DIFFERENT VIEWPOINT

"Outsiders" evaluate Toastmasters' speeches

Members of Prince Rupert Toastmasters club had a fresh experience Saturday night when four non-member critics evaluated the main speeches of the evening at a "Ladies Night" held in the Prince Rupert Hotel Centennial room.

Usually toastmasters criticize each other's talks within their membership.

Four toastmasters in varying stages of speech progress gave five-minute speeches on topics ranging from power line construction to filleting.

General evaluator J. R. Ayres, editor of the Daily News, commended the four speakers on the preparation of their speeches their introductions, conclusions delivery and presentations. He criticized them on minor points but assured the club that all four men showed promise of becoming excellent Toastmaster material.

As an individual critic Mr. Ayres evaluated the first speech, or "icebreaker" of Eric Bennett on the topic of his boyhood in the Kootenays.

William H. Murray was the critic for R. F. Lucas who spoke on the subject of "The Peril from the South" in his No. 2 speech on being in earnest, in which he dealt with the ever-increasing control of Canada by United States interests.

County Court Judge W. A. Schultz evaluated the No. 3 speech of Arthur Rutherford who outlined the history and details of filleting by B.C. Packers Ltd.

Rev. Dr. Robert Elliott was critic for the No. 3 speech, of Edward H. Knight whose topic "Kildala, 1953" of construction to power lines from Kemano to Kitimat six years ago.

Prior to the four main speeches, eight one-minute impromptu talks on "good speaking" were given by Vincent Dodd, William Sutherland, M. B. O'Toole, William McGruther, Alfonse Fromholt, Russell Cameron, Thomas Barber and James Stewart.

At the outset of the meeting newly-appointed Area Governor Werner Jensen handed over the gavel to recently-elected president John K. Maynard.

Topicmaster for the one-minute speeches was William Turner; toastmaster was Frederick Robertson; voice critic was Robert Smith, jokemaster was Earl Dean and timer was John McNish.

Miss Dale Gallie responded to the toast to "The Ladies" proposed by Garet Peterson. Guests were introduced by Robert Barclay.

Following the meeting Toastmasters and guests enjoyed a dance.

Famed soprano, tenor end concert series

The last presentation of the Prince Rupert Concert Society series for the season 1958-59 will feature world-famed soprano Joy Kim and tenor Glade Peterson in an operatic program tonight in the Civic Centre.

Taking the spot-light at 8:30 p.m. the duo will present an outstanding concert with Raymond McFeeters, well-known pianist, accompanist, organist and composer at the piano.

To open the recital, Miss Kim, acclaimed the most exquisite "Butterfly" on either side of the Atlantic, will sing "Zeffiretti", and "Aria of Depina" by Mozart, followed by two solo Mozart selections "Aria of Tamino" and "To Chloe" by Mr. Peterson.

"Duet of Fiordiligi and Ferrando" by Mozart and "La Boheme" by Puccini, will conclude the first half of the concert.

A group of Korean Folk songs by Miss Kim will precede the fitting finale of excerpts from "Madame Butterfly", by Puccini, enacted and sung in costume.

Miss Kim born in Korea, grew up in Los Angeles while Mr. Peterson was born in Salt Lake City of Scandinavian lineage.

The lovely soprano has just returned from a triumphant opera season in Germany and Switzerland, and Mr. Peterson has recently completed a season in Nassau in the Bahamas, starring in the Light Opera Festival.

Caremel custard tasty change

Custards are one type of dessert that you can bake at the same temperature as many main dishes such as casseroles and meat loaf. For a change why not try caramel custard?

To make caramel syrup for 8 individual custards, heat ½ cup white sugar in a heavy frying pan and stir until all is melted and amber in color. Immediately add 2 or 3 tablespoons water, remove pan from heat and stir until sugar is dissolved. Spoon into custard cups, rotating each to coat bottom and sides. Or, try a "quick" caramel custard by spooning "golden brown" sugar or shaved maple sugar into cups, allowing ½ cup of either for 8 servings.
