Bug collecting pays off

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP)—Christine Kimble the nimble caught 8,140 lightning bugs this summer.

It paid off, too, for the 11-year-old girl. She got nearly $25 for turning the bugs in to the biology department of Washington College, where they are used for scientific research.

And as champion bug collector who beat 76 other children at the game she collected a bonus of $10.

Well-known city man marries Kelowna girl

The Church of the Immaculate Conception in Kelowna was tastefully decorated with peach toned gladioli on the candle-lit altar with baskets of red roses flanking the altar steps for the double-ring ceremony uniting in marriage Gina Antonia Alimonti and Robert Albert Jensen.

The Rev. R. J. Anderson officiated at the 10:30 a.m. nuptial mass, Saturday July 25 for the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alimonti of Kelowna and the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ragnvald Jensen of this city.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was a picture of loveliness in a graceful full-length gown of white nylon chiffon.

The bouffant skirt featured tiers of satin and net and hooped crinolines. A diamond tiara of silk tulle and the cascading held the bride's floor-length veil bouquet was formed of red happiness roses and rosebuds.

The only jewellery accents were a pair of tiny pearl earrings and the groom's gift of an engraved gold watch. For something old the bride wore a gold and pearl heirloom brooch, which had been in the groom's family for four generations and sent from Norway by the groom's grandmother.

Miss Anna Colussi of this city was her cousin's maid-of-honor, and Miss Thelma McCallum was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of frosty pink nylon chiffon. Their matching stoles were gathered to the bodice tops and their large - brimmed open-crowned pink silk picture hats were edged with tulle pleating. Their bouquets were pink-tipped cream carnations.

The bride's petite niece Eileen Klein as flower girl wore a flower-flocked pink nylon frock, a pink picture hat, and she carried a basket of pink-tipped white daisy mums.

Keith Alimonti, attending his aunt as ring-bearer carried a small white velvet cushion on which were pinned the gold wedding bands.

For the occasion the mother of the bride chose an afternoon dress of wedgewood blue crepe and white straw picture hat offset with a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

An empire waistline sheath of champagne chiffon - over - silk was chosen by the groom's mother, with a spice brown picture hat, beige accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds completed her ensemble.

John Culos was best man and Donald Hawryluk of Prince Rupert was groomsman. Ushers were John Castellarin and Bernie Matthew.

The wedding breakfast followed at the bride's home and the wedding dinner was held in the Aqua room of the Kelowna Aquatic Pavilion.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Father Anderson.

Later a reception and dance for 225 guests was held at the Legion hall ballroom.

Mr. Matthew acting as master of ceremonies read cables received from the groom's relatives in Norway and telegrams from Vancouver, New Westminster, Nelson and Prince Rupert.

For going away the bride changed to a light wool crepe dressmaker in mint green, accented by a carnation corsage in yellow and tangerine tints.

Returning from a week's honeymoon in Spokane and other Washington points, newlyweds have taken up residence at Suite 7, James Courts, 165 East 19th Avenue, North Vancouver, B.C.

Guests from out-of-town included the parents of the groom, Mrs. Leno Colussi, Miss Colussi and Mr. Hawryluk all of Prince Rupert; Graham Gore, Miss Irene Forrest and Mr. and Mrs. John Odowes from Penticton; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fabris from Trail; William Church from Vancouver; Mrs. Mary Smith from Vernon and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Moller with Donna and Lillian and Cliff Guthrie of Richmond.
