B. SIMUNDSON BILLIARD WINNER

The fourth handicap English billiards tournament ended yesterday at the Canadian Legion Hall with Bruce Simundson, who had led practically throughout the 200-point match, winner by only three points.

Alex Harvey, who was playing minus 20 and conceding his opponent a total of 55 points, was very slow in getting started and Simundson soon had a substantial lead over his veteran opponent. Simundson passed the first century (108) with Harvey (53) still 55 points, the amount of his handicap, ahead. At 131 Harvey was 56 points behind and, when Simundson was only 50 points from his goal. Harvey had lost an additional 10 points. It looked as if Simundson was going to be victor by a substantial majority. From then on, however, Harvey played more true to form, although he was not seen at his best during the game, and when he had passed his first century (106) he had reduced Simundson's lead to 47. A well-played break of 19 by Harvey brought him within 39 of his opponent, and when Simundson only wanted 14 points to win, Harvey was still 32 points behind him. In spite of several visits to the table Simundson was unable to increase his score and Harvey gradually crept up, the scores finally being tied at 186-all. Harvey led momentarily at 197 with his opponent 2 points behind but the score was again tied at 197.

Both players showing evident signs of nervousness and two errors in judgment by Harvey in the final play nullified his splendid efforts in the final stages of the match.

SAVOYS, STONES WIN SATURDAY

Four city hoop teams, doing a bit of post-season experimenting Saturday night, met in inter-league combat with the result that the older team, in both cases, affirmed the ancient adage that age and experience will tell.

What it told was that in the main fixture of the evening, the bottom team in the Senior League still had a bit to teach the top-place aspirants in the Intermediate League. Savoys, who hold the cellar spot among the seniors, whipped Fashion Footwear, of the Intermediate League, by a score of 55-38.

First half of the game was fairly even, although Savoys held a 12-point lead at the half-time bell. Fashion then whittled the lead down to eight points with a couple of counters in the third quarter but then retired into a strictly defensive attitude for the latter part of the game.

Fashion Footwear Coach Bob Menzies took to the floor himself, but found himself benched for fouls before the game was over. This was in itself a highly unusual occurrence, since Mr. Menzies is noted for a clean style of play.

In the curtain raiser, Stone's of the Intermediate League whipped the challenging North Star team of the Junior League by a 20-point margin.

HIS SECOND TRIP NORTH

Kenneth Spencer Was in Alaska Year Ago

The forthcoming concert at the Civic Centre by Kenneth Spencer will mark the second trip that Mr. Spencer has made north of the Canadian border in his interesting musical career.

In January 1948 he visited Alaska and his arrival at Anchorage was a totally new and thrilling experience for music lovers in the Alaskan Territory. Spencer, who was invited by the Little Theatre Society of the northern town, was the first negro artist ever to appear in recital in that region. An interview with Governor Ernest Gruening, Governor of Alaska, a warm welcome by his sponsors, and a round of receptions by the people of Anchorage and the soldiers of Fort Richardson made Mr. Spencer's visit to Alaska a memorable one.

A brand new Steinway grand piano was purchased by the citizens of Anchorage for the concert was flown by plane and arrived on the day of concert. It was the first concert grand piano ever to be flown into the Territory, and marked the inception of a new era of musical appreciation for that country.

Spencer and his accompanist, Willard Owens, were guests of honor at Fort Richardson, and gave a concert to the men of the Aviation Squadrons and the Engineers camped there. The next night, in the Anchorage Little Theatre, a capacity audience greeted the singer with warmth and responsiveness. A second engagement was immediately booked for the following night, following which Spencer was engaged for the next season of 1949.

64 Entries In Festival

The Prince Rupert Music and Drama Festival Association has received sixty-four applications for entry in the May Festival which means there will be several hundred participants contributing to the two-day program. The introduction of instrumental classes and vocal classes will give greater veriety and length to the program this year.

The number of entries in the drama classes have increased from five to eight this year. There will be three plays in the senior section and five in the junior.

Hazelton High School, whose Geraldine Martin won the best junior actress award in the 1948 Festival, will be the only outside entry in the drama classes.

In the music division of the Festival the pianoforte class has 19 entries.

Thirteen choirs will participate in the junior choral classes —10 from the elementary schools, one from the high school and two in the class open to junior choirs other than those connected with a school. There will also be an entry in the senior choral class.

Thirteen entries have been registered for the various junior vocal solo classes. In the piano duet class there are six entries while there is one in the junior violin solo class and one in the instrumental class. So far there is only one rhythm band entered.

At a meeting of the Prince Rupert Festival Association in the Civic Centre President Richard Cleland expressed gratitude for the fine response shown by the large number of entries. Terrace has shown keen interest in the Festival from the beginning and plans to have 27 entries in the music division. Correspondence from Masset and Ketchikan at earlier dates indicated they would like to participate in the Festival but no confirmation has been received by the local Festival Association.
