SHORT SPORT

Canadian football's big four are a-feudin' again and this time it's Hamilton Wildcats who have decided to abandon Sunday games. Inasmuch as Sunday games are played only in Montreal, Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson feels that the Alouettes will be taking a kick in the pocketbook. "If Hamilton's pious notion to abandon Sunday football goes through, Alouettes will take something of a box-office beating," Fergie writes. 'Sunday sport has become popular in broad-minded Montreal. There's Sunday harness racing, hockey, baseball and in all these sports Sunday is the big day in point of attendance. Alouetes have drawn as many as 20,000 to a Sunday game."

The latest Big Four development is only the one of a series of battles in the circuit. First there was a report Alouettes would jump to the Ontario Rugby Football Union because of the ban on imports. Alouettes decided to stay when the Big Four upped the imports from the United States to six instead of the five permitted by the Canadian Rugby Union. Then Hamilton Tigers withdrew and were replaced by the 'Cats. The Tigers had dropped out when they failed to reach an agreement on a cut of out-of-town gates. They promptly took Wildcats' place in the O.R.F.U..

Fergie comments on the latest move: "If Hamilton joins Toronto Argonauts in shunning Sunday football, that will leave only Ottawa to face Alouettes in Sunday matches. It was Sunday football that enabled the Dandurand-Hayman combine to lift Big Four football out of the rut here and place it on a financial basis where it could compete on even terms with other clubs in the circuit."

PLANS PROGRESSING FOR FIRST NORTHERN B.C. TRACK CONTEST

Structure of Northern British Columbia's first annual track and field meet, scheduled for July 1, is slowly taking shape under sponsorship of the Canadian Legion Athletic committee. Despite flood damage to railroad and highway, the group is hoping that entries will be forthcoming from Smithers, Hazelton and the upper Skeena native villages as well as the Queen Charlotte Islands and the coast villages. Invitations also have been extended to athletes in Ketchikan and Ocean Falls.

The meet is to be held at Roosevelt Park here and will consist of three open events for the Northern B.C. Championship and six closed events—classified as to age groups. Championship events will be the 100 metre race, running broad jump and the half-mile race.

In the closed events there will be a relay race, 100 metres, 440 yards, half-mile race, running broad and high jumps.

The closed events, according to Jim Nicol, spark plug of the Canadian Legion project, will be on a point basis, based on teams. Each team will consist of four competitors, each of which will be allowed to enter any two events.

However, every team entering the closed events must take part in the relay race which will be one of the major features of the meet.

Closed event prizes will be awarded on a total point basis. The Corvette Club trophy will be awarded to the winning team with individual replicas for members of the winning team. Four silver medals will be awarded to the runners-up.

For the Northern B.C. championship open events, which can be entered on an individual basis, the following trophies have been posted:

11 metre race, Canadian Legion Trophy.

Running Broad Jump, John Bulger Trophy.

Half-Mile Race, B.C. Packers Trophy.

Best All-Round Athlete, N.B.C. Power Co. Trophy.

Entry forms for the events will be available after June 12, and entries must be in to Neil Ross, Rupe-Rec director at the Civic Centre by June 28.

MERCHANTS FALL BEFORE SAVOY

Savoy 12, Merchants 2

Coach Cliff Dahl's Merchants crumbled dismally in the face of a Savoy onslaught led by Jack Lindsay on the mound at Roosevelt Baseball Park last night and Dahl himself became a casualty when spiked by a base runner as his disorganized team succumbed by a score 12-2.

For Savoy it was the third victory of the season and for the Merchants their second loss out of three games against the hotelmen.

The cut-and-dried fixture was so obviously a Savoy fixture from the start that it denied the fans of even the solace of uncertainty. Lindsay held his opponents down to five hits while striking out 15 players.

Merchants opened with Dick Letourneau, the boy whom Dahl had strenuously tried to save from over-use in the benefit game on Sunday, on the mound. Letourneau lasted six innings and then practically everybody but the bat boy took a turn on the mound.

Eliuk went in for an inning. Then came a lad named Jones, who pitched to two players before his teammates decided that things were amiss. Don Hartwig climbed the mound from his second base position to last an inning and he was relieved by big John Schroeder in the ninth.

At best, Merchants' display was a cosiderable let-down from the promise they showed earlier in the season by blanking Savoys and defeating Moose consistently. From the bleachers came fervent hopes that this was merely one of Merchants' off nights and would not be repeated soon.

At the fourth inning, Savoys had worked the score up to 4-0, but Merchants got on the board in the fifth by a field error, scoring off another error.

Merchants' second run came in the sixth when Letourneau singled and was brought home by Abel.

Only double play of the game came in the ninth when Lindsay flied out to Eliuk in right field. Eliuk hurled to Sunberg who tagged Pavlikis at second.

Merchants' player - manager Cliff Dahl was taken out of the game when his leg was spiked unintentionally by Morgan as he ran to third base in the fourth inning.
