NAVY LEAGUE HEARS REPORTS

Mrs. J. E. Boddie on Provincial Executive Meet—Albert Eyolfson on Trip to U. K.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Branch, Navy League of Canada, on Tuesday evening, a full report was received from Mrs. J. E. Boddie covering her trip south to the meeting of the Navy League's British Columbia executive. A resolution was passed enthusiastically thanking Mrs. Boddie for her report and for the good work she had done for the local branch.

Leading Cadet Albert Eyolfson attended the meeting and gave a very interesting informal account of his trip to the United Kingdom as a member of the Canadian Sea Cadet party which went over this summer as guests of the British Navy League. Cadet Eyolfson's personal remarks and impressions were of great interest to the meeting.

A letter was received from John K. Kennedy, who is now a cadet at Royal Roads, having won a Navy League scholarship. The meeting regretfully accepted Mr. Kennedy's resignation as Midshipman in the local Sea Cadet Corps.

A resolution was passed approving the appointment of Rev. R. A. Wilson as Sea Cadet Corps Chaplain.

Routine business occupied the remainder of the meeting. S. P. Woodside was in the chair.

Jury System Is Cherished

Seen as Link Between Common Man and Machinery of Government—Mr. Justice Wilson Speaks

As government becomes more complicated and bureaucratic tendencies develop, anything that tends to retain and preserve the relationship of the ordinary man to government is to be cherished. Jury service is one means by which the ordinary man can still be a part of the machinery which keeps the country going and that is one of the principal and important values of juries in the opinion of Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson who spoke before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at luncheon yesterday. "I may not always agree with the juries in my courts but I do believe they are generally right and generally do justice. I am a firm believer in the jury system and I would not like to see the day when it would be abolished."

There was no more important institution outside of Parliament than the jury, the judge asserted. Both were essentially British institutions although the jury was not a British invention for it had, apparently, been common in all Teutonic tribes in the early stages of their development.

The original Britisn form of jury was a good deal different than it was today, His Lordship disclosed as he delved into the history and development of the system of trial by jury. At first, actual participants in the incidents which formed the basis of the trial acted as jurors but, in the course of time, this was changed until now it was of prime importance that jurors should be impartial and of open mind.

Urging every citizen to accept the call of jury service even if personal sacrifice was involved, the judge compared the trivial inconveniences of jury service today with real hardships in earlier days when jurors could be incarcerated, deprived of their lands and removed from their wives and families if another jury or judge might decide they had erred in findings. Even as late as towards the end of the last century, juries were not allowed to return verdicts of disagreement. There was a time when they were deprived of food, liquids and heat until agreement was reached.

One interesting and amusing incident of Chief Justice Sir Mathew Begbie's caustic comment in 1865 to a Barkerville jury which had brought in a verdict with which he was not in accord was recounted.

In the course of his talk, His Lordship described some of the details of the process of empanelling juries. "Every conceivable advantage goes to the accused and properly so," he declared. There was no option of other than jury trial for some more serious crimes such as murder, treason and rape but in lesser ones there was option of jury or speedy trial by a judge. Juries could also try civil cases although such trials were not frequent.

President C. G. Ham was in the chair at the luncheon and there was a good attendance of members with guests in the persons of Walter Landon, A. S. Nickerson and Capt. Walter Gosse.

Called East By Death of Mother

Called east on account of the death yesterday in Ottawa of his 75-year old mother, Mrs. J. W. Black, the manager of the local theatre, J. Harry Black, left by air this afternoon for Vancouver wherence he will continue his flight to Toronto tomorrow. Joined in Toronto by his son, Lawrence Black, he will proceed to Fergus, Ontario, where the funeral will take place. The late Mrs. Black was born in Fergus. She had been ill for a month with heart trouble. There are three sisters, deceased having been a widow for 19 years. Mr. Black expects to return to the city in 10 days.
