Babe Ruth took a $15,000 cut in salary and signed for $35,000 to play another season with New York Yankees 25 years ago today. His first major league contract with Boston Red Sox in 1914 had been for $1,300, and his top annual salary with the Yankees was $80,000 in both 1930 and 1931. His last signing, with Brooklyn in 1938, was for $15,000. Altogether his seasonal contracts reached $925,000, plus perhaps $500,000 from World Series games and other sources.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McRae, 611 Fourth Avenue East, leave Monday by Canadian Pacific Airlines plane for a vacation in Sun Valley, Idaho and Vancouver.

Moore challenges heavies

NEW YORK (AP)—Archie Moore, as adept at publicity as keeping his world light-heavyweight boxing title, challenged England's two top heavyweights today.

To back it up he offered $150,000 to Henry Cooper, who last Monday outpointed Brian London for the British heavyweight championship.

"I see where Cooper wants $140,000 to fight Floyd Patterson for the world title," Archie said at the annual dinner of the Boxing Writers' Association.

I'll do better for him. I'll give him $150,000 to might me.

"What's more I'm willing to fight not only Cooper, but London a week apart to establish myself as the rightful contender for the heavyweight title."

Moore received the Edward J. Neil Ward as the fighter of the year for 1958 at the dinner.

Moore had a crack at the heavyweight crown in 1956 but was knocked out by Patterson in five rounds.
