The Bus Is Late Again!

It's raining—you're cold—and wet—and you've been waiting five—ten—fifteen minutes. You're appointment won't be kept on time—all because the bus is late again!

And then it did come along. And it was crowded—jammed. You pushed your way on board—stepped on people's toes—they stepped on yours. Somebody pushed an elbow in your ribs—an umbrella prodded the small of your back—a man's hat, sodden with rain water, dripped down your neck!

You're not a little peeved!

You say to yourself--and perhaps those around you—"Why can't we get better service? Perhaps it would be better if someone else ran the buses in this city?"

Perhaps it would be. We don't know! But we do know that the problem of being late and the inconvenience of overloading are beyond control.

New buses are difficult to obtain. Road conditions have wrecked all equipment we have. There is one—sometimes two—not infrequently, all three buses in the garage for repairs.

Often we are behind schedule because patrons didn't have their fare ready. Sometimes the passenger who gets off at the first stop will sit at the rear of the crowded bus. Shoppers with parcels riding at times of peak loads delay us. Others ride the bus at busy times when they do not have to do so. Too many stops will set the driver behind.

All our drivers, too, are working under a nervous and physical strain. Trip after trip, day after day, they must stand the pounding of the bus rolling over the roads of Prince Rupert. Sometimes, too, impatient patrons blame the driver for something that is beyond his control.

The driver's life is not always pleasant. But he is sticking to his job, doing his best.

Would you under these conditions?

Help us give better service. Observe these simple rules. Cut them out and hang them where you can read them every day.

1. Don't ride the bus unless necessary.
2. Shoppers will find the 9:30 morning trip the least crowded and the stores not so crowded. Do your shopping then.
3. If you get off at the first stop sit handy to the door.
4. Have your fare ready. Keep a dime in your pocket always handy.
5. Don't take bulky parcels on the bus.
6. Don't try to crowd into the bus ahead of the next person. Keep in line—and take your turn.

When the bus is late or crowded don't blame the driver. He's doing his best.

Martin Stewart, local manager of Swift Canadian Company, left this afternoon on a trip to Vancouver.

R. G. Champion left this afternoon on a trip to Vancouver.

T. W. Falconer left this afternoon on a trip to Vancouver.

The death occurred in the Prince Rupert General Hospital this morning of Mah Wing, a Chinese, after an illness in hospital of more than a week. He was 62 years of age and came from Calgary last year.

The initial meeting of representatives of organizations and persons interested individually in the undertaking of a community survey will be held on Thursday evening of this week in the city council chamber.

The ommission of a word from the letter of E. John Wilson in regard to the civic centre project which was published yesterday somewhat spoiled the sense of the letter. The word was "arena" which was left out of the last sentence reading "We should, however, have assurance that the construction of a civic centre arena would be the next immediate objective."

Constable J. A. Knox, of the British Columbia police at Stewart, arrived in the city this morning and is expected to remain for the next few days before proceeding to Vancouver on prisoner escort duty.

Tonight's train, due from the east at 10:45, was reported this afternoon to be thirty minutes late and will arrive at 11:15.
