Grotto playoffs start tonight

The battle for play-off berths continued even after the last puck was thrown in the regular Grotto Trophy league schedule last night.

After the shuffle of wins and losses, which included upsets as all undefeated clubs went down to defeat, shots scored by each team in league play had to be reckoned with to decide play-off berths in every section.

The winners from each section are as follows:—

A Section—Mitchell. Warren J. Eby; B Section—Bell. Scott Anderson; C Section—Garner Sudderham. Dominico; D Section—Gomer. Ward. (3rd team to be decided); E Section—Smith Tuttle. Gordon; F Section—Eyolfson. Newton. Manson.

Draws for play-offs are as follows:

Tonight 7 p.m.—Anderson vs Ward; Manson vs Eyolfson; McKay vs J. A. Macdonald (postponed league game); Smith vs Warren; Sudderham vs Gomer.

9 p.m.—J. Eby vs Mitchell; Garner vs Tuttle; Scott vs 3rd team D section; Gordon vs Bell; Dominico vs Newton; Winner of Smith-Warren vs Winner of Manson-Eyolfson.

Remainder of tickets are at the Civic Centre where they will be distributed by Centre manager Jacob Vanderbrink.

Representatives are asked to telephone Mr. Ayres at 5154 after noon on Saturdays up until 3 p.m. to report on sales and if more tickets are needed.

"We must keep track of the tickets and how they are going," Mr. Ayres stressed.

Plans were also made to use radio station CFPR's "message period" to get in touch with the Native villages as it was felt that most of the villages, especially those with bands, were made up of music lovers.

John Muir, CFPR producer told the meeting that the radio station would co-operate with The Daily News in publicizing "every facet" of the symphony visit.

Prince Rupert Air Cadet Squadron 559 and the Girl Guides associations have offered to provide ushers and attend cloak room.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Many a bridge player who would consider it ridiculous to give odds of 10 to 1 or better on a ball game or a boxing match will occasionally go against such odds at the card table. He does it in the form of trying for an extra trick at the risk of his contract.

GUILDFORD, England (AP) — Mike Hawthorn, world champion car racing driver, was killed in an automobile accident today.

Chief Officer Byrne of the Royal Automobile Club said:

"Hawthorne was killed outright in the crash."

The death of the 29-year-old bachelor was one of the most tragic in sports history.

Hawthorn won the world grand prix championship last season in Italian Ferrari cars.

"Hawthorn's car was a complete write off."

Mrs. Keen was not guilty of this type of madness in today's deal. She won the opening heart lead with the queen, capturing Mr. Masters' jack. An trick two she led a club and the king came up on her left. She paused to take stock. Apparently the king was a singleton. If so, Mr. Masters had the suit stopped with three clubs to the jack.

Of course, if the opposing clubs were divided 2-2, the entire suit could be brought in without loss and at least one extra trick could be made. But to be played for that possibility and the jack did not drop on the second round, she would get exactly two club tricks.

Wisely, she decided to let the king of clubs hold. If Mr. Abel had played the king from a doubleton king-jack, he had made a fine strategic play, but she could not afford to give up the opportunity of winning five sure club tricks.

At trick three Mr. Abel returned the six of diamonds. Mr. Masters played the queen and the ace won.

With eight tricks in sight, Mrs. Keen now entered dummy with a club to the ace and returned a spade. Her queen lost to the ace and she won the spade return with the king.

She cashed the rest of dummy's clubs, discarding down to the ace and ten of hearts and the jack of diamonds.

At this point it was odds-on that Mr. Abel's last three cards were the king and one heart and the king of diamonds, so that a diamond lead at the 11th trick would put him in for a forced return away from his king of hearts.

Again, however, Mrs. Keen played absolutely safe and simply led a heart to her ace for her ninth trick.
