ARCHITECTS OF BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT

Importance of volunteers' work stressed at Queen Scouts' dinner

The voluntary task of working with Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs is one of the most important jobs today, R. A. Morley, treasurer of the Prince Rupert District Council of the Boy Scouts of Canada said Friday night.

Mr. Morley was speaking to the annual Queen Scouts' Dinner and Scouters Night held in the Canadian Legion auditorium with about 120 persons present.

He said that Scoutmasters, Cubmasters and leaders may be training one boy who will make a major contribution in the world of tomorrow.

"Scouting will rise and fall on the quality of its leaders", Mr. Morley said, adding that they were the architects of the Boy Scout movement.

AMPLE REWARD

He said that although Scouters spent a great deal of time and effort with their young charges they received "ample reward from within".

In bringing greetings from the City of Prince Rupert Mayor P. J. Lester praised the two Queen Scouts being honored, Larry Bowman, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bowman and Allan Ferguson, 14½, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Talbot, for their good work and accomplishments.

"The city needs people with tenacity to carry through with the job of becoming good citizens," the mayor told the boys. He urged them to carry on their good work in school, church and their daily life.

W. A. Gordon, president of the Kinsmen Club which is building a Scout camp at Emmerson Point on Digby Island thanked the Scouters for "training and leading our sons. The Kin project is an opportunity for us to show our appreciation."

R. L. Eby, chairman of the Kinsmen Scout camp project said the club was constructing three buildings 18 feet by 26 feet and another 18 feet by 40 feet at Emmerson Point.

FUN IN STORE

Assistant District Scout Commissioner W. A. Bisset outlined the work and fun in store for eight city Scouts at the Third Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree being held in July at Connaught Ranges, near Ottawa.

Those going on the trip are, Robert O. Green, Laurie Gordon, David Bell, Alfred Timms, Robert Long, Ronald Currie, Larry Gordon and Brian Eby.

Accompanying the boys will be Scoutmaster David Ridsdale and attending as adult helper will be Mrs. O. R. Green.

Assistant Commissioner Bissett introduced Queen Scouts Larry Bowman and Allan Ferguson and their parents and told Scouters wives that although their husbands spend a tremendous amount of time away from home working with Scouts and Cubs, they "aren't in the beer parlors."

SECRETLY PROUD

He said they were probably secretly proud of their husbands' good works, and, on behalf of the Scouters thanked the wives for the opportunity of spending 10 to 12 hours a week working to help boys.

M. E. Martin, past chairman of the District Scout Council praised the Scouts for their accomplishments, urged the Scouters to inform the public of the time and effort spent in helping boys in Scouting and Cubbing and paid tribute to former district commissioners the late Frank E. Anfield and E. A. Williamson.

A description of their trip to Victoria where they received their Queen Scout certificates from Lieut. Governor George R. Pearkes, VC, was given by the two Queen Scouts.

W. D. Stothert, president of the District Council thanked Arthur Beliveau, who organized the dinner and also The Daily News "for its marvellous job of supporting the Boy Scout movement."

Mr. Stothert said that the presence of so many at the banquet showed that there was a great deal of strength behind the Boy Scout movement. He also introduced the group committee chairmen, Scoutmasters, Cubmasters of the eight Prince Rupert troops and those from Miller Bay and Port Edward.

Staff farewell party honors social editor

An oil painting of a local scene by city artist Ruth Harvey was presented to Grace Brown, social editor of The Daily News Saturday night when the staff of the newspaper held a farewell party for her in the Canadian Legion Club 27 dining room and lounge.

Mrs. Brown, an employee of The Daily News since November, 1954, is leaving early in August with her husband George and two children, Marlyn 15, and Murray 12, to take up residence in California.

Before making the presentation, J. R. Ayres, editor and general manager said that Mrs. Brown had done a remarkable job in the past 6½ years in transforming herself from an ordinary housewife to a trained newspaperwoman.

As the third social editor The Daily News has ever had, she had made her women's page one of the best-read pages in the paper.

He said that she had gained the confidence of a tremendous number of city organizations and associations, helped publicity chairmen of city groups and won a lot of friends for The Daily News.

As a newspaperwomen she has covered a large variety of events and interviewed, photographed a number of noted personalities including Prime Minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker, Bing Crosby, Phil Harris, former Lieut.-Governor Frank M. Ross and Mrs. Ross, Dick Rowell and June Allyson.

She helped cover the visit of Queen Elizabeth to Terrace and flew to Montreal to report the Canadian Pacific Airlines jet-prop inaugural flight. In addition as fashion editor she has written commentaries, commented at and helped stage many of the city's fashion shows.

In a brief acceptance speech, Mrs. Brown said she had enjoyed working with "the closely-knit Daily News family" and said she would miss all of the staff members.

After dinner the guest of honor and the rest of the newspaper staff danced to the music of the new three-piece orchestra featured by the Club 27.

Marie Young feted at shower

A shower party honored bride-elect Miss Marie Young Thursday night when more than 15 friends gathered at the home of hostess Miss Maxine Kimura to honor the marriage of Miss Young to Gordon Smith on June 24.

The marriage will be a double wedding ceremony event with the guest-of-honor's sister, Miss Peggy Young and Eugene Bilawchuk in the Church of the Annunciation.

