ICKSHA IS PASSING IN KINGDOM OF JAPAN

Japanese Now Use Autos and Trams as Well as Bicycles

TOKIO, Oct. 10.—The jinrikisha, inseparably associated with the Japan of song and story, is passing even in the land of its origin. Official figures prove this. Recently officials of the city's statistical bureau counted the traffic passing Owari-cho, Tokio's "Forty-second and Broadway." The average minute saw ten tram cars pass the intersection, eight passenger automobiles, four motor trucks, eight hand carts, 36 bicycles, 122 pedestrians and one lone jinrikisha.

The comparatively higher speed at which Tokio now lives, and the high cost of manpower, are causes for the passing of the jinrikisha.

THOUGHTFUL women are particular about underwear—rightly so.

The woman who chooses Stanfield's is assured of getting a soft, luxurious fabric, soothing to the tenderest skin; snug tailored-to-fit comfort and exceptionally long wear. Yet Stanfield's is not expensive. Compare it garment for garment, price for price. You will find it, over a long period of wear, the most economical underwear you can buy.

Stanfield's will not shrink!

You don't have to buy a size larger to "allow for shrinking." Be careful to select the size that fits you perfectly, use ordinary care in washing according to our directions—and a Stanfield's garment will keep its size and snug tailored-to-fit shape as long as you wear it. And Stanfield's stands strenuous wear.

Pick up and examine any Stanfield's garment

Feel its delightful softness. See how it's finished with scrupulous attention to every detail; how the seams lie flat, the buttons are sewn on to stay. Note its generous cut, the full length of the garment—no skimping. This careful making is a part of every Stanfield's garment, whatever price you pay, and in every weight: Pure Virgin Wool, Silko-Wool and mixtures of Wool and Silky Cotton.

There's a size, style and weight of Stanfield's for every member of every family, priced from $1 to $10.

Three illustrated booklets showing Stanfield's wide range of styles and weights in men's, women's and children's underwear will be mailed on request. Write for them.

WOULD MIGRATE THIS COUNTRY

European Manager of Railway Colonization Urges More Confidence in Canada

WINNIPEG, Oct. 10. — More people in the British Isles want to emmigrate to Canada to provide better opportunities for their children than for any other reason, it was stated by Dr. W. J. Black, European manager of colonization and immigration for the Canadian National Railways who has arrived in Canada to take part in a conference on colonization. The second most important reason is their desire to own farms of their own. Next in order is the ambition to acquire wealth and prestige, the closeness of Canada to Britain as compared with other Dominions and the desire to join relatives who are doing well in the Dominion.

Ignorance of actual climatic conditions and reports of unemployment and low wages are the principal reasons detrimental to immigration to Canada at the present time. "Unless many Canadians display a greater measure of confidence in their country and it's possibilities than they have been doing in recent years, the result will be to retard development in immigration," Dr. Black declared. "Millions of people are available for settlement in Canada, who will come as soon as they are satisfied that it will be to their advantage to emigrate and they can arrange to do it."

Opposed to System

Dr. Black, declared himself opposed to the system of directing newcomers holus bolus to western Canada and said he believed there were many desirable and adaptable settlers in Great Britain, who while they might not succeed in the prairie provinces, would find themselves at home and would make a success of life in British Columbia, Ontario, Quebec or the Maritime Provinces. The policy of directing new comers to the parts of Canada most suitable for them, his department intended to adhere to.

ALFRED ADAMS OF MASSETT ON VISIT TO B.C. CAPITAL

History relates of a famous lord-lieutenant of Ireland that his parting words on leaving Dublin were "Agitate, agitate," says the Victoria Times. Now comes en educated Haida Indian who says "Educate, educate." He is Alfred Adams, well-known storekeeper of Massett, Queen Charlotte Islands, who is in the city with his wife, registered at the Dominion Hotel.

Mr. Adams, who is a lay reader in his own community, had the advantage of a mission school education, and he is giving his own children a good education in boarding schools, but he believes that the Indians must have a better education. Fired by the advantages possessed by the aborigines of Alaska, where he recently made a tour, he says the best service the whites can do the Indians of British Columbia is to give them more encouragement in secondary schools, and open an avenue to professional education for the natives.

"I say to our young people, if you are to be as the whites, you must know what they know, meet them on the common footing of learning, and wrestle in the competitive field with them. We are not yet at that standard, and for that reason I am sorry the Indian Department has withdrawn the agency from the Islands, after the retirement of Mr. Deasy, who did so much for us in fourteen years of residence, with his devoted wife. We are told the Haidas have progressed so far that they no longer want paternalism, but it is not so. This generation is not ready, and we must leave the development to our children. We still want an agent resident on the islands, as in the past."
