BLUENOSE — There were two Bluenoses in Yarmouth, N.S., when the luxury passenger-carferry plying between Yarmouth and Bar Harbor, Me., was officially introduced into service recently. She carries 600 passengers and 150 automobiles and is a new tourist link between New England and the Maritime provinces. Yarmouth celebrated with a festival whose queen, Miss Winnifred Grey, was suitably decorated by Stanley F. Dingle, vice-president, Canadian National Railways, which operates the service. Capt. Richard E. Davie, master of M/V "Bluenose" is an interested spectator.

Watch Out if You Think Friday 13th Unlucky Day

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Are you convinced Friday the 13th is an unlucky day?

Then watch out, says a Rutgers University sociologist. You may "tighten up" so much you'll be dangerous to yourself.

Dr. Joseph B. Maier, assistant professor of sociology at the Rutgers Newark College of Arts and Sciences, said today that the evil attributed to some magical beliefs and practices actually may be brought about by persons who believe in them.

"The business about Friday the 13th is, of course, bosh," he said.

"But what the sociologist cannot overlook is the fact that lots of people believe in an act on that bosh. To people who are superstitious, this is a serious matter. So serious that they tend to be worrisome, tighten up and actually may be dangerous to themselves."

Dr. Maier said some people believe the Friday the 13th jinx began at the time of the Crucifixion which took place on a Friday after Christ met with his 12 disciples. There were 13 in the room.

But he said Fridays have persisted as dark days through other circumstances. Criminals were hanged on Fridays in 18th century England, for example, and since hangings were well attended, they were a hunting ground for pickpockets.

PEGGED TO ROBBERY

The people thus associated the hangings and the chance of being robbed with Fridays, Dr. Maier said.

"There are insecurities in every way of life," he added. "Superstitions persist because they supply certain satisfactions, restore hope and confidence where there was none before.

"It's easier and more comforting to 'explain' something by having a pat answer like "it's bad luck" than to find the real reason."

Magician At Legion Tonight
