21 years since Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — The today was marked quietly and "day of infamy" 21 years ago without ceremony today.

Officially at least, there was no recognition of the anniversary of the darkest moment in U.S. naval history when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941.

Macmillan says Acheson errs on Britain's role

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan said today Dean Acheson, in criticizing Britain's role in history, has "fallen into an error which has been made by quite a lot of people in the course of the last 400 years."

He wrote a letter to Lord Chandos, president of the Institute of Directors, who Thursday night in a letter asked Macmillan to consider seeking from the United States a disavowal of the Acheson view that Britain's effort to play the role of a separate power is about played out.

Acheson, secretary of state under President Truman, told a West Point conference "Britain's attempt to play a separate role with the United States, a role based on a "special relationship" based on being the "head" of a Commonwealth which has no political structure or unity or strength and enjoys a fragile and precarious economic relationship — that role is about played out."

Macmillan wrote:

'I have only seen the various press reports of the speech. If those are accurate, insofar as he appeared to denigrate the resolution and the will of Britain and the British people, Mr. Acheson has fallen into an error which has been made by quite a lot of people in the course of the last 400 years, including Philip of Spain, Louis XIV, Napoleon, the Kaiser and Hitler.

"He also seems wholly to misunderstand the role of the Commonwealth in world affairs."

Red Adair snuffs out gas blaze

MEDICINE HAT (CP) — Red Adair headed for his Houston home today, leaving behind a trampled patch of scorched southern Alberta prairie as quiet as it was before a broken valve connection sparked a wild natural gas well fire six days ago.

The well caught fire last Friday, turning into a roaring torch fed by 20,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day. Adair, a professional natural gas and oil well firefighter, extinguished the blaze Thursday morning.

The well was capped 7½ hours later and mop-up operations followed.

"It was a great fight by everyone," said Adair, 47. "I guess that's it, let's go home.

"We had to cut the valve off, dig a hole around the drill pipe, weld a new valve in place and fight a lot of pressure."

The well is one of the most productive in the Pendant d'Oreille field, a few miles north of the Alberta-Montana boundary. Natural gas spurted from it under a pressure of 1,000 pounds a square inch.

Jim Gray, a spokesman for Home Oil Company, one of four firms which own the well, said no estimate was immediately available of the cost of the fire.

DEVELOPMENT BOARD

OTTAWA (CP) — A government will to create an Atlantic development board was given first reading in the Commons Tuesday with general — though not unreserved — support from all parties. Revenue Minister Fleming said in introducing the measure that it is "the most forward step ever taken, in my lifetime, for the benefit of the Atlantic provinces."
