Red Cross' great work illustrated at tea

A graphic description of the work of the Red Cross was given yesterday at the canvassers' tea sponsored in preparation for the annual campaign for funds next month. A total of $4,500 in donations is the goal for Prince Rupert.

Pouring at an attractive tea table were Mrs. Harry Breen, whose husband has been active in Red Cross work in Prince Rupert for 15 years, eights years as secretary, and Mrs. T. Norton Youngs, whose husband is president of the local branch. They wore corsages of red and white ribbon featuring red crosses.

A film entitled "That They May Live" was shown and gave a vivid demonstration of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation used following many kinds of accidents. All residents were urged to see the film at the next opportunity.

Mrs. Ron Waddell gave a brief talk on the history of the world-wide organization.

The committee arranging the tea, prime purpose of which was to acquaint prospective canvassers with the work of the Red Cross, consisted of Mrs. Waddell, Mrs. D R. Muir and Mrs. M. Karasosky. About 20 attended.

The Skeena Health Unit, Foster Husoy, projectionist, Justin De Goutiere, Norman Bjarnason, Ormes Drug Store and the UFAWU Auxiliary were thanked for their contributions to the tea
