Janet Botrokof weds Robert Richmond at First United Church ceremony

A late-summer wedding took place at the First United Church in Prince Rupert on August 26, when Elizabeth Janet Botrokof, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Botrokof, 431 West Sixth Avenue, Prince Rupert, became the bride of Robert James Richmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Richmond of Kelowna, B.C.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a ballerina - length dress which featured a three-tier full skirt and sweetheart - length sleeves. A taffeta band, decorated with pearl sequins, encircled the waist, and the bodice was plain with a straight neckline.

Her full waist-length net veil fell from a 12-point pearl coronet-headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of white roses with silver streamers.

Matron - of - honor was Mrs. Gordon Finlayson, who wore a mauve nylon net-over-taffeta ballerina dress, with a hat to match her ensemble. Her bouquet was also of white carnations.

Donald Gore of Terrace was best man, and ushers were Lou Debois and Fred Dawick, both of Terrace.

Rev. Ivan S. Gamble officiated at the early evening event, and organist was Mrs. E. J. Smith.

The front of the church was colorfully decorated with fan-shaped baskets of garden flowers, and tiny mauve rosettes were used to mark the pews.

MANY GUESTS AT RECEPTION

Eighty guests gathered at the Islander Hall after the wedding, and master of ceremonies was John Comadina. Toast to the bride was given by O. R. Green, and the groom responded. A toast to the matron - of - honor was given by the best man.

The bridal table was decorated by vases of roses and white candles placed on a lace over mauve tablecover.

Serviteurs were: Mrs. Lorne Kennedy, Mrs. Floyd Blanchard, Mrs. Gordon Olson, Mrs. Robert Brewerton, Mrs. George Luck, Mrs. R. C. Van Nice and Miss June Richmond.

The bride's mother was charming in a turquoise sheath dress of crepe which had tiers of all-round tuckings and a smart boat neckline. Her accessories were white.

Out of town guests present were Mrs. R. J. Richmond, Miss June Richmond and Mrs. George Luck of Kelowna, mother and sisters of the groom; Mrs. F. Blanchard and Mrs. G. Olson from Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Holman and daughters Arlin and Sharon from Yellowknife, N.W.T.; Mr. and Mrs. William Botrokof, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kerr and Mr. and Mrs. William Linton of Kitimat; Mr. and Mrs. D. Steele, Mrs. D. Gore, Miss Esther Foote, Miss Maida Agnew, Melvin Burchett, Ernest Byrnell, Robert Derbyshire, John Ellison and John Mitchell, all of Terrace.

Telegrams were received from Mr. and Mrs. M. Ivanoskas, Revelstoke; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Paul, Castlegar; and Mr. and Mrs. James Cameron, Winnipeg.

For the motor trip to Terrace and Kitimat, the bride wore a two-piece sheath dress of nile green with matching accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

The bride, who moved here from Edson, Alta., 10 years ago with her parents, is a teacher at the Cassie Hall School in Terrace.

The couple will reside in Terrace, where the groom is employed by the Royal Bank of Canada.

UNICEF committee organized at meeting

A program instituted in the local schools last Hallowe'en in which local children raised money to help the hungry children in the poorer countries of the world will again be carried out this year. This was decided at a meeting held last night at the home of Mrs. T. A. Johnstone, 316 Fourth Avenue East.

This project is sponsored by the Parent Teacher Council and includes all the local elementary schools. Last year $300 was raised in Prince Rupert in a single night. This money is sent to the United Nation Children's Fund and is used to combat disease and malnutrition which exists among three-quarters of the world's children. Last year $260,000 was sent to this organization by the children of Canada.

The United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund is a part of the United Nations, and was established at its General Assembly in 1946 to give aid to children in war-devastated and underdeveloped countries. It co-operates closely with the World Health Organization and the United Nations Bureau of Social Affairs. By using their resources in a unified approach to help governments, UNICEF and the other United Nations agencies can do jointly what no one of them can do alone.

The project is entirely voluntary. Consent forms may be obtained at the schools just before Hallowe'en and when the form is signed by a parent, the child takes it to a designated centre where he obtains a marked UNICEF can. Then, when he dresses up to go collecting apple and sweets, householders can contribute pennies. The drive only lasts from 6 until 7:30 p.m., and then the cans are picked up by the Students' Council.

Representatives attending the meeting were:

Mrs. R. R. Whitely, Seal Cove School, Mrs. A. J. Bussanich, Conrad, Mrs. T. A. Johnstone, King Edward, Mrs. B. J Bridden, Annunciation and Mrs. O. R. Green, Roosevelt Park School and the PT Council.

Films and posters will be displayed at future PTA meetings.

Leather coats in fashion

From the style-conscious set at school to the hard-playing sandlot team, everyone favors leather jackets and coats this fall whether it's for school dress or knock-about leisure wear.

Smooth, lustred or matte-finished grained leather jackets and full-length coats in a rainbow range of bright colors appeal to girls from grade school to college age. High school seniors and co-eds delight in grained and suede leather cardigans and blazers in rich blues, bright greens, rusty-golds and autumn reds.

Young girls will delight in bright candy colors in smooth leather jackets and coats with "the brighter, the better," their formula for selection. The bright leather colors this year are blue, green, orange, russet and scarlet.

College men favor smartly-tailored suede leather-and-knit jackets that boast self-leather buttons, slash pockets, and bold stitch detailing on lapels or yokes. Sturdy smooth leather jackets with warm sheepskin linings are preferred for cold weather wear. A perennial favorite of college men is the three-button sack coat of soft, non-wrinkling leather.

Younger boys may not be as style-conscious as their older brothers, but they insist on warm, windproof Eisenhower-styled leather jackets or cardigans for sports and school wear. These popular all-weather jackets are available in either grained or smooth leather. Many boast wool shearling linings for added warmth.

Fall's new colorful leather jackets, coats, shirts and shorts are particularly welcome in school wardrobes, for they are long wearing, durable, and easily cleaned. Smooth, grained and lustred leathers need only a damp sudsy cloth for cleaning. Suede leather garments should be dry-cleaned.

Rummage sale realizes $375

Arthritics and rheumatic persons will benefit from the $375 brought in by a rummage sale organized by the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society here Saturday.

Convenor for the affair was Mrs. T. J. Boulter. She was assisted by Mrs. James Ostapowich, Mrs. T. R. Lloyd, Miss Judy Lloyd, Mrs. Stan Wozny, Mrs. P. M. Ray, Mrs. Arthur Kristmanson, Mrs. J. N. Jordan, Mrs. Morris Holmberg, and members of the local CARS committee.

"The sale exceeded all expectations," said Convenor Mrs. Boulter. "We wish to sincerely thank all those who contributed so much to its success—the donors, the many volunteer assistants, and the general public for its enthusiastic support."

ROYAL TREASURE

World's most valuable piece of jewelry is Britain's imperial state crown, worn by Queen Elizabeth at her coronation in 1953.

CARPET CLEANER

After spot and stain removal on a carpet, it should be dried quickly to avoid mildew or other damage.

PERSIAN PEACHES are a delicious and different treat and there's nothing at all to the making. Just combine 4 cups sliced peaches in a bowl with 1/3 cup orange juice; 3 tablespoons honey; 1 to 2 tablespoons thinly sliced ginger and a few grains of salt. Mix gently, cover and chill for about 1 hour. Spoon into 6 sherbet glasses and serve.
