Servian Women.

There is no country in the world where women occupy a more dignified or honored position in the home than Servia. The Servian idea is quite different from that of the Turk, who keeps his women behind shut doors, or the German, whose ideal woman is a good "hausfrau." In Servia the woman is the companion of the man. A man is responsible for his unmarried sisters, and throughout the Balkan states it is considered rather a breach of etiquette for him to marry before his older sister. No Servian girl would feel she could hold up her head in society unless she could speak four languages. There is hardly a Servian woman who cannot play some musical instrument. Embroidery, painting, drawing and sculpture are all well studied. Politics are a popular feature among women. Servian women are very domesticated, and the highest ladies pay personal attention to trivial matters of housekeeping. There are two women doctors practicing in Belgrade, and women teachers galore. But public opinion, on the whole, is rather against women entering the labor arena.

Zeke Knew Zeke. Rufe was telling Zeke about a terrible scrape he'd had the night before, after he has crossed the dam at the river and was making for his cabin about a half mile through the dark woods.

"An' jest as I stepped inter de brush I hears a funny noise like a shoat snortin'. I looks up an' a blue light jumps outer de groun' and shapes itself into a ghost about six foot tall. Red fire was a-dickerin' out er its nose. It stood still kinder, then lifted a long, boney finger and says: 'I want you, Rufe Jackson.'"

"I walks up to it an' shakes my own finger right in its face. 'You mind yere business an' I'll mind mine,' I says, an' turns on my heel an' goes right on. Now, what'd you er done, Zeke, in a case like that?"

"I'd er done jest what you done, you durned lyin' nigger."

A Good Time to Do It. "Is your daughter going to practice on the piano this afternoon?" "Yes, I think so."

PRESIDENT MURPHY EXPOSED BY CHICAGO SPORT WRITERS

Charles Wadclutcher Murphy was handed a nice juicy lemon by the Chicago scribes when he tried to put over an Andrew Carnegie the other day. Murphy wouldn't pay a nickel a foot for a corner lot in Paradise. He's so close with the coin that when he gets a silver dollar in his mitt he starts the Goddess of Liberty dancing the Salome. If Christopher Columbus came back to pitch the opening game of the world's series Murphy wouldn't pay a two dollar bill to throw out the first ball.

Anyway, the story about Murphy that the scribes pulled off is a peacherette. Murphy came out with a neat typewritten missive which he dealt to the members of the press, stating that he had made Heinie Zimmerman a present of nineteen stone stickpin, the pick weighing a couple of karats. Also in the letter was the information that C. Webb had Johnhanked a neat little check for 500 beans, which he gave as a donation to the Bronx battering ram.

It seems Heinie was cultivating an alcoholic acquaintance with milkmen, and was turning into the feathers when the cock was having its matutinal symphony well under way. This 500

WRESTLING REFEREE GETS EVEN IN A UNIQUE MANNER

During the barnstorming days of Martin ("Farmer") Burns, the famous wrestler, when he was wont to stroll into a town with his little grip, and meet all comers, he bumped into all sorts of queer sprigs.

There was the case of the Mysterious Hercules, out in Nebraska. Hercules was a huge fellow, and they were all ready to travel the route backing him. The trouble was in finding a referee.

Finally an Irishman, named Barney O'Toole, was located, and Barney asserted that he could referee anything from a barn dance to a pink tea. He was sure of it, and the "Farmer" was obliged to take him at his word.

"Hercules had stayed long enough he clamped on a croch and Nelson and rolled him over." Then Barney O'Toole bent over them, raised one finger and started to count: "Tin, twenty, thirty, forty—forty-five, fifty, fifty-one, fifty-two!"

"What in blazes are you doing?" Burns asked hotly. "Countin' the bloomin' fakir out," the referee explained. "But you don't count out in this game. You slap me on the back."

"Go on, me b'y. If there's any slappin' on the back, it'll be me own friend I'll encourage." "But, he's nailed tighter than a shingle," Burns complained. "O'll toll the knell after me own fashion, Mister Burns. I give ye a handicap a'ready by jumpin' beehoon tens up to fifty—and you're delayin' the game."
