MEIGHEN LIBERAL IS UNKNOWN ANIMAL

In criticizing Hon. J. A. Calder in the House of Commons during the debate on the Mackenzie King amendment to the address Ernest Lapointe said:

"In Moose Jaw my hon. friend said that he was a Liberal, but not a Mackenzie King Liberal. Sir, Liberalism is a creed, it is a doctrine, it is a set of principles, but if my hon. friend wishes to refer to the Liberals in this House or in this country as King Liberals and at the same time claims that he is still a Liberal, the only inference is that he is a Meighen Liberal, which is a species unknown both to zoology and to common sense."

BROTHERHOOD OF MAN

Editor, the Daily News—I met an atheist yesterday for the first time in my life, that is one who does not believe in the existence of God. When I asked where in literature was that theory supported, I was directed to Grant Allen's "Evolution of the Idea of God." As this book was published many years ago, under the auspices of the Rationalistic Society, it may that many others are reading it, and misinterpreting it, just as sadly as my friend the atheist mentioned above.

Agnostic Position

Whatever else Grant Allen endeavors to do, he does not attempt to destroy belief in the existence of God. He would not be so foolish. On the very first page he intimates as plainly as the English language can express it that such is not his idea. Indeed he accepts the existence of a Supreme Being. His book is an attempt to trace the evolution of man's conception of that Being. His position is the Agnostic one, or our inability to know God. Naturally he throws a good deal of ridicule at the crudities of the beliefs in God in the evolutionary process, but as well laugh at the attempts of the child to spell "phthisis" when it is only at the stage when it can spell "cat".

Survival of Fittest

Let us suppose that all men should throw over belief in God, and that this disbelief should be maintained until the very atmosphere built up around our civilization, by centuries of Christian teaching, should disappear. What would the result be? Might would then be right, and the animal law of the survival of the fittest would be in the ascendent. Conduct would descend to mere expediency, and justice and right would have no basis. St. Paul having in mind such a condition said—"Let us eat and drink for tomorrow we die."

If on the other hand we all accepted the existence of God as a truth, His existence would mean nothing to us unless we could know something about Him, other than that He is the Great First Cause. Jesus knew this and so gave us the highest revelation of God we are capable of understanding. He said God is our Father. Now fatherhood is antecedent to the family, or in other words there cannot be fatherhood without the family. We are God's family therefore we are brethren.

Brotherhood

The natural sequence of the fatherhood of God is the brotherhood of man. Brotherhood can exist on no other basis. If all men accepted Christ's idea of brotherhood as based in God, what would the result be? It would be impossible to think of differences in the family of God. Quarrels would cease, warfare disappear and

"Man to man the world o'er
Would brothers be for a' that."

REPLY TO AN ATTACK ON PLUMBERS AND SHEET METAL WORKERS' UNION

Editor Daily News:—

We trust you will pardon us for asking valuable space in your paper, nor would we do so were it merely to air a personal grievance, but when an unprovoked, wanton and malicious attack is made in public print upon a reputable labor union by an employer in that trade, it then becomes a matter of general concern and the true facts of the case should be laid before the public.

The Charges.

Quite recently C. O. Rowe who is engaged in sheet metal work published a letter containing the following statements:

First, that he was an associate member of the sheetmetal workers union.

Second, that he had not received an invitation to the Plumbers' and Sheet Metal Workers' social.

Third, that he had been informed casually by a Mr. Murray on the afternoon preceeding the social, which was a Tuesday, the secretary, a kid named Robertson, was requested to send him an invitation.

Fourth, that he had been told by a Mr. Sutherland, foreman in Steen & Longwill's shop, that the union could not let him have a man without the consent of Jim Steen.

Now, Mr. Editor, permit me to examine each and every one of Mr. Rowe's statements.

The Replies.

1. There is no such a person as an associate member in the amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers International Alliance, therefore Mr. Rowe's statement that he is an associate member is absolutely untrue.

2. Mr. Rowe received a direct verbal invitation to our social, the only kind issued to anyone, and accepted by all others in the trade. He received this on Monday morning preceding the event.

3. Neither Mr. Murray or any other member of the union called upon Mr. Rowe on Tuesday and informed him that the secretary, a kid named Robertson, was ordered to send him an invitation. Mr. Robertson is a gentleman 26 years old, and has been employed in the best sheet metal shops in Canada, and served his country in the muddy ditches of Flanders' fields, suffering for years untold agonies from the most desperate wounds a human being could endure and yet survive.

Mr. Robertson is respected and honored by all his acquaintances, friend and comrades in the war, and by all his fellow workers in the sheet metal trade, with the possible exception of Mr. Rowe, who has the effrontery to contemptuously designate him a kid. To further emphasize the recklessness of Mr. Rowe's statements it may be incidently mentioned that Mr. Robertson is not secretary of the union and had nothing to do with issuing the invitations.

4. Mr. Rowe was not informed by Mr. Sutherland that the union could not let him have a man without asking Jim Steen's permission; on the contrary if Mr. Rowe applies to Local 672 to procure him a man, we will be pleased to fill the order.

Union Shops.

Mr. Rowe did ask Mr. Sutherland during a short rush of work if he could borrow a man from Steen & Longwill's staff, which we believe any unprejudiced person will agree with us was a matter in which Steen & Longwill should be consulted. The union label belongs to the mechanics and not to the shop and if Mr. Rowe employs union mechanics they will carry the label to his shop and not otherwise. The remedy rests with him.

We hold no brief for Mr. Steen who is well able to take care of himself, he is not a member of our local but his shop is one hundred per cent union, and we have always received fair treatment in our dealings with the firm.

We believe Mr. Rowe's statements about him are entitled to as little consideration as those about the union.

We must apologize for taking so much space but plead in extenuation that it is a matter of grave concern to the public at large and the labor unions in particular, that a public sheet, however, obscure can be found to lend its columns to the venting of personal spite upon returned war veterans and the labor unions to which they belong.

Thanking you on behalf of Local 672.

HARVEY F. FRASER,
President.
