Greenville Invasion of Kitkatla Strategic Failure in Senior Group

Tribal War Chants Reveal Sour Notes As Kitkatla Takes Two Senior Games —However, Junior Invaders Prosper

Greenville basketball stalwarts who entered their war canoes early this month to raid the peaceful Porcher Island village of Kitkatla got their feathered head dresses pinned back decisively by the defending seniors. However, in the intermediate section they managed to salvage a portion of the tribal honor and in the single junior encounter, the frame of Nishga arms was somewhat vindicated.

The Greenville seniors bore down on the Kitkatla tribesmen with the proud fury of invaders, only to have their pride turn to bitterness in two encounters which saw the Porcher Islanders claim what in the old days would have been their scalps. The first game was a 75-50 victory for Kitkatla and the second game a 73-32 triumph for the same group.

The Greenville Intermediates routed the defending Kitkatlans 51-42 in the first game, but the following night the Islanders rose from their humiliation to retaliate with a 37-32 defeat on the visitors.

Only in the junior section did Greenville emerge without blemish. The junior encounter was the lead-off game of the first evening's play, and resulted in a 25-18 victory for Greenville.

Full honors were accorded the arrival of the Greenville teams, whose devotion to protocol prompted them to bring in their company, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Russ. Mr. Russ is chief councillor of Greenville as well as First Vice-President of the Native Brotherhood of B.C. He was backed by the full executive of the Greenville Athletic Club.

Setting foot on the shore of Porcher Island, the visitors were taken to the home of Chief Councillor Matthew Hill of Kitkatla where a reception, sponsored by the Kitkatla Excelsior Club, was held in their honor.

Hostilities were formally joined in the evening.

In the junior game, Adolphus McNeil played the stellar role for Greenville, mopping up 19 points, while Victor Robinson of Kitkatla netted 9 for the home team.

The intermediate contest found Greenville off to a head start in the first minutes of the initial quarter, a lead that they maintained through the game. Referees Simon Lewis and William Sevens managed to put the finger on 32 fouls, for which fitting penalties were awarded. High scorer for Greenville was T. Robinson with 12 points, while R. Watts led the Kitkatla scoring with 18 points.

KITKATLA SENIORS WIN THEIR GAME

Kitkatla permitted no tampering with their honor in the senior game. They grabbed the lead early, spearheaded by J. Spencer and W. Innes, who netted 31 and 25 points respectively. Albert Robinson led Greenville's dying cause by garnering an individual 34 points but lacked support.

The folloing night, Kitkatla Intermediates turned the tables on the Naas tribesmen by delivering a 37-32 counter-attack, which was followed by the Greenville senior's second defeat. Kitkatla repeated their previous night's performance by grabbing the lead at the start and holding until the final whistle.

The scoring:

NATIVE HOOP TOURNAMENT

Kaien Island, long the dwelling place of peace and contentment, will be turned into a battleground tonight when six native hoop teams clash in Roosevelt Park gymnasium in what is probably the first tournament of its kind since axes and fish spears were converted to purely utilitarian purposes.

Tribesmen and their supporters, numbering about 400, have answered the smoke signals and have congregated here from such distant points as Kitimaat, Kincolith, Aiyansh, Kitkatla, Port Simpson and Metlakatla to decide the north coast native championship.

Basketball has long been a serious sporting endeavor in the coastal villages but, in recent years, no formal attempt has been made to decide which contains the most formidable array of talent despite the fact that there have been innumerable local jousts.

According to local basketball association president Art Murray, kindly godfather of visiting native aggregations, three games will be played tonight and the finals tomorrow night. The six task forces clashing tonight in the preliminaries are:

Port Simpson Athletics versus Port Simpson Y.P.A.

Kincolith versus Metlakatla.

Kitimaat versus Kitkatla.

Aiyansh, which drew a "bye" in the game drawings Tuesday, will meet the winner of the Kitimaat-Kitkatla game Thursday night.

Fred Calderone of the local league is referee in charge and will supervise the games. This afternoon, Mr. Calderone met the players and gave them instructions in the latest rules, including what the referee will stand for and what he won't.

Indian Agent F. E. Anfield also briefed the boys on sportsmanship and congratulated them on their love for the game which resulted in so well-attended a tournament.
