
SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

The British cruiser H.M.S. Kenya, which will call at Prince Rupert this summer, is now on her way up the Pacific coast from Panama. She is attached to the Royal Navy's West Indies squadron. Her date of arrival in Prince Rupert is August 18. The warship is 8,000 tons displacement.

The well known halibut operator Capt. Peter Jacobson, skipper of the Paragon is in hospital in Seattle, being treated for paralysis. He was flown south by coast guard plane which picked him up at Hardy Bay while he was en route to Seattle with 60,000 pounds of fish.

Arriving in port at 5 o'clock yesterdau afternoon from Vancouver and waypoints, Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. John Boden, had on board a good-sized list of passengers, including a number of round trip tourists besides people for local points. The vessel sailed at 8 p.m. for Alice Arm and Stewart whence she will return here tomorrow morning to sail at 1:30 p.m. for Vancouver and waypoints.

Union steamer Cassiar, Capt Lorne Godfrey, was back bright and early at 5 o'clock Sundy morning from Massett Inlet points and sailed at midnight last night for Vancouver via the south end of the Queen Charlotte Islands.

From Juneau For Visit In Norway

Passengers here Saturday afternoon aboard the Princess Norah included Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Larsen and daughters, Ruth and Jennie, who are on their way to visit in Norway. This will be a new experience for the girls who were born and brought up in Juneau. Mr Larsen is the owner of the halibut fishing vessel Arden. They are sailing from New York on the ss. Stavangerfjord. The family plan on settleing in Idaho, after buying a new car in Detroit and motoring west. But Mr. Larsen will keep on halibut fishing every season.

JUST AS THOUGH NOTHING HAS HAPPENED—While the royal household is all abustle with the news of the engagement of Princess Elizabeth to Lieut. Philip Mountbatten, her highness fills all her previously arranged public appearances as though nothing unusual is in the air. Here she inspects the Grenadier Guards at Chelsea barracks.

FAMILY MOVES OVER HIGHWAY

Oregon People, Travelling in Truck, Speak Highly of Road —Were Told There Was None

Moving from Grant's Pass, Oregon, where he had been employed as a maintenance man in a cold storage plant, to Vank Island, near Wrangell, where he is to work in a logging camp, Irvin L. Dykes drove into the city late last week over the Prince Rupert Highway in a General Motors truck. He was accompanied by his wife, three sons and little daughter. The truck was laden with 6½ tons of family effects including furniture and household goods. Today the final phase of the family's trip to the new home in the north commenced by sailing for Wrangell on the steamer Princess Louise.

Mrs. Dykes will teach school at Vank Island. The three sons are all of school age—Charles, 11; Claire, 9; Ross, 8. The little girl, Sharon, is three years old.

The Dykes also encountered ill-informed Canadian officials at the border who told them there was no road to Prince Rupert. It was the station agent at the entry port of Huntington in the Fraser Valley who told them so. Mr. Dykes, however, had learned from the road map of an American oil company (one which has no branch in Prince Rupert as yet) that there was a good road here so they just kept on coming. It took them only four-and-a-half days leisurely driving to make the trip from Huntington here.

"We found it a good road and we drove at good speed too," Mr. Dykes told the Daily News. "As for scenery, it was about the prettiest I have ever seen in my life. We did not even have a flat tire all the way here."

We will not accept goods at prices that we know will not give you FAIR VALUE

No, we're not superman but we do know how to run our business. FIRST: We spend over half each year searching the market at direct factory sources until we secure the best values for quality goods. SECOND: We try not to cater to charge accounts because charge accounts in any volume can only mean additional cost of operation. THIRD: We do not have Budget Accounts as, from our experience, somebody must pay the extra expense of budget accounts.

Maybe this will Surprise you...

Railroad watches never increased in price all during the war.

As a matter of fact the price has been reduced since the exchange has been taken off Canadian funds.

The Hamilton Railroad Watch was formerly $90 and is now $82.50.

The Ball watch used to be $95.00 and is now $90.00.

The Elgin Railroad Watch is now $75.00.

We have all three of these fine watches in stock at present and would be glad to show you.
