The Women of the Moose, Chapter No. 211, held their monthly executive meeting at the home of the Senior Regent, Mrs. Margaret Tolin, on Friday. This was followed by a meeting of the committee chairmen to discuss the bazaar to be held in the early spring. The publicity committee also held its regular monthly meeting on the same evening at the home of Mrs. Richard Giske on Sixth Avenue East. Business was of a routine nature.

The Junior Section of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce has delegated T. Norton Youngs, who brought the matter up at the last meeting, to go into the possibilities of a contributory hospital insurance plan such as has been inaugurated in the southern part of the province.

At last week's luncheon of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club, when Mrs. Dorothy Garbutt was the speaker on the subject of "Prince Rupert and the Y," a one-minute silence was observed in tribute to the memory of one of the popular members, the late Thomas Trotier, who died recently in Quebec. S. C. Thomson read a letter from Lieut. T. N. LePage, formerly of this city, who at the time of writing was in Naples. R. C. St. Clair was in the chair in the absence of President A. S. Nickerson. Guests were Col. G. O. Fallis and N. M. MacLean of Vancouver, and Major Morrant of Prince Rupert. Winner of the luncheon raffle of a war savings certificate for the Queen's Fund was Peter Lakie.

J. E. Ornheim returned to the city Saturday from a brief fur buying trip to Massett, Queen Charlotte Islands.

▲Due to a shipment of caps being delayed, we will be using raw milk caps, instead of pasteurized milk caps.—Valentin Dairy. (39)

The Junior Section of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce is considering the possibility of getting out some sort of publication, one of the objects of which would be to convey news of Junior Chamber activities to members away on military service. George Dybhavn has been delegated to look into the possibilities.

RESERVE ARMY—

Decrease Training Intensity

Role for Coming Year is Enunciated—More Local Responsibility.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—In a statement of policy for the Reserve Army in Canada for 1944, issued at National Defence Headquarters, it is announced that, "while the necessity for the Reserve Army remains unchanged, it is possible, in view of the improvement in the military situation and the increased efficiency that has been achieved, to decrease the intnesity of its training during the coming year."

It is therefore proposed, the statement says:

(a) To reduce the period of training from 40 days to 30 days as it was prior to the outbreak of war. This will permit a 15-day summer camp and 15 days training at local headquarters;

(b) To continue to make provision for the further training of officers, non-commissioned officers and specialists;

(c) Since the Reserve Army has been operating with a liberal scale of full-time arministrative and training staffs for some 18 months, and it is considered that units have now progressed to a stage where their officers and non-commissioned officers are sufficiently qualified to carry out their training without the same degree of assistance, there will therefore be some reduction in the numbers employed on full-time training duty;

(d) While no general change in the structure of the Reserve Army is contemplated, it is proposed that some measure of "streamlining" will take place to ensure that all units maintain a satisfactory standard of efficiency. Units unable to maintain a satisfactory strength and efficiency will become dormant for the duration of the war.

It is not known at present what reductions will be made in the numbers of administrative and training staffs, nor what units will be subject to "streamlining" developments or become dormant. This will be decided only after the situation in each district has been assessed by the District Officer Commanding and his recommendations in this regard submitted to National Defence Headquarters.

ROLE FOR COMING YEAR DEFINED

The Reserve Army's role during the coming year is summarized in the statement as follows:

"(a) To maintain throughout the country continued interest in the Canadian Army and its activities and to set an example to all citizens of preparedness at all times.

(b) To provide a continuing flow of reinforcements for the forces overseas by training young men of pre-enlistment age.

(c) To back up the civil authority responsible for the enforcement of law and order if required.

(d) As a trained reserve to support the Active forces available for the defence of Canada if the military situation should deteriorate.

(e) As a basis for expansion of the Active Army should the necessity arise."

Silverleaf Lard

Now in good supply and very reasonably priced, this fine cooking fat should be on every housewife's shelf

There was a time not so very long ago, when there seemed to be a real risk that we in Canada might find ourselves short of cooking fats. Fortunately, the efforts of Canadian farmers have averted that danger and now there is no reason why every kitchen in Canada should not be supplied with a pound or two of that wonderful standby, Silverleaf Lard.

Not only is lard a very valuable source of energy but it also contains other vital elements absolutely essential to health. Use lard in delicious deep-frys, for pan-frying and of course in baked goods. It is good—good for you—and we now have enough.

Martha Logan

DEEP APPLE PIE

1½ cups sifted pastry flour
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. baking powder
7 tbsps. chilled Silverleaf Lard
Ice cold water

Mix and sift into a bowl the flour, salt and baking powder. Cut half of lard into these dry ingredients, to the size of wheat grains—then cut in remainder of lard, to the size of small peas. Sprinkle with cold water, and mix with a fork, adding enough water to make a dough which will just form a mass that cleans easily from the bowl. Chill.

FOR THE FILLING:

Tart apples
Sugar, white or brown
1 teaspoon grated Orange rind
½ teaspoon grated nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter, if available

Peel, core and slice apples. Mix sugar (amount depending upon tartness of apples), orange rind and nutmeg. Arrange apples and sugar mixture in alternate layers in a deep pie dish, dotting with butter. Moisten edges of dish. Roll out paste, slash and place over apples. Trim and crimp edges. Bake in a hot oven, 450° F., for 12 minutes, then reduce heat to 375° F., and bake until crust nicely browned, about 30 minutes.

PACIFIC GOES WHERE NEEDED

While no one likes regulations and restrictions, in the case of Pacific Milk, the new Government control is working well, indeed.
In the Upper Country and Interior almost normal supplies are reaching them, for they have no other milk supply in those places.
