Miss Faure Is 81 Years Old

Reaching 81 years old today, Miss Jeanne Faure, Prince Rupert landscape artist, will celebrate quietly at home. Relatives will bring their best wishes to birthday dinner at Mr. and Mrs. H. E. E. Faure's, 111 Eighth Avenue East, this evening.

"I have no patience with young people of 70 who think they are old," exclaimed Miss Faure on the eve of her birthday to her nephew's wife, Mrs. H. E. E. Faure.

The artist was born in Doesburg, Holland.

Local People In Five Generations

Mrs. Emil Peterson of Prince Rupert, her daughter, Mrs. Michael Schwab and the latter's young son, Billy, attended a reunion of five generations in Victoria recently. Senior member of the group was Mrs. A. E. Dawe, mother of R. H. Dawe who is the father of Mrs. Peterson. A picture of representatives of the five generations, including Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Schwab and Billy Schwab appeared recently in the Victoria Times.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Dbl.	All pass
Pass	Pass	4 S	5 D

None of the books will tell you that the East hand should be opened with four spades It's too strong. You may miss a slam. For example, if partner has as little as the ace of hearts and the king of diamonds there is at least a play for six-odd.

Now old Mr. Dale who held the East cards knows this as well as anyone. He also knew something about this hand that none of the books could ever know. He knew that Miss Lucy Brash sitting on his left, simply hates to be shut out of the bidding.

To Mr. Dale, the chance of his side making a slam didn't seem too good after his partner passed. He weighed this chance against the chance that Miss Brash would get out on a limb, and decided the latter possibility offered the better prospect for a big profit.

Miss Brash had a pretty good hand with a six-card suit. She wasn't going to be talked out of anything. No sir! She was right in there with a breezy five-diamond bid, found her partner with an ace and a queen—and still went down 500 points.

Mr. Masters opened the seven of spades which Mr. Dale won with the queen. He continued with the king of spades and Miss Brash ruffed low. She led the king of diamonds and Mr. Dale won and laid down the ace of spades.

Miss Brash trumped with the ten of diamonds and cashed the queen of diamonds. She then played the ace of clubs and another club. Mr. Masters winning with the king and Mr. Dale discarding the nine of hearts. Mr. Masters returned the deuce of hearts which was ducked in dummy and Mr. Dale won with the king The jack of diamonds was good for the third undertrick and a very satisfying result indeed.

Mr. Dale did not point out that good defense would have defeated his four spade bid. That was nice of him. It was also practical. "Why aducate your opponents?" I've often heard him say "They're hard enough to beat as it is."

Fort Lewis Pay Higher

FORT LEWIS—Hon. Brooke Claxton, minister of national defence from Canada, visited the Canadian special brigade here yesterday and admitted that consideration was being given to increased pay and allowances. He announced a special "Fort Lewis bonus" which the troops were quick to point out made the pay higher here than it would be in Korea.

In teeming rain, almost 7000 troops paraded before the defence minister. A hearty American-style Thanksgiving Day dinner tucked under their belts helped the men withstand the drenching downpour as they presented Mr. Claxton with a general salute, heard him wish them well and then marched past his saluting base. Mr. Claxton told them it was "the finest parade he had witnessed even in two world wars."

Mr. Claxton left here for Los Angeles.
