Opening lead: Jack of ♥

Most declarers had no trouble in fulfilling a three no trump contract in spite of the bad diamond break in today's hand, taken from a recent tournament. One East, however, upset the norm when he sacrificed his only trick in partner's suit in a rare type of entry making play.

Against the contract of three no trump, most Wests opened the jack of hearts, dummy played low, and East won with the king and returned the suit, driving out dummy's ace.

Now declarer had time to establish nine tricks, four diamonds, four top cards and one other, depending upon which suit East chose to attack when he was in. West's suit could not be brought into play in time to do any harm.

At one table East hit upon a plan which gave him a chance to defend the contract successfully. It required a bit of patience. Instead of rushing in with the king of hearts to win the first trick, East subordinated his own trick taking powers to those of his partner.

It was quite apparent that West held no card of entry and that communication with his hand could be effected only in the suit led. East permitted the jack to run so that it would go to declarer's queen.

Declarer took the trick and, when East was in with the jack of diamonds, he returned the king of hearts. Declarer could not win the hand without bringing in the diamond suit; so he continued with a fourth round.

East won, and his low heart enabled him to give partner the lead to cash the setting tricks in that suit.

It is true that declarer could have brought in the hand by winning the first trick with the ace of hearts, but this is hardly a recommended play, for it might well amount to surrender if West's lead had been from K J 10 x x in hearts.

Salmon landings show big climb

Boosted by more than 2,000,000 pounds of salmon, fish landings in Prince Rupert last week topped the 3,000,000-pound mark.

According to the Department of Fisheries report for the week ending July 29, landings totaled 3,165,450 pounds.

This was made up of four types: 2,175,800 pounds of salmon; 893,750 pounds of halibut; 82,500 pounds of bottom fish and 13,400 pounds of steelhead.

Of the salmon catch, 1,324,600 pounds were pinks landed by gillnetter. Only 15,600 pounds were landed by troller.

Other salmon landed were: red spring — 8,500 pounds by gillnetter and 37,100 pounds troll; white spring, 4,600 pounds gill and 7,500 pounds troll; coho — 22,500 gill and 156,700 troll; sockeye — 405,200 gill and nil troll; and chums — 192,400 gill and 1,100 troll.

Included in the halibut cacth were: 35,500 pounds of chix; 571,650 pounds of medium; 255,700 pounds of large and 30,900 pounds of No. 2.

The bottom fish catch was made up of 41,000 pounds of sole; 2,200 pounds of grey cod; 500 pounds of red and rock cod; 500 pounds of ling cod; 3,700 pounds of black cod; 12,300 pounds of mink feed; sand 22,300 pounds of crab.

Salmon was landed by 40 gillnetters, 110 trollers and 12 seiners from Areas 1, 2AE, 2BE, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11.

Halibut was taken by 15 large vessels operating in Areas 2AW and 4 and Area 3 of the International Pacific Halibut Commission.

Crabs were landed by four boats from Area 2AE while the remainder of the bottom fish was caught by one trawler in Area 4.

Grain ports figures up

VANCOUVER (CP) — The port of Vancouver handled 145,000,000 bushels of grain during the grain year which ended last month, compared with 124,800,000 bushels the previous year.

The figure was above average for recent years but well below the record 158,800,000 set in the 1957-1958 grain year.

British Columbia's other three grain ports also showed increases over 1959-60 figures.

New Westminster handled 4,285,000 bushels, compared with 2,130,000; Prince Rupert 10,398,000, compared with 8,895,000, and Victoria 7,000,000, compared with 2,800,000.

July figures for all B.C. ports were considerably lower than those for June—14,914,000 bushels compared with 20,000,000 bushels.

Potatoes should be stored in a well ventilated, darkened place with low temperature.

TIME AND PLACE

poison-gas to cough out their lives in sanguine despair.

In this way, and to this end, you may dream of the building of a large modern Sanatorium for consumtives in the centre of the plain, while from the mountains behind, earth is being conveyed for the making of gardens, pleasure grounds and park. The whole ten square miles of lava is being tracked by macadamized roads, cement drives, through avenues of aromatic shade trees of native pine, where bath-chairers may take the air, and plank-walkers go to the show places. Here is air pure and curative, such as may not be breathed in many, if any, other suburb of this planet. Yes, if I were a millionaire this afternoon, I would let the contract before night on on the morrow. As it is, I can do it in my dreams.

NOTE: This was written in 1918 shortly after the big flood on the Naas when Aiyansh was flooded out. It was written to raise funds to help rebuild the Church.

LONGEVITY AREA

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass reports a 120-year-old woman, Darya Bondareva, lives in good health in the south Kazakhstan village of Kara-Uzyak. Also living in the region are 30 persons 100 years old or more.
