Meetings were devoted in turn to edification, work, education and social activities. The youngest mid-week group in the congregation was the kindergarten under the trained leadership of Mrs. Olson. This group of four and five-year olds proved so popular that, in order to accommodate them, the number had to be limited to 25.

Election Of Church Board

The election of board members brought the business of the evening to a conclusion. Elected to the session or board of elders were Andrew Thompson, Staff Sergeant G. A. Johnson, E. D. Forward, William Dunn, and Harry Seaman. J. A. Unwin was returned for a four-year term. The foregoing, with K. F. Harding and William Holt make up the personnel of the session.

The committee of stewards was brought up to full strength by adding the following to the 1946 members: Harry Shearsown, T. A. McKeown, Robert Manson, E. D. Forward and Capt. George Williamson. Other members of this board are J. Krikevsky, M. Krueger, George L. Rorie and J. D. Galbraith.

A hot dinner served by the Women's Associations of First United Church prepared the way for the business session.

After the dinner an interlude of music was provided by organist Rose Marie Hartwig. Her selection for a piano solo was "Carnations" by F. G. Albers.

The meeting adjourned with the singing of a hymn and the benediction.

FUTURE TECHNICIANS FOR U.S.S.R.—A view of one of the trade school classrooms where Russian youngsters are being trained at an early age as technicians. This class is learning the technique of toolmaking. Apparently lessons are given in the form of drills, for each youngster is holding his tool in exactly the same position, as if all the students were being operated by a single spring.
