HEWITT-LEESON VOWS

United church scene of July 11 wedding

The First United Church was the setting for the lovely summer wedding solemnized July 11 when Miss Beverly Jean Leeson exchanged marriage vows with Lawson William Hewitt before the altar profused with mixed flowers and candlelight.

Rev. Dr. Robert Elliott performed the evening wedding service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Leeson of this city and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Hewitt of Victoria.

Gowned in Chantilly lace, the bride was radiant as she walked up the aisle on the arm of her father. Her ankle-length gown was fashioned with a bouffant skirt which fell from a fitted bodice, topped by a bolero, featuring long sleeves. Her illusion net veil was gracefully secured with a crown of sequins and seeded pearls and she carried a bouquet of small red roses.

Her only jewellery was a gold chain centred with a pearl, which was a gift of the groom.

Preceding the bride was her only attendant Miss Jean Dutton, who chose to wear a semi-formal blue gown of net-over-taffeta with a lace bodice and matching stole. Her featured bandeau and gloves were en tone and for accent she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Best man was Alan Hemmons and ushers were Gary Morison and Arthur Helin.

Miss Jean Sweeney was organist.

To receive the guests at the reception in the Canadian Legion auditorium, the bride's mother wore a gray fitted suit of summer wool and pink accessories.

Here for the occasion, the groom's mother wore a cocktail gown of turquoise and white accessories.

Frederick Lang, uncle of the groom, proposed the toast to the bride, who was seated at the bride's table, centred with a three-tiered wedding cake and flanked by tiny vases of deep-pink roses and pink tapers.

Serviteurs were Miss Gail Harvey, Mrs. Helin, Miss Andrea Veitch, Miss Sondra Giske, Miss Margaret Valderhaug and Miss Leona Wick.

Newlyweds have taken up residence at 621 Sixth Avenue West.

Mr. Hewitt is employed as an engineer at Fairview for Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative association and Mrs. Hewitt is employed by Manson's Jewellers.

OFF TO EUROPE—To attend an international medical convention and enjoy a continental holiday are Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Macdonald with their daughter Marilyn, all of 327 Fifth Avenue East of this city. The Macdonalds are among 97 B.C. doctors and their wives who will attend a week-long joint meeting of the Canadian and British Medical associations in Edinburgh, Scotland, commencing July 18. The delegation left Vancouver last Thursday for Prestwick, Scotland, on board a Canadian Pacific Airlines' jet-prop Britannia chartered by the B.C. Medical association. Following the meeting in Scotland, the Macdonald's will take a short vacation in Europe. IN THE PARKS

Hike up Mount Hays tomorrow at 2 p.m.

By PHYLIS BOWMAN

This is "Music and Drama" week at the Parks.

Tomorrow, however a hike has been planned up the "thousand steps" to the top of Mount Hays weather permitting.

For all children over eight years of age, youngsters are asked to meet at William's Grocery at 2 p.m. with a lunch. The hike will conclude at 6 p.m.

If the weather is uncertain, please listen to the message period at 11:30 over CFPR for definite information.

Friday night another wiener and marshmallow roast will be held. Children are asked to bring their own food. There will also be games and swimming.

SWIMMING POOL NEWS

After having been swamped with swimming lesson applications, attendance has been very poor.

Part of all water safety is in knowing how to swim and to swim well.

Swimming is everyone's concern.

Parents are urged to get their children to attend these lessons.

When the new indoor pool opens in the near future, it is hoped that competitive swimming teams will be formed.

All champions owe good fundamentals to their success and what better chance is there to get these free, than to attend the Red Cross swimming classes, now being conducted at Gyro Swimming Pool.

British newspapers cry out for Queen's return

LONDON (AP)—British newspapers expressed anxiety today that the Queen's Canadian tour is undermining her health.

"Save the Queen," "The Queen is exhausted—bring her home," were two headlines.

The Queen cancelled appearances Sunday and Monday because of a stomach upset, and British reporters on the Royal Tour cabled back that the Queen's illness was more serious than Canadian officials cared to admit.

The coast-to-coast tour has brought her "almost to exhaustion," Peter Moorhead said in a dispatch to The Daily Herald.

"I am no doctor," Moorhead continued, "but I would suggest that the Queen is heading for complete breakdown if the tour continues at its present murderous pace."

Prince Philip was reported by the British press to be greatly concerned about his wife's health. Several newspapers had him pleading with her to cut short the tour and fly back to London.

Don Iddon of The Daily Mail said that the Queen is "desperately tired" and charged that "politics are playing a considerable part in this extraordinary drama of a sick Queen and blundering officials."

Iddon said Prime Minister Diefenbaker is anxious not to have the Yukon blamed for the Queen's illness because he has grandiose plans for the area.

The Queen arrived in Edmonton Monday night from Whitehorse in the Yukon. She was forced to pass up nearly all her northern visits Sunday and Monday because of an upset stomach and fatigue.

In a full-page article, the tabloid Daily Sketch asked: "Do we value our Queen's health, or do we think that she should go on waving and smiling until she drops?"

The Sketch estimated that by the time she leaves for home, the Queen will have shaken 5,000 hands, made two TV broadcasts and 50 speeches, will have sitted 136 places, attended 61 formal presentations and 81 formal functions.
