CITY OF LONDON IS OWNER OF PROPERTY IN NORTH OF IRELAND

LONDON, July 20.—Some curious history has been revealed by a baseless rumor that the City of London intended selling property to the Government of Northern Ireland. For three-hundred years the City has been a property-holder in Ulster. The lands, situated in the County of Derry, were originally given the Corporation of the City of London and the Livery Companies by James I. in return for money advanced during the Plantation of Ulster, which followed the suppression of the rebellion of the Ulster Chieftains, O'Neill and O'Donnell, and the confiscation of their estates, in the reign of Elizabeth.

The Honourable Irish Society was founded by Royal Charter in 1613 for the administration of the estates. The ancient city of Derry was given the prefix "London" in celebration of the event. The agricultural lands of the society were sold to the occupying tenants under the Land Purchase Act, but the society still retains property in Coleraine and Londonderry, which is let in perpetuity, and also the fisheries of the Foyle and Bann. Large grants from the revenue have been given for civic, educational and religious purposes.

CONFISCATED FURS ADD TO INCOME OF CONSERVATION BOARD

VICTORIA, July 19.—A cheque for $2,995 has been received by the Game Conservation Board and is the proceeds of skins, confiscated during the past six months throughout British Columbia.

The bulk of the seizures had been made in the Fort George district and in the vicinity of Hazelton. For various reasons, but principally because the owners did not have a trader's license or because it was a close season, the skins were forfeited.

Fifty-six marten, four mink and six weasel were sold for $1486; sixteen timber wolf and a coyote for $597; ninety-one beaver for $857; four coyotes for $41; eighteen muskrats and two mink for $27; twenty muskrat and three mink for $25, and twenty-eight muskrat for $21.

Fourteen beaver, which had been caught damaging property, sold for $194, but the trappers will have half this sum under existing regulations, applicable to animals caught under such circumstances.

BATHS FOR WORKMEN SUGGESTED IN ENGLAND

LONDON, July 20.—A conference at the Royal Sanitary Institute on international labor and industrial health brought up the advisability of pit-head baths for miners. "They are being provided in Germany," said Professor Collis, "but our English colliery owners look on them as very expensive things."

Dr. T. Watts, M.P., the chairman, mentioned a belief among miners in Lancashire that if they had a bath it was not wise to wash their backs. There was a deep-rooted impression that it caused a weakening of the muscles of the back and interfered with general usefulness in the mines. Referring to the cleanliness of the Japanese people, Colonel Fremantle, M.P., suggested that we should adopt their system of vertical baths. In peasant houses in Japan the bath was a wooden pillar filled with hot water; and he explained, amid laughter, how he jumped into one and a moment later jumped out "as red as a lobster." It had, however, a very tonic effect. The system required a much smaller quantity of hot water to fill up, and would therefore be more economical than our system.

WOMEN ARE STUDYING SCIENTIFIC SUBJECTS

Mental Analysis and Suggestion Among Things Talked About in Best Circles

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 20—Women in the best society circles are giving up the small gossip of the afternoon tea groups and are turning themselves to the discussion of more serious subjects such as mental analysis, thought transference, the power of the mind over matter and all sorts of scientific matters, especially those related to mental suggestion and mind development.

What is true of Washington is true of most cities of the United States, especially in the East. Unless a woman can talk on scientific subjects she has no longer entree to the best circles.

Mrs. Joe Bent left on the eastbound train last night on a prolonged business trip. She will visit Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, New York, Baltimore and Chicago before her return.
