for the tennis enthusiasts, how about putting a little loot into a new surface.

Blacktopping won't make the Tennis Court a credit to the city by any stretch of the imagination, but it would make the courts playable.

How about that Bruce Mitchell? The guy plays good enough basketball to rate a starting Rainmaker suit and he also hit that 2.17 per cent of honor students over at Prince Rupert High School. Congrats boy. And I really mean that. Nothing in my book rates higher than a guy that can go both ways. You son, have made it.

A subject dear to my heart will be seen on this page. The report from the Womens Curling Club that their 8th Annual Bonspiel gets underway March 25.

Those gals are on the ball. They hit this little old sweat box regularly with their curling results and we sure do appreciate the effort they make.

They had 36 rinks at last year's (what was that word again Ken Specht . . . oh yeah) extravaganza. (Shooo-ee) Hope they get the solid 50 that would, really make this one news_on_the entire western front.

Matter of fact, I'll bet they make 45 easily. And that Cathy Kerr will top them all.

Canadian Legion facilities in this town may have a reputation for getting people into rare shape, but their latest move isn't aimed that way.

They have a physical fitness campaign underway right across Canada. In the east they sponsor a lot of baseball, a lot of hockey, and a lot of bursaries for students.

Branch 27, here in Prince Rupert has embarked on "Operation Star Shooter." This is a physical fitness program for boys and girls from eight years old and upward.

Adapted from the RCAF 5X plan, booklets and physical fitness information is available free of charge by writing Star Shooter chairman, care of Canadian Legion Branch 27, Prince Rupert.

Joan, for your information, is a girl who said she never read the papers. Then she said she read them once in a while. Then I asked her how she kept up on current events. Then she said she read the front page. She teaches school at Roosevelt, Grade six.

She also comes from Burnaby and can't play Scrabble worth a darn. Ah well, everyone to their own game I always
