WORLD IN VIEW

ment we can now make.

As for the future, I suggest that this question be tackled in a different way: through a three way approach.

(1) Public diplomatic discussion of the principles and policies necessary to limit and reduce armaments should be confined to the United Nations Assembly or to a broadly representative committee of it. Let the open contest for world opinion be held there. The West should take this contest very seriously.

(2) Instead of the London subcommittee, which represented only the two sides in the Cold War and therefore became a sector of the front in that war, the United Nations could submit the technical problem of drafting a model disarmament agreement to a small committee representing countries like Brazil, Sweden and Burma who would find it easier to take an objective look at it. Such a committee should be able to ask for qualified experts on every field of armament and defence through the United Nations Secretary General.

(3) This is most important of all. The U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A., through bilateral diplomatic conversations, should continue to secret their exchanges of views on disarmament and related subjects; the kind of exchange which Mr. Stassen attempted to initiate with Mr. Zorin in London with unhappy results.

I do not know whether this kind of approach would be any more successful — in the absence of an easing of world tensions — than the work of the London sub-committee. It would, however, in my view be well worth trying. The effort to reach agreement to limit all arms, and abolish some, must go on; as part of the larger and more vital effort to find security and peace.

Rocks Edge Timbermen To Make Final

VICTOAIA (CP)—Victoria Shamrocks and Peterborough Trailermen will meet in the Canadian Lacrosse final for the fourth time in five years. The best-of-seven Mann Cup series opens here Monday night.

Shamrocks, eliminated last year by Nanaimo Timbermen who went on to win the Canadian title, reached the Mann Cup final here Friday night by besting the Timbermen 8-6 in a thrill-packed game before 6,000 fans.

It was the seventh game of the best-of-seven Western final, the Shamrocks winning four times on their home floor and losing all three games played at Nanaimo.

Metro Signs Two-Year Pact With Mounties

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charlie Metro, who piloted Vancouver Mounties to a second-place finish in the Pacific Coast League this year after they had finished last in 1956, has signed to manage the club for two more years.

Announcement that Metro had signed a two-year contract was made Friday by general manager Cedric Tallis. The general manager did not disclose terms but said Metro will get a raise.

"He certainly deserves one," Tallis said.

Playing coach Spider Jorgensen also has signed a two-year contract. Jorgensen is batting .291 as a utility infielder.
