9 In Memoriam

In loving memory of our father Anton Dybhavn who passed away November 22, 1960.
His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall,
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
Sadly missed by Mary, Andrew, Ole and families. (227)

Rescued girl

The girl told investigators she awakened and "heard screaming and stamping . . . and I saw my mother and my brother lying on the floor and there was blood all over."

Capt. R. F. Barber, district coast guard officer in charge of marine investigations, asked Terry whether she saw her younger sister at any time.

"Only when I went to bed," Terry replied.

"When was the last time you saw Mrs. Harvey?"

"When I went to bed. We were all sitting in the cockpit."

"About how close did Captain Harvey come to you uup on the deck that night when you said he was angry?"

"He touched me and he hit me and he shoved me down with his hand."

"You went to your room and climbed on your bunk?"

"Yes."

"The reason why you then left your bunk was because you heard the water coming up in the boat?"

"No, it was up on my bed before I got up."

JUMPED INTO RAFT

Terry said she put a raft in the water, then jumped into it.

She said she didn't know where Harvey was.

After her long vigil in the Atlantic under a tropical sun, she was picked up unconscious by a Greek merchant vessel.

Wallaby wows washerwomen

VANCOUVER (CP) — Willy the wandering wallaby wowed the kids but puzzled his owners.

The wallaby, a species of kangaroo about three feet high, wandered into the laundry in suburban North Vancouver and the kids had a ball while their mothers did their washing.

Police were finally called and the wallaby was returned to Stanley Park Zoo where officials wondered how he escaped and got across busy Lions Gate bridge without anybody noticing.
