ERNIE BARRIEAU TO BOX IN SEATTLE

Tom McDonald Claims to Have Local Lightweight Signed Up for January 29.

Seattle, Jan. 22.—Ernie Barrieau of Vancouver, B. C., former P. N. A. champion and contender for the lightweight championship of Canada, the man with whom Joe Bayley will have to have an early reckoning for the title, will be the main attraction at the monthly smoker of the Washington Athletic Club, Tom McDonald, manager, at the Dreamland Pavilion, on Wednesday evening, January 29th.

The date was fixed for Wednesday night, that being the only time Barrieau could come to Seattle. The Canadian is well known in Seattle, having boxed here frequently when he was northwest amateur champion. McDonald has not yet selected an opponent for the Vancouver boy, as he wants to put the best and fastest man Seattle can produce against him. He expects to have the contender named today.

It is the intention of Manager McDonald to introduce a number of new faces to the Seattle fight fans, and he expects to complete his six bout card with the best talent he can get together in Tacoma, Vancouver and Seattle.

A FEW REASONS FOR NOT GETTING MARRIED

Prince Rupert Bachelors May Get Some Good Suggestions from Reasons Here Given

As there is a very large number of bachelors in Prince Rupert the following reasons for not marrying addressed to a Paris newspaper by its bachelor readers will be of interest:

A City Man—Love making takes up too much time. There's more durable happiness in making money.

A Barrister—"I am very fond of travelling, and I want to be able to pack my bag and clear off when I like. A wife would be in the way."

A Commission Agent—"I don't want to be asked where I've spent my evening or what I've done with my money. My time and money are my own."

A Shopkeeper—"My mother spoiled me. I should never get the same attention from another woman."

A Journalist—"I should have to reduce my personal expenditure. No thanks!"

A Stockbroker—"I am afraid she would say 'No.'"

A Tailor—"I'm afraid of a woman's tongue."

A Postman—"A widow once jilted me, and since then I've never been able to pluck up enough courage to propose to another woman."

A Doctor—"I meet so many unhappy couples that I'm afraid of sharing their fate."

A Professor—"I can neither work nor think in the society of chattering women."

An Architect—"Women only want your money and a home. I have no intention of playing a fool's part."

An Electrician—"Girls always grow to be like their mothers. I've never seen a mother-in-law to my taste."

A Grocer—"I've proposed to three girls and have been rejected each time."

A Chemist's Assistant—"Mother doesn't want me to marry and would make my wife unhappy if I did."

An Omnibus Conductor—"I'm the oldest of a large fatherless family and I can't marry until they've had a start in life."

A Scientist—"My life is entirely given up to my work."

A Commercial Traveler—"I will not ask any girl to marry me as I am so often away from home. We could not be happy under those conditions."

Big Strike Averted
Boston, Jan. 23.—A strike of 15,000 mechanics and shomen on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad has been averted here by the men accepting a seven per cent. increase. They had asked a 15 per cent. wage increase and betterments in working hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayner, who have been on a visit to the lower coast cities for the past three weeks, were amongst the arrivals from the south this morning.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

On Wednesday evening at the Catholic hall the students of the Prince Rupert High School gave a most delightful "At Home," which was attended by a large number of the younger set, and included nearly all the youth and beauty of the city. Dancing, which began at 8.30 was kept up until midnight, when the affair perforce had to break up much to the regret of the youthful guests. Dainty refreshments were served. Invitations were issued to the following:

Mr. and Mrs. D. McD. Hunter, Misses Johnstone, Grant, Milligan, Mercer, Wilson, Martin, I. Jennis, Jennis, McDonald, Genevieve McDonald, Haslett, Kathleen Haslett, Phyllis McGroskie, Alma Christiansen, Mary Enrig, Alice Carss, M. Macdonald, Chapman, Smith, Fisher, Thompson, Reitchel, Young, Biddings, Carlson, A. Grant, Du Vernet, Ellet, Edith Sing, Balfour, Enoch, Messrs. Brady, Murray, Wilson, Henderson, McGregor, Peters, Taylor, Gamble, Warton, Harris, J. Peters, Gerald Peters, Butler, Gillingham, McMaster, Purdy, E. Mann, Newcombe, I. White, G. A. Hunter, W. Stevens, J. Mitchell, W. Anderson, W. Rowell, McKnight, Moore, Blain, Ives, Crewe, Golden, Young, Carss.

Coroner's Inquest

At the inquest held on Wednesday into the cause of the death of Abel Ryan, a Port Essington Indian, a verdict was returned of found drowned. Dr. Gade, who examined the body, gave evidence that there was a cut on the top of the head that might have been caused by falling on the rocks or off the wharf. The position of the wound was such that it was not likely to have been caused by anyone striking the man. Evidence was given as to the finding of the body in the water close to the Rupert Marine Ironworks on Tuesday morning. An Indian of the name of Peter Wesley who came over from Port Simpson with the deceased, stated that he saw nothing of the unfortunate man upon the night of the tragedy.

The Coroner, through Indian Agent Perry, had the Indians informed that there was no suspicion of foul play by Wesley and that they were not to suspect such a thing.

The remains were taken to Port Simpson for interment.

RADICAL CHANGE FOR BRITISH NAVY

Latest Plan of Alteration for Dreadnoughts Arouses Criticism.

London, Jan. 22.—It has been decided to introduce some armed protection for the smaller or anti-torpedo guns of the British dreadnoughts. In the designs of the latest battleships to take the water, those of the Iron Duke group, as well as the latest to be completed, the King George group, armor for their small guns was provided for. The battery for defence against torpedo attack was disposed in an entirely different manner to that of previous vessels of the dreadnought type. But the admiralty has gone a step further by giving orders that the Orion, which was completed in December, 1911, and whose first annual refit has become due, is to be fitted at Devonport with armored casemates to her four-inch guns, and the same process will be carried out aboard other warships of this class.

Naval opinion seems to be in some doubt as to the exact motive for this alteration. On the one hand, there are disbelievers in the dreadnought policy, who regard it as a step toward the revival of a secondary battery of guns of intermediary calibre. The four inch guns of the Orion have not hitherto been recognized as an intermediary battery. On the other hand it is affirmed that the increase in size of these anti-torpedo defense guns, since it results in a larger target being presented to an enemy, has called for armour protection.

A small boy with a rather lost and lonesome appearance walked into the county clerk's office at the court house.

He gazed about him for a time and finally approached Deputy Henry Smiley.

"Please, sir," the lad said timidly, "have you seen anything of a lady around here?"

"Why, yes, sonny," answered Smiley; "I've seen several."

"Well, have you seen any without a little boy?" the lad asked anxiously.

"Yes," replied Smiley. "Well," said the little chap as a relieved look crossed his face, "I'm the little boy. Where's the lady?"—Denver Times.
