Booth, the outside right on the Callie forward line, showed up to very good form in the football match last Friday evening Men on the field who were reckoned to be very fast seemed to be travelling backwards when he went by them. In the second half in the eagerness of the game he was caught offside a couple of times, but there very few other errors. It might have been better for the forward line if the inside men had fed the ball to Booth a little more. His return passes were always in the right place and worried the English backs considerably.

In the baseball game this evening between the Colts and the Sawmill both teams are going to have a number of new players on the bench, but they are not saying much about their respective dark horses until the time comes. Certainly this game ought to be one of the most interesting that has ever been held under the auspices of the Intermediate League.

Bert Wearmouth played a star game Friday evening in the football game between the Sons and the Callies. He had to work all the time, but was always there in his position. With such genial good sportsmanship as he displays on the field Bert would win a place on any team.

Harry Menzie played a star game on Saturday evening in the baeball series between Stewart and Rupert. Although playing against his own team he never made an error and his hitting was all that could be desired. Only on the one occasion in an attempted double play from the pitcher to second he was unable to get his balance in time to get the ball to first to catch the runner. He seemed to take particular delight in fielding his brother's hits and pegging the ball to first and put him out more than once in this way.

• • •

Tiny Daly was suffering from a bad black eye all during Saturday's baseball games. While warming up before the game the ball struck him in the eye. It was sore and the big pitcher claimed that it seemed to be an awful size as he stepped forward to deliver the ball. In the mirror it didn't look very large, but when on the mound and ready to deliver to the batter it seemed as large as a house.

• • •

"Buck" Buchanan was the life of both ball games on Saturday. He talked all the time, encouraging the pitcher and rattling the batter. Even when the crowd stilled at a tense moment Buck was never breathless and emitted some wild yell to bring them back to the realities. Al Buchanan, as he is known among the Varsity activities in Vancouver, is star forward on the University basketball team and is next year's president of the Track Club. Last summer he played for the Centrals' baseball team in Vancouver.

ANTI-CANADIAN SHIPPING LAW IS SUSPENDED

Held Over for Three Months by Inter State Commerce Commission.

VANCOUVER, June 21.—Prince Rupert is vitally interested in the intimation just received from Washington that the Interstate Commerce Commission has suspended for 90 days Clause 30 of the Merchant Marine Act, which provided, according to the Jones bill introduced by Senator Jones of the State of Washington:

That all freight destined for foreign ports or domestic coast ports are to be granted a substantial differential in freight rates against such shipments destined to be carried in foreign bottoms.

Prince Rupert is also directly concerned with Clause 29 of the bill as it now stands.

Clause 29 forbids the passage of freight, passengers or baggage from one port in United States territory to another, or a through ticket or a through bill of lading, when any part of the passage is on a foreign vessel.

According to shipping men here Senator Jones and other American interests, bearing in mind how Prince Rupert, through its geographical advantages, captured almost entirely the fish trade between the Alaska coast and the east, is much worried over the growth of American tourist traffic passing over G. T. P. and C. P. R. ship and rail routes via Vancouver, Victoria and Prince Rupert to Alaska. This coupled with the steady increase in tonnage of American origin carried by C. P. R., Dollar Line and other boats to Manila and other American possessions forms a powerful factor that is causing much concern across the line.

Burdened with Ships.

There the Americans, in the view of local shipping men, have found themselves burdened with a large number of ships as a result of its gigantic shipbuilding program and are striving to stop by legislation the natural flow of an enormous trade.

A. Melville Dollar said if such legislation went through, the Dollar Line would withdraw from the Manila trade and would have to change its five boats, now operating out of Vancouver, to American registry.

The C. P. R. would have to depend solely on Canadian freight.

No Japanese steamship lines would be able to compete with American lines in freight rates on the Pacific.

Boomerang, Not a Benefit.

According to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, however, the legislation, instead of helping American shipping trade, would prove a terrible boomerang, as it would cause foreign shipping lines to shift their terminus from such ports as Seattle and San Francisco to Vancouver. The "P. I." said such preparations were already being made as a precautionary measure.

The "P. I." also points out that "no foreign owner is going to send his ships to American ports if he cannot get his cargo outward, as he dislikes carrying ballast. The legislation would also drive foreign trade to Gulf ports where no such legislation is effective."

As regards the clause forbidding the passage of freight, passengers or baggage from one port in United States to another on through tickets when any part of the passage is on foreign vessels. This is not worrying coast shipping men unduly. In the case of Alaska trade, in which Prince Rupert is somewhat concerned, it would be easily feasible for passengers from Seattle to buy their tickets to Vancouver or Victoria and then take passage to Alaska. Definite information regarding the bill is expected shortly.
