ALL-STARS NICK BROWNS

Three to One Score in Dominion Day Baseball Game

Gyro All-Stars took a 3 to 1 win over the Acropolis Hill Browns in a Dominion Day baseball tussle that was baseball from start to finish and worth any fan's money. The game, played on the Acropolis field, was sponsored by the Prince Rupert Gyro Club to raise funds to maintain the Gyro playgrounds.

Plagued by pitcher trouble for the greater part of the season, the town boys seem to have hit the jack-pot at last in Jerry Whitney, a Canadian Army twirler with plenty of swooth. He it was who fanned out fourteen Browns in nine innings on the mound and walked only one. He it was who allowed the Browns only seven hits, only one of which made the circuit.

Outstanding field play of the day was by Benny Windle, of the Stars, who sprawled his length on the ground to snatch a choppy infield fly.

The first inning was as concise as the game can produce, with Whitney scoring three shut-outs on Kearney, Lancaster and Ofsonka, and the Brown's moundsman, Olsen, pinching off Simundson, Lambie and Lewis before they reached first.

The score board remained static until the fourth stanza when All-Star's Harley Lewis made a landfall from a three-bagger, and Windle followed him in from a one-bagger.

Canadian Army man Harry Cousins scored from a single in the sixth.

Waltzing to second on a hit in the seventh, Merv Willoughby of the Browns came home on a hit by Garlinghouse. This was the Brown's only tally.

Red Gilbert of the Browns took over the mound in the seventh, allowing only one hit, and shutting out five batters.

LIVELY RING CARD COMING

Boxing Fans Have Action In Store This Tuesday Night

The Boilermakers' boxing show this Thursday brings together in the main event two boys—Tommy Burns and Ray Smith—who, judging from past performances, should keep the fans on their feet.

Young Tommy Burns, who in his last fight on Acropolis Hill, fought to a drew in a hard and fast fight with Urban Hernandez, lost to Phil Palmer to a draw in the Boilermakers' last show. Burns fought Phil Palmer to a draw in his fight with him last summer in a show staged by the R.C.A.F. in Vancouver. Burns has held the inter-service championship for the past two years. Burns' opponent will be Ray Smith of San Francisco and the United States Army. Smith, who fought 76 bouts as an amateur, losing three, turned professional in 1940. He took part in 34 fights losing two. Just prior to his joining the Army, he fought a ten-round draw with Vic Grupico who recently lost a close decision to Willie Joyce. Only two weeks ago, Joyce stopped Henry Armstrong's successful some-back, giving him one of the worst beatings he has ever received during his entire ring career.

This show promises to be one of the best that has ever been presented to the local fans. A strong supporting card is offered with the local favorite, Benny Windle, returning to the ring wars. Everyone who has seen Benny in action in the past know that a first class bout is in store for them.

Art Lamoureoux, the fighting sailor, takes on another opponent in Wallace of the U.S. Army who in his last fight won by a technical knockout over Claude Abbott. Young Bill Porayko, the Boilermakers' Star, who also won by a technical knockout, meets a worthy foe in Les Geving who drew with Lamoureoux in his last bout.

Gerry Pittao of Saulte St. Marie meets up with Manuel Sanchez of the U.S. Army.

Some new faces on the card include Barney Des Lauriers, brother of Young Tommy Burns, also Ralph Sullivan of the R.C.A., Mason of the U.S. Army and Clarke, R.C.N.

FINANCING PIONEERS' HOME

Editor, Daily News:

It is really a pity to see that the question of a home for old men has taken a bitter turn. After all this is simply a matter of arithmetic to find out the most economical solution of the problem of giving the aged a decent home.

The provincial government has such a home in Kamloops and, from all reports from people who have lived in that city, it is a fine home and the aged men are well cared for.

The government charges $39 per month per person, $30 of which would be covered by the pension received by the guest. This would leave $9 to be paid by the municipality. To that I would add—say—$5.00 or $10.00 per month per pensioner to let him enjoy life in securing tobacco, see the movies once in a while and even get a glass of beer if he likes it.

It is not the initial cost of the building which we have to consider but the expense of running it. Apparently the present building costs the city $90 per month for electricity alone and most of the other tenants are not paying rent!

If we build an old men's home here the city will have to provide the regular expenses of fuel, electricity, etc., besides a staff that will have a tendency to increase as time goes on but will be no less than a manager, and a cook as a minimum, besides the cost of clothing and feeding the pensioners and the upkeep of the building etc. I dare say the $600 per month will not cover it.

This matter should be gone into a little bit more and the ones most interested are the taxpayers who will have to foot the bill. They should be consulted before anything is done.

Thanking you for the use of your paper,

TH. COLLART.

ENDORSES PIONEERS' HOME

Editor, Daily News:

Believing I can qualify as an old timer or pioneer of this community, I would like to give my public endorsation to the Pioneers' Home project now under consideration by the city council and community at large. It is a matter I have had in mind for several years.

Having associated in my time with many who have had to accept the care and protection of such an institution, I realize how short the home at Kamloops comes of fulfilling the provincial requirements insofar as the northern part of the province is concerned.

Many of our old friends resent being removed from friends and acquaintances and the portion of the province they inhabited for so many years, to be deported to Kamloops.

I would like to see the provincial government co-operate in a joint undertaking with the city to make the local institution available to all our old friends from the northern part of the province. It would certainly make them feel better to be within reach of friends and comrades with whom they have been in association for years. At the same time the city and province would be fulfilling an obligation to those whose labors have been embodied through their labor in our development both in city and district at large.
