CANADIANS TO

RCYC, currently celebrating its centennial year, is the only crew member previously in the Olympics. He represented Canada in the 1948 Olympics in the International Star class. He also captured the eight-metre class Great Lakes championship in 1946 and '47 with the Quest.

Sailing with Paul McLaughlin, another 1948 Canadian Olympic representative, in a 14-foot dinghy he also captured the Washbowl races at Cowes, Isle of Wight, England's sailing centre, in 1948. The pair later was second in the Prince of Wales cup, also at Cowes.

He says his crew is "good and sharp" but the "only thing you can say you feel you'll do is your best."

"They're the best guys in their own back yards. Now it's a case of all the best guys getting together."

He thought the Trickson was "as good a boat as anybody else's got, and I think our crew is as good as anybody else's. But the games themselves—that's what they're for—will prove it."

Reflects and Reminisces

Federal parliament will name a committee to recommend pensions for all members. Nobody will mind remaining up late to talk over the subject.

Having walked fifty thousand miles and worn out ninety pair of army boots in the last ten years delivering newspapers, Lee Thompson of Australia says he's going to retire. He can't do that, for he is only fifty-five. To quit at that age, and stay quit would be a tougher job than to keep on delivering papers.

SCIENTIFIC END

A kiss is merely the anatomical justaposition of two orbicularies muscles in a state of contraction. —Highbrow.

This "being laid off" business is felt all right. If you have doubts about it, here in Prince Rupert, just ask anyone and listen to the reaction which is likely to be vigorous. Everything going out and not so much or maybe nothing coming in is not so admirable.

Housing still remains the most baffling social problem facing the people says the Canadian Welfare council. Since the war we have built 500,000 new dwellings, but this has been less required to keep pace with increasing number of families. There must be something radically wrong when Canada, finding herself with more houses than she needs, makes us weary with endless complaints of insufficient shelter.

WHEN THEY BELIEVE

People are never so ready to believe you as when you say things in dispraise of yourself and you are never so much annoyed as when they take you at your word.—W. Somerset Maugham.

Numerous Swedes plan on sleeping aboard their own boats this summer at Helsinki, during the Olympic games. Thousands of craft will cross the Gulf of Bothnia. Meanwhile the housing shortage remains as acute as ever. To slumber aboard a launch at Prince Rupert is, however no novelty. That's been going on for years. It can be rough, yet on occasion, convenient.

Slight Error

WINNIPEG (CP)—Thieves stole a .30-.30 repeating carbine from a hardware store here and also took four boxes of shells. But the store owner said the shells won't fit that gun.
