RUSSIA HAVING TRADE REVIVAL

Sacrifice of Communistic Principles Gives Impetus to Industry in that Country

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Travellers returning from Russia tell of the change taking place in that country since the communistic theories of the revolutionaries have been abandoned. Many of the cities are being reborn and industries are once more flourishing. The grim, starving Moscow, for instance, has vanished and in its place is a busy city, apparently thriving, and wholly changed from what it was during the dark days of the revolution and for many years after. Time is softening the scars of the upheaval and gradually the people are returning to normal.

Naturally there is discontent, and things are not as they were before the war. It will take many years to bring back the full tide of prosperity, but gradually conditions are improving. People are reaching out for luxuries instead of being content with bare necessities.

In many respects Russia is the same as before the war. The secret political service is very similar to that employed by the monarchists. Newspapers are strictly controlled, law courts act in response to the revolutionary pulse.

The Government is trying to learn how little it must sacrifice of its former ideals in order to keep private initiative active. For years it was dead, but now, under the stimulus of private ownership and private trade, it is reviving.

Her Baby Suffered with SUMMER COMPLAINT

A fact mothers must face is that summer complaint with the prostration, often verging on collapse, which sometimes accompanies this disease, makes it one of the most serious and dangerous to contend with during the hot months.

Thousands of infants die annually whose lives could have no doubt been saved by the timely use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and it has been the experience of thousands of mothers during the past 78 years this valuable preparation has been on the market, that it is the safest and most effective remedy for use in all cases of looseness of the bowels.

Mrs. S. Lafontaine, Great Desert, Ont., writes:—"My baby, when a year old, was suffering with summer complaint. Two doctors attended him, but nothing would stop the vomiting and diarrhoea. A friend told me to try Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and after the second dose the baby was better and I can say it saved my baby's life.

"I wouldn't be without a bottle of 'Dr. Fowler's' in the house for untold gold."

NATIONAL WHEAT BODY ADVOCATED FOR PRICE FIXING

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 16.—Creation by the United States of a national wheat corporation which would establish a basic minimum price for all American wheat, and employ other measures for stabilizing the wheat market is advocated by I. A. Medden, farm advisor for Sangamon county, and well known in Illinois as a farm authority.

"Allowing the surplus of American wheat to set the price of American farm crops must stop if the farmer is to be saved from ruin," said Mr. Madden in outlining his plan.

"The United States should charter a national wheat corporation and appropriate sufficient funds for working capital. This corporation should then establish a basic minimum wheat price for all American wheat offered at the basic minimum price, then the national wheat corporation should step in and buy wheat.

BIGGEST BOMB EVER MADE IS DROPPED

Weighs 4,300 pounds and is Over Thirteen Feet Long

Enlightening experiments have just been carried out with the biggest bomb that has yet been made. This projectile weighed 4,300 pounds, complete with nose and fuse. It contained about 2,000 pounds of cast T.N.T., and from tip to tip measured 13½ feet.

Fitted for test purposes, with a delay fuse, it was carried up in a Handley Page machine to a height of just over 4,000 feet. From that altitude it was dropped into a vast open space outside Washington, and the official American report tells how great was the power for destruction of the bomb.

It ploughed a great hole in the ground into which a whole house could have been dropped. The average diameter of the crater made was 64 feet, and it was 20 feet deep, with a rim 5 feet high. Altogether more than 1,000 cubic yards of earth was displaced.

Bumped 20 Feet

Debris was thrown more than 1,000 feet into the air, and the force of the explosion "bumped" the machine 20 feet into the air, although the pilot began to move higher and away from the centre of the explosion as soon as the bomb was released.

The projectile was built by the Ordnance Department of the American army, and was modelled on the lines of the 2,000 pound bombs that were used in the bombing of old battleships when it was desired to throw some light on the battleship and aircraft controversy. Were such a bomb to be dropped to explode on impact with the ground it would cause fremendous damage over a radius of more than a mile.

A RARITY

"Would you say 'honest politics is,' or 'are'?"

"'Is,' of course. Honest politics is always singular."—Indianapolis Journal.

PRESIDENT POINCARE WRITES CONTINUOUSLY

Works Very Hard and Corrects Many Documents With Own Hand

PARIS, Aug. 16. — Premier Poincare uses up more pens in a week than did his predecessor, Briand, in a year, a keen observer of the French foreign office said recently. The reason is that Poincare speaks little, but writes much. Briand always had a cigarette in his hand; Poincare always has a pen.

The present premier receives very few callers, and except for Count Perretti de la Rocca, director at the ministry, and his chief of cabinet, M. Hermitte, Poincare sees hardly any one. He remains at his desk throughout long days—from 12 to 14 hours—writing. There is not a single document coming out of the ministry of foreign affairs, whether they be grave and solemn instructions to ambassadors or minor matters of routine business, that the premier does not see personally, and often times corrects or amplifies in his own hand.

His famous speech delivered at Senlis July 15, written entirely in that crisp, sharp handwriting which is peculiar to the premier of France, went to the government printers without a single correction or erasure.
