City backs fund bid by alcoholism group

City Council will support the application of the Alcoholism Foundation of British Columbia for an increase in its budget to provide an expansion of its services, it was decided last night.

The move was made after council was in receipt of a letter from the foundation's executive director E. D. McRae, informing it that the 1962 to 1963 estimates included a sum for a travelling clinic to serve the Prince Rupert-Kitimat area.

"Our budget estimates have been forwarded to the Provincial Secretary W. D. Black and we are hoping that the government will see fit to increase our budget next year to provide for the expansion of our services.

Estimated cost of the clinic, scheduled for April, 1962, is $8,360.

Council granted payment of two sums, $2,250 and $1,050 for the balance of the Prince Rupert Tourist Bureau and Museum of Northern British Columbia budgets for 1961.

A request from Ray Music Ltd., over the signaure of R. S. Billing, asking permission to lease telephone lines or rent telephone poles, in order to supply background music to commercial premises, was referred to the telephone superintendent for study and report.

A bylaw amending the Traffic Regulation bylaw and permitting the speed limit on the Fairview Road to be raised to 35 miles per hour, was given final reading and approval.

A bylaw amending the Motor Vehicle for Hire bylaw was given final approval, allowing taxi-operator John Gurvich to have his licence changed so that other taxis can use his stand when it is vacant. A time limit of five years was set on the new licence.

On recommendation from the finance committee Council approved sale of Lot 10, Block 24, Section 7 for $630.

✣ ✣ ✣

Council also approved payment of a requisition from District 52 School Board of $25,483 for the month of September.

✣ ✣ ✣

Also ordered paid was a progress payment of $7,704.49 to Dominion Bridge Company, Limited for work on the construction of the water storage reservoirs at Montreal Circle.

✣ ✣ ✣

Tools for the Auxiliary Fire Department estimated at a cost of $434.03, were ordered bought.

✣ ✣ ✣

Council approved a Board of works committee recommendation that the requirements of the building inspector in regard to fire separation be carried out in any work proposed for Star Store Confectionery, 819 Third Avenue West.

Lew (Dr. Kildare) Ayres in comeback to films in story of U.S. Congress

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The U.S. Senate was in a raucous mood. The senator from Old Blighty, Charles Laughton, was exchanging insults with the senator from Hyannis Port, Peter Lawford. These were in the script of "Advise and Consent."

Senator Paul Ford, whose last term of office was as colonel in TV's Sgt. Bilko, rose to call Laughton a "bubblehead." This was not in the scrip, and Laughton threw his notebook at Ford.

Senator Guy Gillette began a speech comparing performing in the Senate and acting in movies; he has done both. He was ruled out of order by producer-director Otto Preminger.

Other senators, including Canadian - born Walter Pidgeon, Don Murray and Edward Andrews, arose to seek recognition from the chair. They were rapped down with cool authority by the vice-president, Lew Ayres.

"Yes, it's been a long time since I made a picture, quite a long time," Ayres said.

ACTED ON TV

The records show that his last was "Donovan's Brain," eight years ago. Never one to remain idle, he has done TV dramas, lecture tours with his films of the world's religions, plus a multitude of other activities. He talked about his role.

"I play the old style of vice-president," he said. "He is sort of in the dark; he isn't let in on things. I wondered about the part at first, and then I saw its value. He is sort of vague and noncommittal while all the furore is going on over the approval of a secretary of state.

"But when the issue comes to a vote, there is a tie. The vice-president then has the power of decision, and he uses it in a very surprising way."

Lew made his film debut 40 years ago, but he still looks youthful enough to have just come out of surgery as Dr. Kildare.

"You know, we used to get away with murder in the old days. I mean the way we used to overact. I've been watching the old pictures on TV a great deal in the last year. It can be painful sometimes. You see mistakes that you made 25 years ago and there's nothing you can do about them."
