Sonja Henie preparing for big European TV show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You'd think that Sonja Henie at 45 would want to hang up her skates forever.

Yet she's on the ice again. In fact, she has been up at 6 a.m. to skim over the rink at the Pan Pacific Auditorium for three hours.

"It was the only time I could get the ice," she explained. The auditorium is on a 24-hour schedule, with one ice show appearing there and two others rehearsing.

Why all this activity on Sonja's part? She's leaving for Europe to film a 90-minute television spectacular that might be the start of a series.

"We planned to make the first one in Paris," she said. "But the political situation is so upset that we changed it to London. I think it's a better location, anyway. Bob Hope just made a picture about Paris and there have been many others."

SHOW AT BRUSSELS

Sonja's plan is to go to Brussels, where she has an ice show appearing at the world's fair. She'll rehearse the musical numbers there, then transport the company to London to film them. Afterwards, the story part of the spec will be shot around London.

"If the show is a success we'll do others in various other big cities of the world," she said.

"The films will be made in color, so there is the possibility of showing them in theatres, too."

When I marvelled at her early-morning practice sessions, she replied that they're not unusual with her.

Sonja's penchant for conditioning resulted in fights with 20th Century-Fox when she was queen of the studio rink. She recalled:

"I used to work hard to get ready for a picture. Then they'd shoot the story first, and I didn't have time to work out. When it came time to shoot the skating numbers, I had no strength. I skated from 9 in the morning until 7 or 8 at night, and the next day I was exhausted."

Mrs. William Pilfold new regent of WOTM

Mrs. William Pilfold was elected senior regent of the Women of the Moose Wednesday night when the WOTM Chapter No. 211 held its annual meeting in the Moose Temple.

Mrs. Pilford succeeds Mrs. Roy Boychuk.

Others elected to office were Mrs. Arnold Assman, junior regent; Mrs. Kenneth Nesbitt, chaplain; Mrs. H. I. Phipps, recorder and Mrs. Michael Karasosky, treasurer.

Seven members were received into the Defending Circle.

Initiated were Mrs. John T. Sparks, Mrs. Stephen Specht, Mrs. Verne Knutson, Mrs. Mary Eaton, Mrs. Stanley Kushman, Mrs. Michael Orom and Mrs. Gordon Ronson.

Following the business session the membership committee provided the social program, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Walter Eyre, who presented the "membership award" to the Moosehaven committee, chaired by Mrs. Keith Murdock.

A short play entitled "Virtue Triumphant" was enacted by Mrs. William Pilfold, Mrs. Frank Hitchcock, Mrs. Walter Eyre, Mrs. H. I. Phipps, Mrs. Hugh Perley and Mrs. Sidney Brogen.

Winner of the monthly prize was Mrs. Anna Brothen and winner of the attendance prize was Mrs. Charles Postuk.

A cold plate supper concluded the evening's activities.
