Francois Lake news

By AGNES H. NEAVE
Daily News Correspondent

Francois Lake—Ten-year-old Julie Morris came home on Saturday afternoon by train from Prince Rupert where she has been a patient in the Miller Bay Hospital for three months.

* * *

When Buck Clark and Ale Chakrabin were driving near Ootsa Lake in a pick-up it skidded and crashed into the back of a tractor, smashing the pick-up. Buck, who is 20 years old, was taken to hospital in Burns Lake with an injured leg. When he was small an attack of polio made it necessary to have a silver plate inserted beside his leg bone and in the accident with the pick-up the plate was broken away from the bone. This has meant a long stay in the hospital, but he is now out and staying with friends.

* * *

The snow is deeper this year than it has been for a long time. Our two youngest ponies are still out on the range with a bunch of other horses, and all are in good condition although they have to paw through the deep snow to find their own food. All the animals both in the barns and on the range have done well this winter as the hay has goodness in it. There was so much sunshine last summer when the hay was growing, and it was brought in in good condition.

* * *

Willie Jeffery came over in a heavy on Saturday afternoon by Sugo to take Mrs. Willie to Burns Lake in the land. She had fallen on a patch of ice near their house, breaking her wrist. She was in a great deal of pain and we phoned the doctor so that he was ready to attend to her. As it was her left wrist which was broken, she will be able to continue giving piano lessons, also play for the children who are practising for the festival in Burns Lake.

* * *

Orville Lowseth is in Vancouver taking his second two-month course in electricity. He has one more course to take next year.

* * *

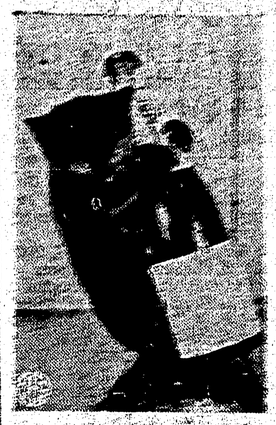
John Nordlund was rushed to Burns Lake on Friday morning with a crushed arm. He was working on the Chesnut Lumber Company's edger at Tahtlane and was oiling when his hand slipped in the roller. He was not as badly injured as was feared as he was able to come home after a few days in hospital.

* * *

Mary and Richard McCallum have moved to their new home on the Brown Road, and the Billing family are comfortably settled in their new home on Otheemid Lake. Now that we have power, folks are encouraged to build and live between here and Burns Lake.

* * *

The ferry is still coming across on schedule every hour, but it is increasingly difficult getting her into the dock at Southbank. The ice keeps piling up against the dock, and now the ferry cannot turn as she generally does before going in, and has to go straight in so that the cars and trucks have to back off. There are now two dark looking channels across the lake in the white ice, one which the ferry keeps open coming this way, and the other for going back again to Southbank. The ferry looks weird as she creeps along the channel but the folk who live across the lake are used to it.



CAT NIPPER—Bootsmom the cat wasn't one to be left out of the party when it came to welcoming in the new year. He pulled out his own bottle of champagne at his New York home. And it looks as if he may need some hair of the dog tomorrow morning.

CULVER CITY, Calif. (—Ray Eliggee, 46, three-cushion billiards champion, died in hospital Wednesday after a long illness. Eliggee, who won the championship in Chicago in 1933, a year after Willie Hoppe retired, followed Hoppe in death by three days.

* * *

Glad of every day that the Captains can keep the ferry moving.

* * *

We have already used more firewood than we used all last winter and Hugh had to bring more poplar logs in from the ranch with the team to cut into lengths.