Miss Dolyn McMeekin was co-hostess and the bride-elect's sister, Miss Patricia Young, who will attend as bridesmaid took pictures of the miscellaneous party. Gifts were arranged in a decorated umbrella with the shower chair decorated in matching pink, blue and white streamers, balloons and flowers.

The elaborate shower cake, topped with a miniature bride, made by Mrs. T. A. McMeekin, highlighted the refreshment table.

WINNIPEG (CP) — A reading club started in 1910 by six young brides is still meeting regularly here. The Searchlight Reading Club, in its 51st year, has about 20 members.

Three top events highlight Port Edward PTA meet

The pre-primary graduation ceremony and presentation of trophies preceded a well-attended meeting of the Port Edward Parent-Teacher association Wednesday night in the school auditorium, when Mrs. John Brillon was elected as president for the forthcoming year.

Twenty excited youngsters, seated on the stage were welcomed by Miss Joan Taselaar, PTA president, and presented with diplomas while Mrs. Arthur Leeson passed out gifts of banks and handkerchiefs for the young girls and helicopters for the boys.

HAPPY YEAR

Prospective pre-primary children in attendance were given balloons and the graduates were treated to milk and cookies in the staff room to conclude a "happy year" for the kindergarten class.

W. D. Epp, adjudicator for the PTA Talent Show held recently, presented trophies to winners: Kathy Jackson in the children's vocal section; Peter Konig, children's poetry; Oliver McNeil, children's instrumental; Reginald Mason, grand trophy winner in the adult's instrumental; Susan, Fay, Leona Tanaka, Deanna Tasaka and Barbara Fujimoto, a group of young Japanese dancers and Henry Kelly, who won the trophy for adults' vocal.

SURE WAY TO IMPROVE

In his remarks, Mr. Epp advised that when practising, one should carefully listen to oneself in an effort to do better next time. "This is a sure way to improve," Mr. Epp said.

At an emergency business meeting, it was decided to donate $50 to the PT Council Bursary Fund.

The poster prize of $2 was presented to Barbara Fujimoto and Mrs. T. Nishi's pre-primary class won the attendance pennant.

Annual reports indicated that the Port Edward association has again been active in a variety of fields.

In her address, the retiring president, Miss Taselaar thanked the executive and other members for their support. She pointed out that some members had carried a heavy load and hoped that in the future more members would be willing to take on some responsibility, to make for a more even distribution of the work load.

SLATE OF OFFICERS

Others elected on the executive for 1961-62 were: Mrs. E. R. McKeown, vice-president; Mrs. Jake Nelson, treasurer; Mrs. Allan Sheppard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Marguerite Stanton, recording secretary; Miss Anne Neufeld, program chairman; Mrs. T. Nishi, parent-education chairman; Mrs. Dave Wiens, publicity; Mrs. H. Fujimoto, social and hospitality; Mrs. Dave Nelson, membership; Mrs. A. Holt, ways and means; Miss Taselarr, pre-primary; John Goertz, PT council representative.

A social hour, at which home-made refreshments were served concluded the successful evening.

Norwegians fete crew of freighter

Mr. and Mrs. John Pedersen, well-known Norwegian city couple were hosts at a special party held in the Sons of Norway hall Friday night when they entertained th Captain of the Norwegian freighter MV Hermion, Capt. Torlois Torgersen and some 35 members of the crew.

The gay affair included the serving of Norwegian foods and dancing.

In his thanks, Captain Torgersen paid tribute to the outstanding hospitality shown to himself and his crew members during the ship's stay in the city. "Prince Rupert people are just wonderful," he said.

OUTING ENHANCED BY WEATHER

Sonja Ladies hold meet at home in Dodge Cove

A lovely evening enhanced the Sonja Ladies' last meeting of the season Friday night held in the form of an outing at the home of Mrs. Olaf Skog at Dodge Cove.

Twelve members, headed by President, Mrs. Anton Strand and three guests, Mrs. Ivar Wahl, Mrs. Raymond Sim and Mrs. Petra Ivarson attended the enjoyable affair.

During the short business session it was decided to donate $100 to the Normana Rest Home in New Westminster. Tentative plans were made for a picnic in July.

The chair prize was won by Mrs. A. W. Simonson and Mrs. Harold Grindstrand won the raffle.

Refreshments served by the hostess concluded the meeting. Next gathering will be on September 13 at the home of Mrs. Carl Strand.

B.C. Rebekah head to visit here June 28

The president of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia, Mrs. V. Shaw, will make her official visit to the Centennial Rebekah Lodge No. 40 on June 28, the city group was told at its Wednesday night meeting.

Held in the Valhalla hall, Noble Grand, Mrs. William McDale welcomed Mrs. Frank Grover who was admitted to membership in the lodge by transfer from Ruby Rebekah Lodge No. 270 of Schreiber, Ontario.

During the short business meeting it was decided to decorate a car for the Elks July 1 Flag Day parade in conjunction with the Oddfellows.

Following the session a joint Memorial Service with the Oddfellows was conducted.

Under the guidance of the Degree Captain, Mrs. Vernon Hall, the Rebekah members performed a very impressive ceremony.

Luncheon was served by hostesses Miss Alice Paulson, Mrs. James Taylor and Mrs. Charles Wilkinson.
