Former city meat packer dies in south

Joseph Naylor, a former city meat packer, who came "overland" with a herd of cattle to Hazelton from Spokane, Washington in 1907 died recently in Vancouver at the age of 77, it was learned here today.

Funeral services were held September 3 in Nunn and Thomson Chapel, with Rev. Angus Jack officiating. Interment followed at Masonic Cemetery, Burnaby.

From Hazelton, Mr. Naylor moved to Prince Rupert in 1912 and was a butcher for Burns and Company Limited, located on Third Avenue until he became foreman of the Burns Company abatoir at Cow Bay until his retirement in 1948.

With his wife Mary he moved to take up residence in Vancouver.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Naylor Jr. and grandson Bobby, of Vancouver; a brother Ernest Naylor, Portland, Oregon and sisters in England.

Wembley, England (AP) — John Cowboy McCormack, Glasgow, won British middleweight title on foul by defending champion Terry Downs, London, (8); Freddie Gilroy, 120, Ireland, outpointed Mario d'Agata, 119¼, Italy, (10.)

Francois Lake News

By AGNES H. NEAVE

Jack O'Meara is now driving the Burns Lake-Francois Lake school bus and as Hugh is driving his taxi taking children to and from our school from the east end. Driving school children seems to be in the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Galfry Gatacre left on Saturday for England. They expect to be away for six months.

We had 12 staying in the Coffee Shop Residence and two little dogs which I think is our record. In one week we had 52 persons coming or going or staying in our cottages so we were surely busy with ponies and boats. With Dadye and Michael Schwab of Prince Rupert were their Billie, Roddie, Martie and little Dadye, their cousin Randy Younghusband, also Maggie Leighton and Sandy Langthorne.

During the week Dadye's mother Mrs. Emil Peterson arrived by car with her daughter Mrs. Mollie Dallyn, her two children Kenny and Marlene, and Mr. Mike Kurlock. They had left Prince Rupert on July 10 and have been travelling in Washington, Manitoba and southern B.C. Mrs. Peterson stayed with the Schwab family until they returned to Prince Rupert on Monday morning. Mike was out several times for a moose, and although he glimpsed one and saw lots of tracks did not get one. We expect that he will be back later on.

MOTOR MAIDS

Safety Leaders Take a Bow

By Martha Johnson
Dodge Safety Consultant

A tip of our new Fall bonnet to people throughout the country who are doing so much to help make our streets and highways safe:

• To the Florida Highway Patrol which has organized and trained an auxiliary composed entirely of more than 1,300 American legionnaires.

The auxiliary, which has official legislative status, is made up of men who work at all types of jobs during the day and lay aside their civilian status to ride with state troopers at night and on holidays. These men do more than traffic work—they are trained to work police radio, do first aid, help out in plane crashes, hurricanes, tornadoes and top sports events.

• To the South Carolina Highway Patrol for stopping more than 160,000 drivers during the years to chat with them about "technical violations" of the state's safety laws.

Motorists are given a blue ticket, a warning and a lecture. In addition to pointing out what might have happened as a result of their borderline infringement, the patrol feels this is an effective method of establishing an important contact with the motorists.

• To Oklahoma Highway Patrol members who also are handing out a new type of courtesy warning ticket.

The tickets, which require the violator's signature, are used for all moving violations which do not warrant an arrest.

They are made out in duplicate—one copy goes to the violator and the other to the driver's file at the Department of Public Safety to become a permanent part of his record.

• To Clement A. Riley, Massachusetts motor vehicles registrar, for cracking down on "road hog slow poke" drivers.

Mr. Riley ranks the driver poking along at low speed, mostly in the middle or left lane and never keeping to the right, almost as much a menace as the excessive speeder.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. Dale is a practical bridge player. He does not believe in heaping criticism on an erring partner during the game. "Give your partner lessons during the play," he says, "and one of two things will happen—both bad.

"If he doesn't understand what you are telling him, he will be more confused than ever, and confusion and resentment together will make him play even worse on the next deal. If he does understand, he will play better against you the next time he is your opponent, and how can that be good?"

In today's deal Mr. Muzzy and Mr. Champion, bidding their respective cards to the hilt and even beyond, reached a contract of three no trump.

Mr. Muzzy

The opening lead was the queen of spades which was won by dummy's ace. Mr. Muzzy now led the nine of diamonds from the board. He finessed the queen and cashed the ace, felling Mrs. Keen's two honors. But Mr. Dale's eight spot stopped the suit and eventually Mr. Muzzy went down one.

"Why lead the nine on the first round of diamonds, dope?" asked Mr. Champion nastily. "If you lead the five from dummy at trick two, you get four diamond tricks."

"I was trying to get a cover," replied Mr. Muzzy lamely.

"Well, you got it," continued Mr. Champion, "but what good did it do? You'd get a cover by leading the five spot, too."

"I don't see much difference between the nine and the five," argued Mr. Muzzy.

"You're right, there isn't much difference," said Mr. Champion savagely. "Only one trick. Only the difference between making your contract and going set."

Opening lead: Queen of spades.

Of course Mr. Champion was right, technically. And he went on to explain that when leading from the hand weak in high cards toward the strong hand, for a finesse, your best bet is usually the lowest card.

Mr. Muzzy followed this advice in the hand to be shown tomorrow—to the best of his ability, anyway. The result was not an outstanding success.
